YARDS LODGINGS MUST BE CLOSED.

Corporation Counsel Declares Them Illegal and Mayor Allows Three Days to Vacate.

PACKERS ARE PREPARED.

Say They Can Meet Order, and Already Are Housing Many Outside of Their Plants.

The housing of workers in the packing plants at the stockyards must cease within three days.

This is the decision reached yesterday by Mayor Harrison. The stand was taken by the mayor in conformity with an opinion drawn by Corporation Counsel Tolman. Copies of Maj. Tolman's opinion were sent to the owners of the plants.

The packers declared they were not disturbed by the result of the investigation instigated by the union labor men who are directing the strike.

"We have anticipated this result," Arthur Meeker said, "and we are prepared to meet it without any embarrassment. We will take care of all our employés."

Union Leaders Pleased.

Satisfaction with the finding of the city authorities was expressed by the labor leaders.

"It gives us a material advantage," said President Donnelly of the butcher workmen. "The workers employed by the packers are of such a class that they cannot be held together unless they are kept in the plants day and night."

What steps would be taken by the employers to meet the condition none would say. Two courses were suggested: The city ordinances might be complied with by rearranging the lodgings; or the concerns might stop housing workers.

Number Housed Decreasing.

The last alternative appealed strongly to some of the packers. The number of those kept in the plants has so largely decreased in the last week, they said, that it would be no difficult matter to do away with the system entirely within the three days given by the mayor.

From the first, it was said, the lodging of men and women at the yards was regarded only as a makeshift. It was a war measure, and was not intended to be kept up longer than was deemed necessary to afford shelter to nonunion workers brought in from out of town and protection from danger of violence to those living in Chicago.

Finding Outside Lodgings.

After complaint was made by the labor organizations that the lodging of workers in the plants was in violation of city ordinances, and the investigation was begun, the employers set about to reduce the number of those so housed. Many, the packers say, have been induced to seek boarding places outside the yards or to go to their homes.

A representative of Armour & Co. said that 1,800 workers were accommodated in the company's plant. In the earlier stages of the strike nearly twice that number was cared for. Swift & Co. last night lodged not to exceed 500 men, where 700 had been provided for two weeks ago. Approximately 4,000 men and women were lodged in all the plants.

Maj. Tolman's Opinion.

The opinion of Maj. Tolman follows an investigation of the packing plants, which was made by Building Commissioner Williams and Health Commissioner Reynolds. The two commissioners went through the buildings at the stockyards and looked into the conditions under which the employés are being housed.

"I have sent copies of the opinion to the packers and to the police," Mayor Harrison said. "This should be sufficient to inform all of the interpretation put upon the ordinance."

In his opinion Maj. Tolman holds that the packers cannot be said to be operating "lodging houses" in the stockyards, because there is no proof that they are receiving money for housing the men in the buildings. The provisions of the law specify that a lodging house is a place where people are received or lodged for hire. The packers assert that no money is being received.

He does find, however, that they have used buildings designed for packing houses for the sleeping and living quarters of men. This is a "new use," and one not intended in the construction of the buildings.

Sections 65 and 160 of the building laws prevent this, he holds. A change of use cannot be made, he finds, unless there be a change in construction to adapt the buildings to their new use. The buildings fail to meet the requirements for structures to be used for the living quarters of persons, and for this reason Mr. Tolman holds that the packers illegally use them as such. As one specific instance in which they do not meet the requirements, he quotes that providing for the stops of brick or concrete between the ceiling and floor.

Laws Must Be Enforced.

In discussing the situation and taking into consideration the reasons which might make the use of the buildings as sleeping quarters beneficial practically, he says:

"It may be suggested that it is necessary to take into consideration existing conditions at the stockyards; that an industrial war is being waged between the packers and their former employés; that numerous instances have occurred in which acts of violence have been committed against the men and women who have been recently employed by the packers to take the places of the men and women who have left the packing houses on a strike; that these new employés are housed in the packing houses to secure their personal safety.

"In the presence of express provisions of law to the contrary, however, it is no more justifiable to permit the packers to break the law for the purpose of providing for the safety of their present employés than it is to permit their former employés to break the law in their efforts to prevent the employment of men and women in the places formerly occupied by them.

"If either party to this industrial conflict must win without breaking the law, that party deserves to lose. The administrative officers of the municipal government can do no more and nothing less than to enforce the law against both contending parties and let nothing be what they may."

Boycott on Greeks Has Effect.

The force of the trade union boycott was responsible for the desertion of 111 Greeks from the day from the ranks of the employés of the Armour and Hammond plants. This was established that many Greeks

SOLDIERS IN RIOT; ONE DEAD, 3 HURT

Regulars Kill Militiaman and Wound Others in Clash on Streets of Athens, Ohio.

ARRESTS CAUSE TROUBLE.

Strong Force Is Sent to Maintain Order and the City Is Declared Under Martial Law.

Athens, O., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—A mob of soldiers, said to belong to troop F, Fourth cavalry, regular army, and encamped at Camp Armitage with the Ohio National Guard, and several other details of regulars, attacked a patrol of provost guards of the state militia on the streets of Athens at 7:30 o'clock this evening, killing a corporal and seriously injuring three others.

The Dead.

CLARK, CHARLES, corporal, aged 21, member of company D, Fifth Ohio National Guard of Cleveland, but whose home is at Warren, O. He was a machinist by occupation.

The Injured.

Heald, Albert, private, shot in the left leg.
Blessing, William, sergeant, shot in the hip.

The fight took place in front of Sheriff Murphy's home, adjoining the court house. Soon after the battle the city was declared under martial law and hundreds of soldiers were sent into the town to restore order. None of the rioters has been arrested.

All are members of the same company.

Cause of the Trouble.

According to all reports obtainable the trouble started over the arrests of several regular army men by provost guards since the opening of the camp. The guards were all militiamen. The activity of the militia in causing arrests caused hard feeling among the regulars and several street fights have taken place at various times.

This evening the Warren company, in charge of Capt. F. S. Vangorder, was ordered to do provost duty in Athens. The company arrived about 7 o'clock, and a detail in charge of Sergeant Blessing was sent to the intersection of Congress and Washington streets, to investigate a reported disturbance. The men were to prevent the disorderly soldiers from reaching Athens proper.

Line Up in Front of Hotel.

About this time a crowd of soldiers had formed in front of the Hotel Berry, on Court street, and, with yells at all militiamen, commenced the march which ended in the killing of Corporal Clark and the injuring of his comrades.

The mob turned into Washington street and went to the jail, which had been the headquarters of the provost guard. Sheriff Murphy was scored for allowing their comrades to be locked up in the bastile. The sheriff thought an attack was about to be made upon him, and hurried his family and some of the guests into the cellar.

Commanded to Disperse.

The mob passed the Murphy home, and almost immediately ran into Corporal Clark with his detail of six men. It is said by his comrades that Clark halted the men and commanded them to disperse, holding the bayonet of his gun to the breast of the leader. The others in the provost party did the same, but the rifles were unloaded and there was not a cartridge in the possession of the guard.

The mob, according to several reports, numbered at least 150 men, and were all in uniform. Clark continued to ask the men to disperse, but he was answered with jeers and epithets. A moment later a shot rang out, and was followed by a hundred others, the bullets flying in all directions. Then the mob moved on, marching as far as Congress street, where it broke up and made for camp, several miles out of town.

Wounded Given Attention.

After the crowd disappeared the four wounded men were hurried to a physician's office across the street. Clark died as he was being laid upon the operating table. The bullet had entered the left breast just above the heart. Ohl had been struck on the head with the butt end of a rifle and was unconscious for some time. Heald was shot through the left foot. Sergt. Blessing was shot in the left hip. The latter was taken to the Hotel Berry. His condition is serious. Heald is in danger of blood poisoning.

News Stirs Military.

Capt. Vangorder, who had charge of the company, with Lieuts. Haldick and Craig were away when the riot took place, but the shooting soon brought them to the scene. The greatest excitement prevailed. The colored population made for the country, while the whites put out the lights of their homes and hid in the cellars. All saloons immediately were closed.

Capt. Vangorder soon got his men together and ordered them not to push the fight with the men they came across unless necessary, but to force all to leave the town. This was unnecessary, for immediately after the shooting all the soldiers seemed to realize the nature of the trouble, and the roads leading to the camp were crowded with fleeing men.

Will Make Inquiry.

All the officers of the militia and regular army were about to board a special train for Herrick, O., to listen to an address of Col. Wagner, chief of the regular army, when an orderly brought the news of the riot. A rigid inquiry will be made.

All is quiet in the town tonight, the streets being deserted by all, except the guard of regulars, and there is no fear of another outbreak.

Double and triple lines of guards are around the camps to prevent any of the men from each side from getting any place where the fight can be renewed.

The officers of company D of the Eighth regiment, which is commanded by Col. Zimmerman, have taken charge of the body of Corporal Clark and are preparing to ship it to his home. It is understood that he was to have been married to a young woman of Warren, O., in a few days. The entire command is heartbroken over his death.

Two Soldiers Killed on Train.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 19.—Two soldiers, members of the military company of Durham, were instantly killed today while returning from the national guard encampment, near Morehead City. They were on top of a coach against orders, and their heads were struck by a covered bridge.

MR. BRYAN IS GOING TO SPEAK FOR JUDGE PARKER.

An explosion of chemicals with which George L. Englis was experimenting in the basement of his residence at 6641 Kimbark avenue injured Mr. Englis probably fatally yesterday afternoon, bruised his wife, and wrecked their $12,000 house.

It is thought the explosion was caused by a flash light compound on which Mr. Englis had been working for some time. The noise was heard a mile away.

Found Under Pile of Wreckage.

A moment after the explosion Fred L. Smith, 6325 Monroe avenue, rushed into the basement and found Mr. Englis lying unconscious and mangled beneath a pile of wreckage. He assisted the injured man outside and sent for the Woodlawn police.

Mrs. Englis was standing in the kitchen at the time of the explosion and was thrown to the floor by the concussion. She was assisted to an adjoining house, where she received medical attention.

Mr. Englis was burned about the face and cut in a dozen places about the body. A splinter half an inch in diameter pierced his side, and two pieces of flying wood lodged in his leg. An artery of his left wrist was severed. This was bound up by Mr. Smith.

Condition Pronounced Critical.

As soon as the police from the Woodlawn station arrived the injured man was taken to the Englewood Union hospital, where his condition was pronounced critical.

George Englis, the injured man's son, said that his father has been working for some time on a new flash light powder to be used in photography, and a few days ago thought that he had found the right ingredient to make it a success.

House Twisted Out of Shape.

Mr. Englis was accustomed to make his experiments in a small room in the basement directly beneath the kitchen. The walls of this room were torn into splinters. The force of the explosion, which was apparently in an upward direction, forced both the first and second floors of the house upward until they resembled a dome.

Every wall in the house was sprung from its position, some as much as six inches. Cut glass vases were hurled from the mantelpiece, legs were torn from the chairs in the parlor, and the wall clock in the hall was thrown face downward and broken.

The foundation of the building is wrecked so that it will be necessary to rebuild the house before it can be occupied. The house is owned by Mr. Englis, who is 67 years old.

When the explosion occurred the fire department was summoned, but there was no fire to extinguish. A small can in which the explosive is supposed to have been stored was blazing when they arrived. This was carried out into the yard.

EXPLORER'S BODY IS FOUND.

Workmen Exhume Bones of Pierre Pauquette, for Which Historians Have Searched.

Portage, Wis., Aug. 19.—[Special.—While excavating for a new Baptist church parsonage today the workmen exhumed the remains of the famous explorer and trader, Pierre Pauquette. Historians have been searching for years to discover his body. Pauquette was born in Missouri in 1706. He lost his life at the hands of an Indian with whom he had an altercation relative to a treaty ceding the lands of the Winnebagoes to the government.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY JEROME THREATENS BRIBE GIVERS.

New York, Aug. 19.—An altercation between District Attorney Jerome and a member of a building firm which is interested in the prosecution of Philip Weinseimer, the labor leader under indictment on a charge of extortion, took place in the corridor of the Criminal courts building, where the grand jury is now in session.

The builder in the course of a conversation took exception to a statement made by Jerome several days ago, to the effect that the employers were as bad as the employés, and that their motives were anything but altruistic in making a complaint against Weinseimer.

"You people are no better than the employés," exclaimed the district attorney. "You come down here eight months after you made the first payment and try to make us believe you are honest in the matter." This brought a remark, to which Jerome answered:

"That's all right, but wait till Sept. 1 and I'll make it hot for you people."

Sept. 1 is the date when the Prince bill goes into effect. This law makes the bribe giver equally guilty with the bribe taker, and deprives him of the defense that he is the victim of extortion.

WOMAN ROUTS A CONSTABLE AND WIELDS AN UMBRELLA.

John Small Is Driven from Justice Bradwell's Court and Forced to Stand Out in the Rain.

Mrs. John Saliger, 33 Elburn avenue, yesterday attacked Constable John Small in Justice Bradwell's courtroom. She beat the man over the head with an umbrella, and forced him to flee into the street, where he was compelled to stand in the rain.

The trouble for the constable began when he was asked to serve a warrant on John Saliger, charged with making threats to kill. The complainant was Annie Zimmerman, 31 Elburn avenue.

Saliger appeared in Justice Bradwell's court in the afternoon to answer to the charges. While the case was on trial the prisoner struck at the constable. Then Mrs. Saliger took a hand in the proceedings.

Mrs. Saliger still was in possession of Constable Small's desk at 6 p. m., and he sent a messenger to the courtroom to get his overcoat.

Oscar Smith Dives Into Water to Save Older Brother—Both Taken Out Nearly Dead.

Sheboygan, Wis., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Oscar Smith, 5 years old, dived from a dock into twenty-two feet of water to rescue his 8 year old brother, who had fallen in. He was not strong enough to hold his brother above water, and both were nearly dead when rescued.

LIPTON TO TRY AGAIN

Shamrock IV. Will Be Built to Race for the America Cup.

LIKES THE OLD RULES BEST.

Challenger Prefers to Enter Contest Without Change in Conditions.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

GLASGOW, Aug. 19.—Sir Thomas Lipton, his three successive defeats notwithstanding, has decided to challenge again for the America's cup. Sir Thomas is at present on the Clyde on his steam yacht Erin. His new challenger will be named Shamrock IV., but beyond admitting this he will not discuss the details.

"It may be simple stubbornness on my part," he said, "but all my life I have had a constitutional objection to admitting that I was beaten."

Other Races Only Preliminary.

This is the spirit of Sir Thomas Lipton in his fourth essay to capture the trophy. The three previous races he describes as being only interesting preliminaries. The new challenger will, he says, make the real fight.

Asked if he thought the change of the rules would add anything to his chances of success Sir Thomas replied that the designers seemed to think it could, but for his own part he would prefer to keep pegging away under the conditions governing the earlier races, as a victory gained under these circumstances would be more satisfying than under altered rules.

Lipton a Plucky Challenger.

Sir Thomas Lipton has built three cup challengers and seen them all defeated. Shamrock I. sailed three races against Columbia on Oct. 16, 17, and 20, 1899, being beaten in each contest.

Nothing daunted, Sir Thomas Lipton immediately challenged again, and built Shamrock II. The races were sailed against Columbia on Sept. 28 and Oct. 3 and 4, 1901, the Irish boat being defeated each time, but on the third race, fifteen miles to leeward and return the finish was so close that Columbia won only by the margin of forty-one seconds.

Tries a Third Time.

Shamrock III. was built for the races of 1903. Sir Thomas Lipton felt certain that the boat built by Fife and sailed by Capt. Wringe would lift the cup, as it proved speedier than either Shamrock I. or Shamrock II.

Shamrock III. was defeated by Reliance, designed and built by the Herreshoffs and sailed by Capt. Barr. Three races were enough. They were sailed off the Sandy hook course on Aug. 22, 25, and Sept. 3, 1903.

AGAIN SUES STANDARD OIL.

George Rice of Marietta, O., Begins Action for $3,000,000 in United States Court.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 19.—George Rice of Marietta, O., commenced suit in the United States Circuit court today for $3,000,000 damages against the Standard Oil company for the alleged ruining of his oil business by the defendant company.

Rice charges that the Standard Oil company compelled railroads to charge his customers exorbitant freight rates; that the company opened grocery stores to break down his competition, and in other ways succeeded in taking away from him 4,000 customers, an oil refining plant worth $750,000, and a business worth $50,000 a year.

This suit is brought under the interstate commerce act of 1890 and is similar in character to one entered in the Court of Chancery of New Jersey by Rice, in which he seeks to compel the revocation of the company's charter under the laws of New Jersey.

GENERAL ATTACK ON PORT ARTHUR EXPECTED TODAY

TORPEDO BOATS ARE OUT

BULLETIN.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, Aug. 20, 3 a. m.—The military attaché with the Japanese army says two Russian warships at Port Arthur have been sunk.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 20, 4 a. m.—The final assault on Port Arthur is expected today (Saturday).

The steamer Pechili, which arrived at Chefoo early this morning, states that it met a flotilla of seven Japanese torpedo boat destroyers between Port Arthur and Chefoo. Japanese naval officers stated that they were seeking Russian destroyers and torpedo boats which had escaped from Port Arthur.

The Japanese officers stated, too, that a general attack along their line had been planned for today.

The officers of the steamer Pechili said that heavy firing in the vicinity of Port Arthur was heard all night long.

Has Destroyer Fleet Escaped?

The statement that the Japanese warships are seeking for Russian destroyers and torpedo boats that had escaped from Port Arthur may mean that a portion of the fleet now under command of Admiral Prince Ouktomsky has made a dash for the open sea. Eight destroyers accompanied the fleet in the sortie of Aug. 10. Seven of these have been accounted for, one having been captured at Chefoo, two beached east of Weihaiwei, three being at Kiauchau, and one at Shanghai.

Twelve torpedo boat destroyers remained at Port Arthur. These may have broken through Togo's guard and escaped to the high sea.

The fact that a number of Japanese destroyers entered Chefoo harbor Thursday night indicates that the Russian boats may have escaped Wednesday night or early Thursday morning.

Say Japs Are Driven Back.

According to Chinese reports, the Russians have made a sortie and recaptured the heights at Paiunchwang, two and one-half miles north of the city, the Japanese being driven back to Shushiyen, half a mile to the northwest.

Paichwang is an important position, as it almost interposes between the eastern and western forts, and to some extent enfilades both, although it can be enfiladed by both.

Within Striking Distance.

Other Chinese refugees declare that the Japanese are within striking distance of Liaotishan fort, on the southern extremity of the promontory, but that the fort is still occupied by the Russians.

An official message from Tokio, however, tells of the sinking of a Russian gunboat being observed from "our signal tower on Liaotishan." This seems to indicate that yesterday's news of the capture of that height was correct.

Battleships at Port Arthur.

Official dispatches received at St. Petersburg state that the five Russian battleships which failed to break through Togo's cordon on Aug. 10 are at Port Arthur. This clears up a point which has been in doubt since the battle.

It is insisted in Russia that when Port Arthur affairs reach a crisis the battleships will make a dash for the open sea, even to certain destruction, and that if unable to do so Admiral Prince Ouktomsky has positive orders to destroy the ships so effectually they can never be repaired.

This decision is commended in naval circles here as being in accord with the best naval traditions.

JAPS LOSE A POSITION?

CHEFOO, Aug. 19, noon.—Chinese who have arrived here from Port Arthur declare that the Japanese position at Paiungchang, from which they poured a heavy fire into Port Arthur and the inner forts, has been retaken, the Japanese retiring to Shushiyen.

Chinese who embarked from the Liaotishan promontory at 11 o'clock yesterday (Thursday) morning report the continuance of heavy fighting. They say the Japanese have occupied Pigeon bay and are within striking distance of the Liaotishan forts, which, however, are still occupied by the Russians.

According to the Chinese the Russians at Port Arthur are making their final stand.

CLOSER TO PORT ARTHUR.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 19.—The Japanese force, brought up by reinforcements to 100,000 men, with 450 guns, 150 of which are of siege calibre, is drawing closer to Port Arthur. Its latest achievement is the taking of the Liautichan fort.

The Russian defenders are assisted as much as possible by the guns of the battleships Pobieda, Retvisan, Peresviet, Poltava, and Sevastopol, and the cruisers Diana and Pallada, whilst the gunboats Gilyak, Bobr, and Otvajny run along the coast to harass the Japanese, who thus exchange fire on a prodigious scale.

A Chefoo dispatch announces that the Japanese lost 20,000 men on Wednesday, but everybody knows that Chefoo is a hotbed for false news.

Regard Battle as Imminent.

The Birjivaia Viedomosti publishes a special dispatch stating that events of the highest importance are in preparation at Liaoyang, and that the forthcoming fight there will decide the fate of Port Arthur. This leads to the belief that Gen. Kouropatkin, even at this stage of the conflict, may make a supreme effort to try and force the Japanese to reduce their army around Port Arthur.

that Port Arthur has fallen. Such assertions are merely idle suppositions.

GLOOM AT ST. PETERSBURG.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 20, 2:10 a. m.—Acute anxiety prevails regarding the situation at Port Arthur on account of the desperate character of the fighting as reported taking place, though the war office does not seem to believe that danger of the fall of the fortress is so imminent as is generally asserted.

According to information received by the war office, there is still an ample supply of ammunition and provisions there. While it is realized that the Japanese probably outnumber the defenders six or seven fold, the great strength of the fortifications, it is believed, will do much to make up for the disparity in numbers.

Japs Cannot Have Fleet.

Upon one point there is absolute unanimity here—namely: that if the fortress falls the fleet will not fall into the hands of the Japanese. On this point the admiralty's instructions are of the most imperative character.

Vice Admiral Prince Ouktomsky has been ordered, should the worst come, to sally forth for a death struggle, and there is no question here that these instructions will be carried out both in letter and spirit, but if for any reason the final sortie proves to be impossible the admiral is to destroy his ships and make certain that their wrecks shall be absolutely irreparable.

Baltic Fleet Has Steam Up.

In the meantime Vice Admiral Rojestvesky's Baltic squadron, including the battleship Orel, is standing off Cronstadt with steam up. It is popularly expected that the squadron will sail at any hour, and it is quite true that it is ready for almost immediate departure, but regarding the question of sailing there is a difference of opinion among naval authorities. It is held on the one hand that the immediate sailing of the squadron would be the best policy, on the theory that should it arrive within two months it would find Vice Admiral Togo's fleet in an infinitely worse condition than if the Japanese were allowed the whole winter to repair and refit the ships.

Shown by Official Reports.

The dispatches from Admiral Alexieff and Capt. Reitzenstein, the latter commanding the Russian cruiser squadron at Port Arthur, describing the recent naval engagements of the Port Arthur and Vladivostok squadrons have been issued. The last signal displayed by Admiral Withoft before he was killed was:

"Remember, the emperor orders you not to return to Port Arthur."

This indicates that the fact of reaching Vladivostok was evidently of less importance than escaping from Port Arthur, while the fact that five battleships actually returned to Port Arthur seems to show that they suffered to an extent rendering any other course impossible.

Capt. Reitzenstein states that the chaplain heroically went from one part of the ship to the other with the cross, pronouncing benediction over the men, while the doctors removed the wounded to safety under a hail of shells.

Gloom in Russian Admiralty.

A feeling almost akin to despair reigns in the much tried Russian admiralty. The official report of Vice Admiral Skrydloff, with the known losses sustained by the Port Arthur squadron in its sortie of Aug. 10, and the anxiety over the fate of the warships still unaccounted for, completes the crushing nature of the blow to Russia's naval forces in the far east.

The hope of uniting the two Russian far eastern squadrons to await the coming of the Baltic fleet seems now almost hopeless.

Hear Explosions at Port Arthur.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, Aug. 19.—The Italia Militaire Marina received a dispatch from Chefoo today dated yesterday, stating that the sound of guns at Port Arthur was succeeded at sunset by a great explosion. The besiegers then seemed to suspend action. In the evening Port Arthur was seen to be enveloped in an immense light, occasioned, it is thought, by a conflagration in the town.

Field Marshal Oyama personally is directing the assault upon Port Arthur. He is daily in contact with his soldiers. This morning after reviewing a company of engineers he asked those who were ready to occupy a position whence none were likely to return to step forward. The whole company advanced to a man.

Deny They Scattered Mines.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TOKIO, Aug. 19.—Japanese naval officials strenuously deny the Russian statement that the Japanese torpedo boats strewed contact mines along the route of Russian ships during the battle on Aug. 10. Objects so perilous to neutral commerce they say never have been placed in the high seas by the Japanese.

BATTLE EXPECTED ANY DAY.

Japanese and Russian Outposts East of Liaoyang Only Four Miles Apart.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 19.—A dispatch from Mukden reports that the south front of the Japanese army has retired to Haicheng. On the east the Japanese are twenty and one-quarter miles from Liaoyang. Russian and Japanese advance posts are separated by not more than four miles. Small skirmishes occur daily. A battle is expected any day at Liaoyang. There has been a complete change in the relative positions of the armies during the last fifteen days. The change involves the fate of Liaoyang. There is reason to believe that the Japanese have changed their original objective from Liaoyang to Mukden.

Defeat for Jap Outposts.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 19.—A dispatch to the Temps from Liaoyang reports that the Japanese vanguard, a battalion strong, placed upon Gen. Kuroki's extreme left, met a Russian detachment at Topugtouchan, eighty miles from Liaoyang, and that the Japanese were driven to the southward.

Regard Battle as Imminent.

MUKDEN, Aug. 19.—A battle is regarded as being imminent, as the Japanese on the Russian east front are only twenty miles from Liaoyang.

The advance posts are not more than four miles apart and small skirmishes are of daily occurrence.

On the south the Japanese have retired to Haicheng.

RUSSIANS LOSE A GUNBOAT.

Disaster to Czar's Warship Reported from Japanese Watch Tower Near Port Arthur.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—A dispatch to the Japanese legation from Tokio says:

"According to a report from our watch tower near Port Arthur, a Russian gunboat of the Otvajni type struck a mine and sank off Liaoti promontory at 7.52 p. m. yesterday."

The Otvajni is an armored gunboat of 1,500 tons displacement, launched in 1894, and carries one nine inch gun, one six inch gun, and ten quick firing guns. The gunboat had two torpedo tubes, a speed of fifteen knots, and carried a crew of 142 men.

RUSSIANS MUST LEAVE OR DISARM

JAPS DEMAND THE SHIPS.

Neutral Consuls Declare Threat to Seize the Vessels Is a Bluff.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—Consul General Goodnow has cabled the state department from Shanghai that the Chinese taotai there has decided that the torpedo boat destroyer now at that port must go out or disarm by the 20th inst., and that the cruiser must do likewise by the 21st inst.

The state department has received a cablegram from Chefoo, dated today, the substance of which is as follows:

"This morning seven Japanese destroyers entered the harbor and met an unknown steamer entering, which they captured. Two Japanese cruisers are outside the harbor."

Naval officers familiar with the harbor of Chefoo state that there are two entrances from opposite directions, and it is inferred from the above dispatch that the Japanese squadron approached through one of these entrances to find the unknown steamer referred to coming through the other entrance. The impression here is that, consequently, the seizure took place within the Chinese territorial waters.

Cassini's Fears Not Shared.

The interview by Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, published this morning, has attracted attention among the official class here, particularly because of the statement attributed to the ambassador that by the seizure of the Ryeshitelni Japan had broken Chinese neutrality and had wrecked Secretary Hay's plan to limit the field of operations, and also to prevent a world war, by dragging into the conflict the allies of Japan and Russia.

It may be stated that the official opinion here as to this probability does not coincide with that entertained by the ambassador.

It is confidently expected that neutrality, so far as land operations are concerned, can be preserved, and that, after all, is the phase that would most endanger the world's peace by obliging the allies to enter the lists.

However, it is said, there is nothing in the ambassador's statement that seems to involve any change of policy on the part of the state department, which feels that, having been instrumental in securing the solemn pledge of both Russia and Japan to observe Chinese neutrality, it must rely upon the honor of those nations faithfully to execute that pledge.

Japan Is Insistent.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 19.—The Japanese consul general made three demands today that the vessels either leave port or disarm. The ships are guarded by customs officials, and lighters are waiting to coal the Askold. Semi-official reports state that the Japanese fleet will make a demonstration outside the harbor on Tuesday. The neutral consuls believe the Japanese threat to seize the vessels is a bluff. A pacific end of the controversy is anticipated. The damage to the Askold is greater than expected and cannot be repaired under three weeks.

Japan Grows Impatient.

TOKIO, Aug. 19, noon.—The Japanese are growing impatient at the delay in the decision of the status of the Russian cruiser Askold at Shanghai.

The Askold has docked and is refitting and evidently intends to endeavor to rejoin the Russian fleet and resume its place in the naval campaign. This is declared to be an open violation of neutrality, which the Chinese government evidently is powerless to prevent.

Many Japanese openly urge the dispatch of a squadron to Shanghai to seize and remove the Askold.

The government is particularly desirous of respecting the neutrality of Shanghai, but it is unwilling to suffer the Askold to escape.

It is possible that a Japanese squadron will go up to Shanghai and require that the Askold be disarmed, leaving it thereafter in the possession of the Chinese.

PRAISES JAP HOSPITAL WORK.

American Surgeon Gives Result of His Observations Among the Wounded in the Mikado's Army.

CHEFOO, Aug. 19.—Maj. Louis L. Seaman, a specialist in military surgery, who has seen much of the Japanese hospitals and who has been with the Chunchuses, or Chinese bandits, near Mukden, has arrived at Chefoo. He gives some interesting observations on the Japanese method of treating wounded men.

He says that the Japanese are giving proof of the benefits to be derived from the noninterference with wounds on the field, where they content themselves with the application of first aid bandages and antiseptics, leaving the more serious work to be done in the hospitals at home.

This course is followed except where there is danger of the wounded man bleeding to death or where his condition is precarious. The result of this practice has been that many men suffering from bullet wounds at the front are nearly well when they reach Japan.

Deaths Only 3 Per Cent.

On one hospital ship returning to Japan from the front there were 2,200 wounded men, and there was not a single death on board during the trip. Three per cent will cover all the deaths among the wounded who have been returned to Japan after having received first aid treatment only.

If the Japanese soldier is not killed outright the chances are that he will recover. His temperate habits and his plain and healthful diet of fish and rice, varied occasionally with meat, contribute much to his recovery.

Russian wounded captured by the Japanese have been treated in a similar manner, and the recoveries among these men are scarcely less in proportion than among the Japanese.

A new complication has been discovered in the wounds sustained in this war, due to the extraordinarily high speed of the small caliber bullets, which produce aneurisms by their speed. Maj. Seaman saw twenty-seven operations performed for the relief of this new condition.

Guests of Bandit Chief.

After having spent some time in Japan, Maj. Seaman, accompanied by Capt. Charles T. Boyd of the Tenth United States infantry, was the guest of Chungezorlin, a Chunchus chief, near Simmintung, where the Chunchuses number 10,000 men. The major declared these men to be in the employ of the Japanese, who pay the infantry 15 taels a month and the cavalry 25 taels a month. There are many Japanese officers among these forces, who are used to harass the Russians.

During the visit of Maj. Seaman and Capt. Boyd the bandits brought in the heads of five Cossacks on pikes. These Cossacks had been part of a detachment of thirty-five men who were engaged in securing 1,000 head of cattle.

WAR MINISTER SEIZED.

PARAGUAY INSURGENTS MAKE OFFICIAL A PRISONER.

They Also Present an Ultimatum Demanding the Surrender of Asuncion, the Capital, Inside of Twenty-four Hours—Two Thousand Men Reported to Be Marching on the City—Action by Ministers of the Foreign Powers.

BUENOS AYRES, Aug. 19.—Advices received here indicate that the Paraguay insurgents have seized another steamer having on board the minister of war and his escort, made them prisoners, and followed up their seizure with an ultimatum demanding the surrender of Asuncion, the capital, within twenty-four hours. On failure to grant the demands the bombardment of the capital will be resumed. It is said Asuncion is completely isolated.

It was reported here a week ago that the insurgents had captured a government steamer and that the acting minister of war, who was on board the steamer, attempted to escape by jumping overboard and swimming to the river bank. However, he was taken prisoner before reaching the shore. The name of the acting minister was not given.

The minister of war is Col. Antonio Caceras, who was appointed when President Escurra assumed office in 1902.

Foreign Intervention Offered.

The foreign ministers have offered their intervention, to which the insurgent leaders replied that they would permit President Escurra to continue in office, but would demand the resignation of the ministers and other high officials of the government. The insurgents' terms were conveyed to the government officials and promptly declined.

Give Test of Marksmanship.

At the conference on board one of the insurgent vessels after the bombardment of Asuncion last Wednesday, between the ministers of Argentina, Brazil, Italy, and France and the insurgent leaders, the latter said that after the ministers left the vessel they would fire two more shots, one at the residence of President Escurra and the other at the church, concealing the battery, in order to demonstrate the excellence of their artillery.

The shots were fired and both the president's residence and the church were hit.

Insurgents Nearer Capital.

The commander of the insurgent forces is reported to be approaching the capital at the head of 2,000 men.

The vessel from which the minister of war was taken was towing four lighters loaded with 190 bullocks for the garrison. These were confiscated by the insurgents.

SAYS HE ROBBED KENT LOOMIS.

Man Surrenders to English Police, Declaring He Was Paid to Steal Official Documents.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Franz Schneider surrendered himself to the Birmingham police today, accusing himself of stealing papers "from a person at Southampton believed to be F. Kent Loomis."

Schneider makes an alleged confession, in which he gives a vague account of how he and two other foreigners were hired by a man speaking with a Russian accent to steal important papers from a passenger arriving at Southampton on a German liner.

Schneider says they waited at the pier, and when the passenger reached the gangplank he was pointed out by their employer. When the passenger left the landing stage they seized him, threw him to the ground, and Schneider, according to one statement, abstracted from his pocket a large envelope containing papers bearing the seal of the United States government.

He gave the police the name of a man who he alleged employed him to secure the papers, and also the names of two others said to be concerned in the theft. He now asserts that his employer was a Russian, and says that after the robbery all four slept in a warehouse, before leaving which he and his two associates received $25 each.

The Birmingham police tonight say they are convinced that Mr. Loomis was not the victim of the robbery, as alleged. They will, however, investigate the case as possibly disclosing another crime, but they discredit the whole story, believing it to be sensational fiction made up by Schneider.

CAUSES COMMENT IN PANAMA.

Correctness of Order of War Department Including Canal Zone in American Possessions Denied.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

PANAMA, Aug. 19.—Considerable comment is being heard here over the recent general order from the war department at Washington, dated July 20, which, referring to the new postage rates, speaks of the canal zone as being among United States possessions, and stating besides, incorrectly, that the term "canal zone" fully comprises the territory purchased from Panama—namely: the canal zone proper and the adjoining islands of Perico, Culebra, and Flamenco, in Panama bay.

This, it is alleged, is incorrect and at variance with the canal treaty, which says nothing of the United States' possessions on the canal zone or of Panama having sold its territory or any part thereof.

This assertion was embodied in a circular to American consular officers all over the world, instructing them to treat the isthmian ports on the Atlantic and Pacific in the same manner as United States ports in accounting for fees and customs duties.

DID MORGAN BUY STOLEN ART?

Man Arrested in Italy for Theft of Famous Cope, Alleged to Be in Possession of New York Banker.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, Aug. 19.—A photographer named Richard Rocchigiani has been arrested at Ascoli, Italy, charged with having been concerned in the theft of the famous Cope from Ascoli cathedral, which is now alleged to be in possession of J. Pierpont Morgan. Sensational arrests are awaited, as the accused is expected to inculpate some of the cathedral dignitaries.

HAS TURK CHANGED HIS MIND?

Intimated at Constantinople That Sultan's Pledges to American Minister Are Not Being Carried Out.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—A dispatch to the Temps from Constantinople says that, though the American minister, Mr. Leishman, originally declared the porte's declaration on the subject of equal treatment for the American schools to be satisfactory, the subsequent explanations were too vague to permit the question to be considered settled. An active correspondence is still being exchanged.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

"BLACK HAND" HAS MANNINO COWED.

Father of Kidnaped Boy Afraid to Prosecute the Child Stealers.

MAY TIE UP ELEVATED.

Employes of System Declare They Have Not Been Treated in Good Faith.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE }
New York, Aug. 19. }

If ever any doubt existed in the minds of the police that the kidnaping of little "Tony" Mannino of Brooklyn was the work of a secret band of criminals like the Mafia, Camerra, or "Black Hand," that doubt was removed by the developments in the case today.

Mannino Fears to Prosecute Child Stealers.

The strange return of the boy to his parents' home, lack of detail in the lad's story as to his whereabouts during the last ten days, his failure to identify the persons whom Angelo Cuccozza, a self-confessed kidnaper, had identified as parties to the crime, apparent indifference on the part of the parents as to the capture and prosecution of the ringleaders, all these things combine to convince the detectives that a formidable band of criminals is behind this extraordinary crime, whose secrets their victims dare not betray.

James Mannino, father of the boy, denies with great emphasis that he paid a cent of ransom for the return of his child, but he fails to explain by what coincident at midnight his cousin should meet the boy in the street. The father displays a lack of hostility toward the kidnapers. He says he will prosecute nobody.

Among the police there is no inclination to doubt this attitude on the part of the father of the child is due to the fear of certain death from the band should he ever reveal any secret of theirs which may have come to him through the negotiations which resulted in the return of the boy.

Salvatore Mannino, a cousin, who says he found the boy, was arrested charged with complicity in or knowledge of the crime. James Mannino quickly furnished $2,000 bail for his release. Little Tony failed to identify any of the prisoners already arrested upon the confession of Cuccozza when they lined up in court.

More than a thousand conductors and guards of the elevated railroads of Manhattan and the Bronx, which are under lease and are being operated by the Interborough Rapid Transit company, met today and voted on strike action, as a result of an alleged breach of an agreement. The men claim that about a year ago the Interborough officials entered into an agreement with them whereby the employés of the elevated road were to be given the preference for positions in the subway.

Elevated Road Employes Vote to Strike.

Recently, they say, the company disregarded the agreement. It is understood that an ultimatum will be presented to the Rapid Transit company tomorrow.

As the body of F. Augustus Heinze's mother was being lowered into a grave in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, Thursday process servers interrupted the last rites of the church in an attempt to subpœna the copper king as a witness in a suit at law. They loudly inquired for Heinze until the cemetery authorities, being appealed to, warned them to keep away from the mourners. Heinze's brother, Otto C. Heinze, a broker of this city, denied that the law clerks had picked out the man they intended to serve. Otto Heinze denounced the occurrence in unsparing terms.

Subpœna Heinze at Funeral of Mother.

"It was most disgraceful and contemptible," he declared. "Even the fellows who attempted the service seemed to think so. They appeared not sure as to the identity of Frederick Augustus Heinze, and stepped up to speak to him just as my mother's body was being lowered into the grave.

"Watchmen employed by the cemetery were spoken to and they warned the process servers that they would be arrested if they again intruded upon Heinze at that time.

"The men seemed to be ashamed of themselves and their conduct. I will say that for them."

Another reduction has been made in transatlantic passenger rates. The American line has fixed $55 for first cabin passage on the St. Louis, St. Paul, New York, and Philadelphia, $35 for second cabin fares on the New York and Philadelphia, and $32.50 on the St. Louis and St. Paul from New York to Southampton.

Another Cut in Transatlantic Rates.

The Leyland line, which is controlled by the International Mercantile Marine company, announces a rate of $35 for first class tickets from Boston to Liverpool. The Allan-State line rate from New York to Glasgow will be $40 for first cabin and $27.50 for second cabin passengers.

The Atlantic Transport line rates for first cabin are $50 on the Minneapolis, Minnehaha, and Minnetonka, and $40 on the Mesaba, Menominee, Manitou, and Marquette.

The Hamburg-American line also announced a reduction in first and second cabin rates on east bound sailings to Plymouth, Dover, Cherbourg, and Hamburg. On the Deutschland, for first cabin passage to Plymouth or Cherbourg, the rate has been fixed at $70, for second cabin, $45; to Hamburg, first cabin, $80; second cabin, $50. On the Moltke, Bluecher, and Hamburg the passage to Plymouth or Cherbourg is $50 for first cabin and $30 for second cabin; to Hamburg, for first cabin, $60; second, $35. On the Pennsylvania, Pretoria, Patricia, and Graf Waldersee the first cabin passage to Dover is $45, second cabin $30; to Hamburg, $55 for first and $35 for second cabin.

The Anchor line has also reduced rates. The saloon rate on the Columbia to Londonderry and Glasgow is $50; second cabin, $30. On the Anchoria, the Astoria, the Ethiopia, and the Furnessia, saloon, $45; second cabin, $27.50.

'BAL BLANC' AT NEWPORT

DISPLAY OF GOWNS AND JEWELS AT MRS. OELRICHS' VILLA.

Women Appear in White Costumes and Powdered Hair and Men in Pink Hunting Coats and White Satin Breeches — Decorations Elaborate and Favors for Occasion Imported—Harry S. Lehr Leads Cotillion—Dinners Precede Event.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The leading social event of the Newport season was given tonight, it being the "bal blanc" given by Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs at her villa, Rosecliff, and was attended by nearly all the cottagers. It was the most elaborate affair of the season, and must have cost Mrs. Oelrichs a small fortune, so elaborate were the decorations.

The display of gowns and jewels was the most striking ever seen at Newport. The scene at the height of the ball reminded one of court gatherings. The women appeared in white costumes with powdered hair, while the men, as a rule, wore pink hunting coats, white satin breeches with rhinestone buckles, and white stockings and slippers, while even the attendants were dressed in white.

Men in Wigs and Cues.

Some of the men wore wigs, with cues tied with black ribbons, and others had powdered hair. Several masculine guests were favored in that they were permitted to come in ordinary evening dress, although "small clothes" were considered de rigueur.

J. J. Wysong went to the trouble to procure a superb suit of white satin and brocade of the Louis XVI. period, and Richard Dixey, who came on from Lenox for the ball, wore a gorgeous rajah's costume of white brocade, superbly embroidered in gold and enriched with many eastern jewels. Henry S. Lehr also wore a white costume. The waiters who served supper were dressed in white duck, even to their shoes.

Preceding the ball there were several large dinners given by cottagers, the largest being that given by Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish at Crossways, at which the guest of honor was Mrs. Oelrichs. Other large dinners were given by Mrs. Pembroke Jones, Mrs. Daniel B. Fearing, Mrs. George B. De Forest, and Mrs. David King.

On arrival at Rosecliff the guests were received by Mrs. Oelrichs, who was assisted in this by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt Jr., her sister. The ball was in the famous ballroom, which was decorated in the style of Louis XIV. Dinner was served on the terrace facing the cliffs. Following the dinner there was a cotillon, which was led by Harry S. Lehr, dancing with Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt Jr.

Imported Favors Given.

Favors for the cotillon were costly, and were imported for the occasion by Mrs. Oelrichs. The decorations of the grounds were striking. The driveway leading from the avenue to the villa was lined on each side with tiny white lights, the trees were studded with electric lights, and the flower beds about the lawn were similarly treated. Inside the villa the decorations were entirely in white.

Among the guests was Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, who is the guest of the Misses Mills.

PALMA DENIES BOND STORY.

President of Cuba Indignant Over a Statement Prepared by His Own Representatives to the World's Fair.

New York, Aug. 19.—T. Estrada Palma, president of Cuba, in a cable dispatch indignantly denies a story that he had distributed Cuban bonds to the amount of $2,000,000 among people of influence here who helped bring on the war.

"Not a single bond," President Palma says, "was given by me to any person whatever, except for value received, and none was given to any one connected with any branch of the American government."

The story that President Palma denies is said to have appeared in a pamphlet prepared by the Cuban commissioners to the St. Louis exposition, showing how Cuba came to be free, and the various steps by which her liberty was obtained.

PLEASURE PARTY RUN DOWN.

Three Young Persons, Returning from a Dance, Killed by Train on the Pennsylvania.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 19.—A carriage, in which were four young persons returning from a dance, was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train tonight. Three of the occupants were instantly killed and one seriously injured. The dead are: Charles S. Sherer, 22 years old; John Moore, 32; and Miss Mamie Hall, 28. Miss Bertha Hill was the other member of the party.

SENATOR HOAR HOLDS HIS OWN.

Physicians Say Patient Is Resting Quietly, but Are Uncertain as to Outcome.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 19.—Senator Hoar is resting quietly tonight. Although the congestion in his left lung has not spread, his condition is still serious. The physicians say the patient has improved, but they are uncertain whether he will be able to rally. Senator Hoar has been informed of the messages of sympathy and is deeply moved by them. No one has seen him today excepting the members of his family.

FALLS FROM ROPE FIRE ESCAPE

Fire Panic in Washington Hotel Drives One Hundred Patrons to the Street.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—More than 100 patrons of the Mount Vernon hotel, on Pennsylvania avenue, were aroused from their slumber early this morning by a cry of "Fire!" The blaze was discovered on the top floor of the building, and a number of the inmates had trouble in reaching the pavement, some being slightly burned. Only one of them, Thomas T. W. Evans of Philadelphia, had to be taken to the hospital. He fell while descending the fire escape rope, breaking his left leg near the ankle.

DEATH IN WAKE OF SUDDEN STORM

One Killed, Fifty Injured, and Property Destroyed at St. Louis.

ILLINOIS ALSO IN PATH.

Woman Loses Life in Home and Number Are Hurt at Venice; Other Victims.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 19.—A storm which assumed the proportions of a small tornado swept over a block and a half of the residence district of North St. Louis today, causing the death of one person, the slight injury of probably fifty, and damaged property to the extent of $100,000. The storm then jumped across the Mississippi river into Illinois, near Venice, where one person was killed and ten injured and considerable property damage done. Trees were blown down and a number of houses unroofed.

The Dead.

BEAL, MRS. M. C., of Venice, Ill., killed by the falling débris of her home, which was blown to pieces.

ELLINGTON, JOHN, at St. Louis, killed in the destruction of part of the Madison Cooper works.

Breaks Without Warning.

The storm which broke over St. Louis without warning was preceded by a shower earlier in the day, but there had been no rain in North St. Louis. The sky had cleared and the atmosphere had become murky and hot when a dark cloud approached from the southwest. Suddenly an arm seemed to shoot to the ground like a gigantic cable, twisting and turning.

The end touched the ground at Nineteenth and Angelrodt streets and swept along Angelrodt for ten blocks, then turned north and swept three blocks along Broadway, when it jumped eight blocks northeast to the foot of Breman street and the river, where considerable property along the river front was injured.

Ferry Boat Is Tossed.

The tornado then jumped to about the middle of the river and encountered a ferryboat, which was turned and tossed about but was not sunk. Leaving the ferry, the storm struck the Illinois shore near Madison, where it demolished several dwellings, the Liederkranz hall, and blew down a portion of the Madison cooper works, killing John Ellington. Severe damage was done also to buildings in Granite City, which adjoins Madison, and a number of persons were injured, but none seriously.

Trolley Car Is Buried.

A Broadway trolley car containing eleven passengers was buried under six telegraph poles which crashed into the top and wrecked the car. The passengers had a remarkable escape from injury, and only the motorman received slight bruises.

The roof and one-half of the top story of Simmers Bros.' Tailoring Manufacturing company's establishment were blown away. Probably the heaviest loss suffered by a single concern was at the Niedringhaus rolling mill. The big smokestack was blown down and half the plant was demolished, entailing estimated damage of $25,000. Six employés were injured in this plant. Part of the roof and two cupolas were blown from the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel. The side of the Backus Stove and Range company plant was blown in.

Scare at Fair at Night.

A concert was in progress in Festival hall, at the exposition, during the heavy thunder storm tonight, when suddenly there was a flash of lightning, and immediately all the lights went out. A panic was only prevented by a woman's voice taking up the strains of "America," the others joining in. Other familiar songs followed, and the audience left the building singing, but without excitement.

In the Chinese village, on the Pike, 360 Chinamen, just arrived, were being watched over by immigration officers temporarily when the storm struck. The celestials became panic stricken, and the officers were forced to draw revolvers to subdue the excitement. Lightning struck nearby, and one Chinaman was severely shocked, while another jumped from the roof of the building and broke his arm. The band stand in the Plaza at St. Louis was struck by lightning and was burned.

Several Deaths in Arizona.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 19.—A cloud burst at Globe, Ariz., has resulted in several deaths and the destruction of much property. Wires to the section affected are down, but a passenger who arrived at Bowie, Ariz., says that a man named Mitchell and his wife and four children, whose names are not known, have been drowned. One report says nine were drowned. The Southern Pacific shops were demolished.

ERIE RAILWAY CENSURED AND TWO EMPLOYES HELD.

Coroner's Jury Lays Blame for Brighton Park Collision on Crew of Freight Train—Exonerates Signal Tender.

The Chicago and Erie railroad company was censured and two of its employés were recommended to be held to the grand jury yesterday afternoon at the inquest over Mrs. J. W. Schwartz and her three children, who were killed in the collision at Brighton Park.

There was much conflicting testimony by employés of the roads in the two days' time required to hear all the evidence, and it was over the conflicting statements of the witnesses that the jurors deliberated two hours. The men recommended to be held to the grand jury are Benjamin Waller, Erie conductor, and Brakeman Charles H. Arnold, also of the Erie.

Matthew Clarisey, the target man at the crossing, who was held by the police, was exonerated by the jury, and the other employés of the railroads were discharged from custody.

Ald. Buxton and Race will seek to have ordinances passed at the Wednesday meeting of the council to minimize the dangers of collisions. Their plan provides that 250 feet before each crossing there shall be a post or signal pole, where street cars shall stop, and then proceed under full control, stopping before the track for the conductor, as now, to go ahead to see if the track is clear.

IRRIGATION MEN TO CONVENE.

G. B. Boothe of Chicago Issues Call for Annual Congress at El Paso, Tex., Nov. 15.

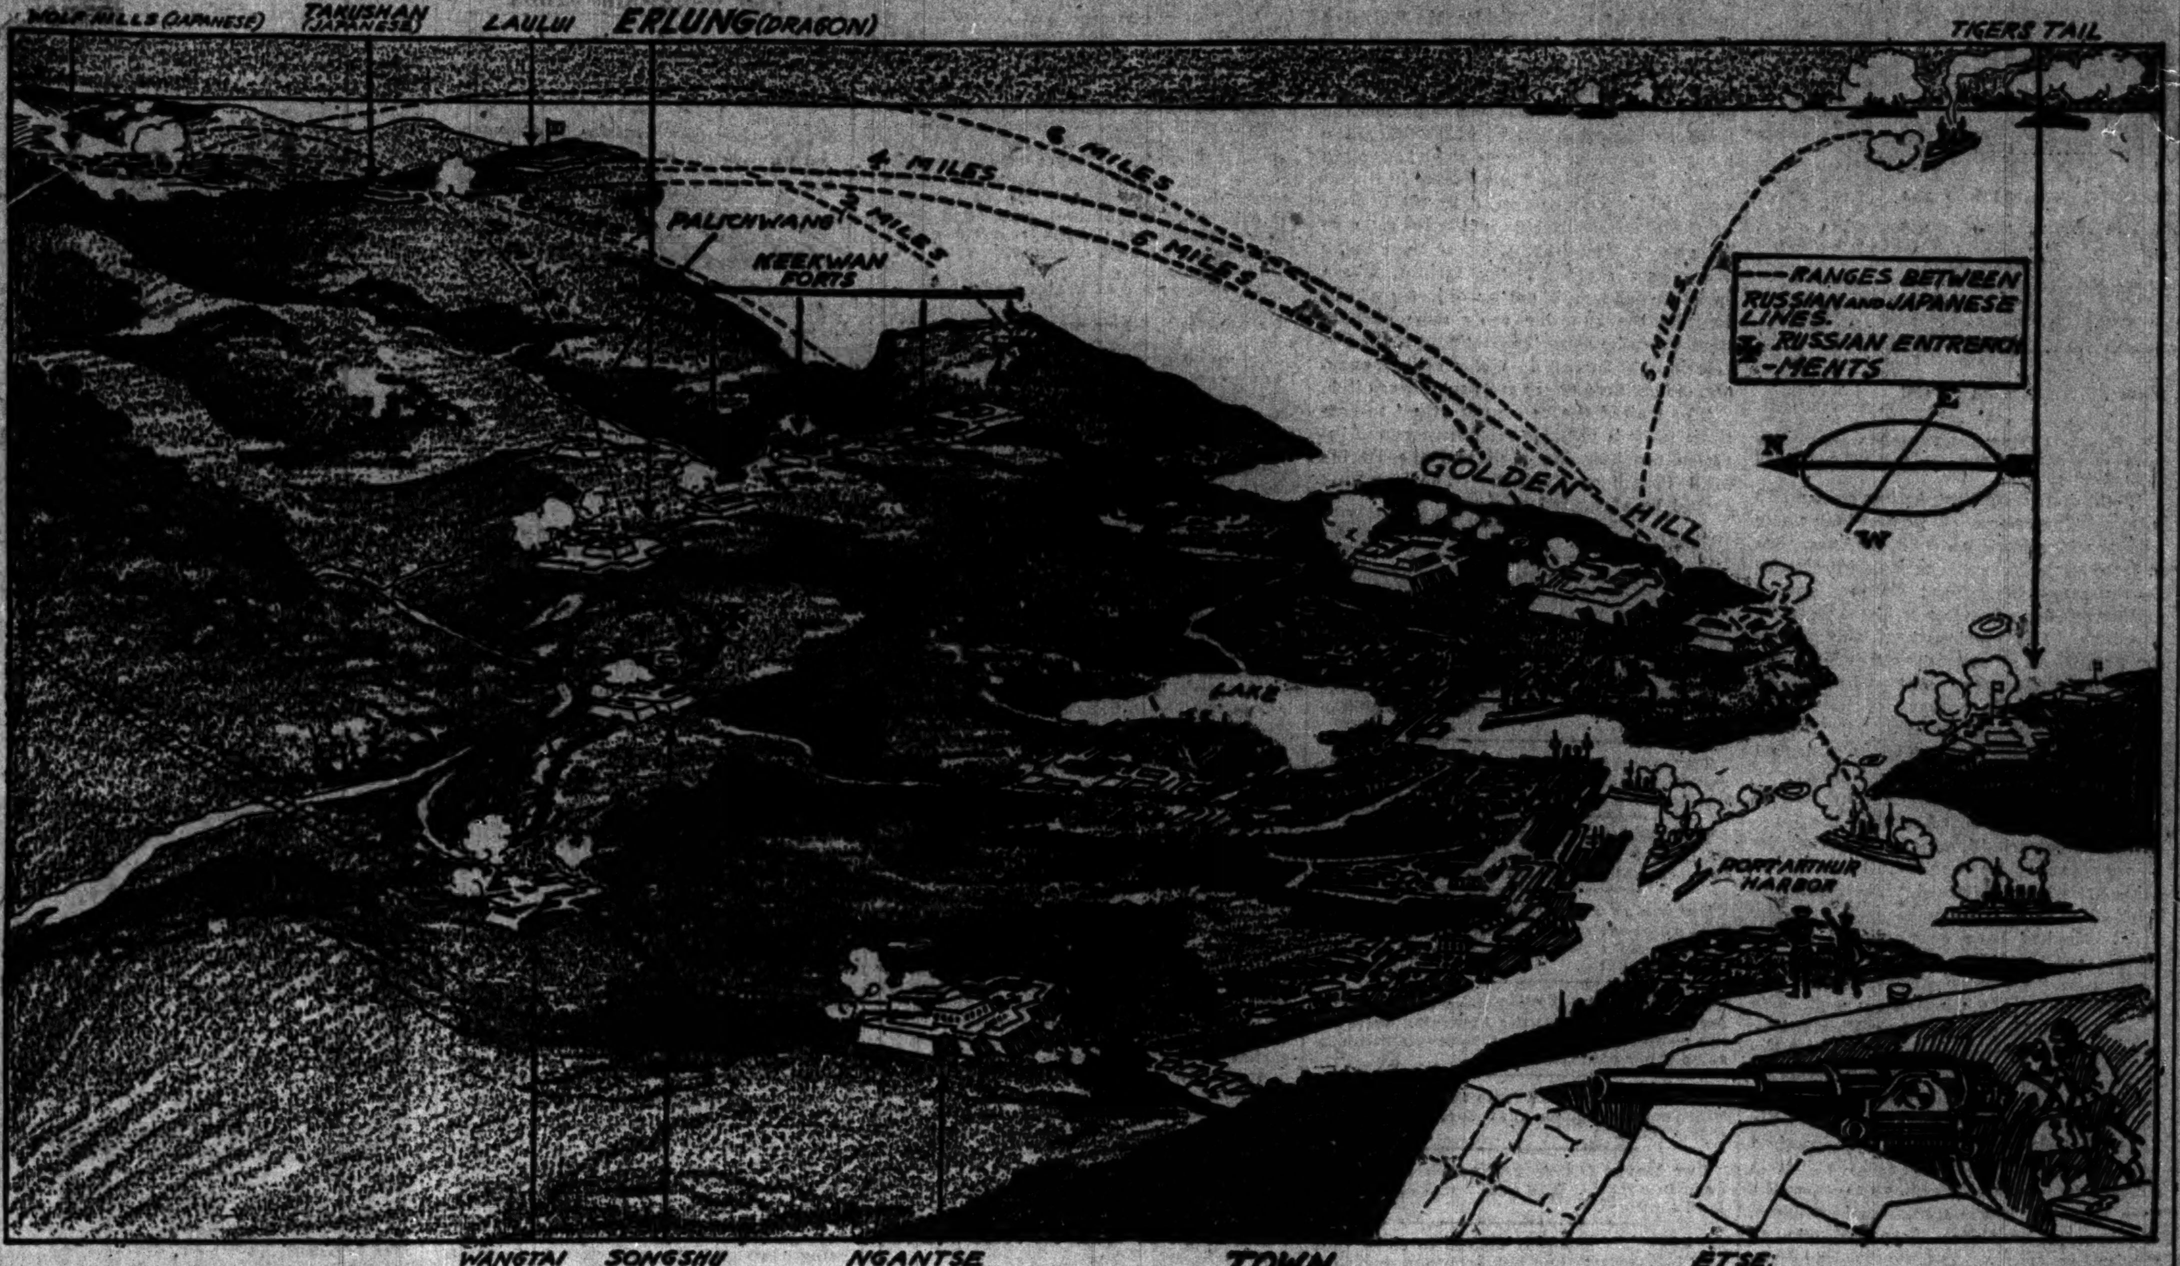

The twelfth national irrigation congress will be held at El Paso, Tex., Nov. 15 to 18, Chairman C. B. Boothe of Chicago having issued the call yesterday. He seeks the attendance of "all who are interested in conserving the great national resources of the country, extending the habitable area, increasing the products of the land, insuring the stability of prosperous conditions, making occupations upon the land attractive, and extending internal trade and commerce."

BABES TELL OF "FOREST"

OAK PARK CHILDREN RECOVER FROM EXPOSURE.

"Robbers" and "Castles" Figure in the Adventures of the Three Small Runaways—Only Food During Two Days Is Five Apples—They Escape Dreaded Whipping and Truant Officer Exacts Pledge of Leniency from Parents of the Wanderers.

Their hands and faces scratched by brambles and still stained with berries, the three "babes in the woods," children of Charles Hauser of Oak Park, spent the rainy afternoon yesterday playing with kittens and reading stories from a Sunday school book. They awoke smiling from a sound sleep after the two days and nights of adventure in the forest. And, after all, they didn't get a whipping.

Ernest, the youngest boy, had dreamed of gypsies and robbers during the night. As the dawn brightened the object near the window that had looked like a bear resolved itself into a pile of tumbled clothes. A glance at the pictures on the wall reassured him.

Recognizes Wall Paper Pattern.

The pattern on the wall paper had not changed. There was the border of pink roses and the complex design of parallelograms that he once had tried to trace out when he was ill. Beside him, in the white bed, was his brother, Emil, sound asleep.

The physician called to see Ernest in the morning. The medicine in the two tumblers, covered with saucers, stood on the table with the spoon over the one that had been taken last. By noon one would not have known that the 6 year old patient had been found the day before exhausted from hunger and unconscious under a maple tree.

Runaways Are Welcomed.

The breakfast bell rang, and the father and mother welcomed the three runaways.

"It seemed so good," said Ernest afterwards, "to eat those warm rolls and the oatmeal. We didn't have anything to eat in the woods, except five apples, for two days."

"It has been such a long time since we ran away," said Emma. "Everything appeared queer and changed at first. Even the three kittens—and I have fed them every day since they were born—scudded away under the porch. It made me feel bad, for I had often thought of them during the long nights in the woods, and wondered who would feed them now that I was gone. Then I remembered that I had nothing to eat, and, in spite of the strange noises in the woods, I sobbed until I fell asleep."

Child Tells of Wanderings.

Then, as accurately as she could, the child described her wanderings.

"The boys were playing in the backyard," she said, "and on Tuesday evening, after I had been threatened with a whipping, I called to them and proposed that we all run away.

"We first walked a long way through the woods until we came to a river. There was a boat and the three of us sat down to eat the apples a woman had given us as we set out. Then it began to get dark, but we didn't want to go home.

"Ernest had said there was a beautiful city on the borders of the woods—a city that was different from the kind at home. There was a castle there, he said, and many ships. We laid down near the boat to go to sleep. Then the owls hooted in the trees, and we said to ourselves: 'They're only owls,' but we were afraid they might be calling to the other animals.

Watches Over Sleeping Boys.

"The two boys went to sleep, but I watched over them until—all of a sudden—I found the sun shining on the river and the light coming through the trees. We saw two men approaching. Ernest said they were robbers. We took hold of hands and ran.

"Two boys had given us fish hooks. We baited them and tried to catch fish. The mosquitoes bit our arms and faces and Ernest began to cry. We all were hungry, but were afraid to eat the berries we found.

"We had heard there were gypsies in the woods, and that they kidnaped children and sent them out to beg. We thought of the camp with the kettle swinging over a blazing fire.

"'We will find them in the morning,' Ernest said. 'Maybe they will take us to the splendid city.' A man whom we believed first was a robber found us and took us home."

Exacts Pledge of Leniency.

Truant Officer Jacobs called at the Hauser residence yesterday and made the parents promise to treat the little ones with leniency in the future. "I will give you another trial," he said.

ATTEMPT TO LAY TRACKS CAUSES FIGHT AT CROSSING.

Two Men Are Injured in Clash Between Street Railway Men and Michigan Central Employes at Hammond.

An attempt yesterday on the part of the South Chicago Street railway company to lay a crossing for its tracks across the Michigan Central tracks at Calumet avenue, resulted in a fight between the officials and section hands of the two roads. Two men were severely injured.

A month ago the street railway company obtained a franchise to lay tracks through Hammond in Calumet avenue. The Michigan Central opposed the measure, because the trains would be compelled to slow down for the crossing, and gates and a flagman would be required there. It is said the railway kept a locomotive under steam at the crossing constantly to block the work when it should begin.

Hurry Engines to Scene.

In the afternoon Supt. George Walmsley of the street railway and nearly 100 section hands arrived at the crossing and began work. Engineer Mewnan, who was at the crossing, notified the officials of the Michigan Central at Kensington, and two engines, bearing Yardmaster Mann, Trainmaster Michael Conlon, and Special Policeman Barney Dolan, with fifty men, were sent to the scene.

When the street railway section hands started a handcar across the tracks Engineer Mewnan was ordered to blockade the crossing. He drove his engine into the handcar, knocking it from the tracks, and injuring Albert Nelson, a laborer.

Several Arrests Are Made.

Officer Emil Bunde summoned Chief of Police Lawrence Cox and the entire Hammond force. The engineer, Conlon, and Mann were arrested. Special Policeman Dolan then climbed into the cab of a west bound freight train passing the crossing and stopped it, blocking the street. Chief Cox ordered him to move on, and started into the cab of the engine to arrest him.

Dolan, it is said, raised a coal pick to strike the chief. The blow was intercepted and the man was beaten into insensibility. The section hands of both roads engaged in a series of fights with stones and clubs. The attempt to lay the tracks was abandoned by Supt. Walmsley.

An injunction was granted the street railway company in the afternoon restraining the railroad from interference.

MAN MISSING IS FOUND DEAD.

Mrs. Emil Paulson, 886 Mozart Street, Learns Husband's Body Is in the Lemont Potter's Field.

After searching for her husband since Monday night, Mrs. Emil Paulson yesterday afternoon learned that he had been killed by a train in Lemont, and that his body had been buried yesterday morning in the potter's field in that village.

Paulson was a collector and lived at 886 Mozart street. When he left the house at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon he said he would have to make a long trip. His body was found five hours later near the Canal street bridge over the Desplaines river at Lemont. The man had been killed by a passenger train while crossing the trestle.

When Mrs. Paulson learned that a man answering her husband's description had lost his life, she immediately visited John O'Brien, the undertaker in Lemont. With the aid of a photograph the man's identity was established and the body was exhumed. Paulson was 38 years old. Two boys—6 and 8 years old—are fatherless.

PROTECTS WIFE AND IS SHOT.

Saloonkeeper Objects to Patrons' Language and Is Perhaps Fatally Wounded by One.

A quarrel among several men late yesterday afternoon ended in the shooting of Samuel Jacobs, while in his saloon at 168 Milwaukee avenue. A. Stadler, a glovemaker, 155 Milwaukee avenue, is sought by the police. Jacobs objected to language used by the patrons in his wife's hearing, and Stadler, it is charged, suddenly fired a shot which struck the saloonkeeper in the right side. Jacobs may die.

CHOSEN TO CROWN THE QUEEN.

Two Little Girls to Perform Ceremony at West Side Carnival on Aug. 29.

Beatrice Nordica Snow, 7 years old, 1136 Washington boulevard, and Lorna Walduck, 12 years old, 1646 West Adams street, are the two little girls who will crown Queen Lucille Nau of the West Madison street carnival on the evening of Aug. 29. Other selections made last evening were Miss Cora Jacobs, 34 North California avenue, to be fourth lady in waiting to the queen, and Lucille Florence Thayer, 6 years old, 773 Warren avenue, to be goddess of liberty.

TRY ROBBERY ON A CAR.

Lawyer Grapples with Stranger and Saves the Young Woman's Property—Struggle with Alleged Pickpocket Causes a Panic Among Passengers—Mrs. J. R. Morgan of Highland Park Is Robbed of Watch, a Gift of the Late Philip D. Armour.

Three men last evening on a Chicago avenue car attacked Miss Rose Manley, and tried to snatch her purse, which contained considerable money. The plan of the robbers was frustrated by another passenger on the car in which the young woman was riding.

Miss Manley boarded the car at North Clark street. There were only one or two other passengers beside the three men who tried to rob her. When the car reached the bridge across the North Branch one of the robbers was seen to reach beneath the paper Miss Manley was reading and try to remove her chatelaine bag.

Grapples with the Robber.

John W. Carroll, a lawyer, 370 Noble street, saw the attempt and sprang toward the man. A struggle followed.

Both men fell from the car. Carroll called to Martin McCormick, the bridgetender, to catch the other robbers, who were running west from the bridge. Meanwhile the lawyer held his man and started east with him toward a patrol box.

As they were passing an entrance to a basement in Chicago avenue the man jerked away from Carroll and struck him in the face. The lawyer fell and the robber escaped.

Struggle in Crowded Car.

John Clark, an alleged pickpocket, was arrested after a struggle in a crowded Madison street car at Kedzie avenue last night by Sergt. Dennehy. An outcry by Charles Shiek, 818 North Fairfield avenue, who had just been robbed of $95 on the car, attracted the policeman's attention and he seized Clark, who was struggling to escape. The man had exhibited a revolver and the rush of frightened passengers to escape crowded the exits and kept the man a prisoner.

Thieves Use Two Wagons.

Loading their booty in two wagons, in which they carried it away, robbers broke into the furniture store of William Schick, 46 Clybourne avenue, early yesterday morning and stole rugs and lace curtains valued at several hundred dollars.

The robbery was discovered by clerks when they opened the store, and Mr. Schick reported it to the police. A few hours later he received telephone messages saying that one of the wagons, both of which were his property, had been found at Eighteenth street and Ashland avenue, and that the other had been found at Twenty-second street and Wentworth avenue.

Woman Is Robbed of Watch.

Mrs. John R. Morgan of Highland Park, wife of a La Salle street broker, was robbed of her watch in one of the department stores yesterday. It was a gift to her from the late Philip D. Armour before her marriage.

KILLED IN A FOOTBALL GAME.

James Pyne, 1104 West Harrison, Is the First Boy Victim of the Year.

Chicago's first football victim of the year died yesterday at the West Side hospital. He was Joseph Pyne, 16 years old, 1104 West Harrison street. While in a scrimmage with several companions in a lot near the house, he was thrown on his head and became unconscious. The youth died forty minutes after reaching the hospital.

VACANCIES IN FEDERAL SERVICE

Civil Service Examinations to Be Held at Postoffice for a Score of Positions.

Civil service examinations will be held in the Chicago postoffice to fill a score of positions in the federal service in the next sixty days. The examinations are to be on Aug. 31, Sept. 7, 14, and 21. Positions to be filled range from $720 clerkships to $2,000 bookkeepers.

Wreck Victims Are Identified.

Positive identificatioon of the bodies of two women killed in the Colorado avenue wreck of three street cars of the Consolidated Traction company at the Great Western railway crossing on Wednesday were made yesterday at the county morgue. They were: Lizzie Peterson, 626 North Western avenue, 31 years old, and Margaret Banks, 45 years old, 266 North Halsted street.

PLOT TO KILL POLICEMAN CHARGED TO CAR THIEVES.

Hundreds of West Side Residents, Thrown Out of Work, Said to Be Living by Robbing Freight Trains.

The existence of a conspiracy to kill or seriously injure Joseph Pleva, a special railway policeman, for his activity in arresting car thieves, is alleged by policemen of the Hinman street station. They last night arrested four young men suspected of having a knowledge of the plot. Those arrested are William Schultz, Edward Dombyl, and Frank and John Darganz. Their ages range from 14 to 19 years. All deny knowledge of the conspiracy.

In the last three months many merchandise and coal cars of the Burlington line on the tracks between Ashland and Kedzie avenues have been broken into and property worth thousands of dollars taken.

Investigation by the railroad detectives proved that dozens of residents were profiting by the thefts. Strikes and the closing of factories had thrown many wage earners out of work and they had turned to the looting of cars for food and fuel.

Dozens of thieves were arrested by Pleva and much property recovered.

SAY FALSE TALES WON MONEY.

Italians Accuse Recent Arrival of Cheating Them by Arousing Sympathy for Friends at Old Home.

The visit of a son of Pasquale Schiavone, 190 West Taylor street, an Italian banker, to Italy last month, is said to have exposed a scheme by which scores of west side Italians lost money and numerous romances were blighted. Gelsomina Cozzi, an employé of the banker, was arrested by Lieut. Meagher yesterday, charged with conspiracy, and last evening his life was threatened by Italians who had just learned of the charges against him. Cozzi, who is a recent arrival, has been visited by scores of Italians eager for information concerning relatives and sweethearts left in Italy. Many false tales are said to have been related by him of the straits to which the relatives were subjected. As a result the Chicago Italians, many of them unable to write, intrusted money to Cozzi to send to Italy.

BUYS A WILL AND POISON.

WOMAN, IT IS ALLEGED, THEN TRIES TO END HER LIFE.

Mrs. Edward Kepley, 3628 Cottage Grove Avenue, According to Police, Has Notary Public, Who Is a Pharmacist, Draw Last Testament and Supply Laudanum—Found in Stupor by Husband, She Flees When He Seeks a Physician.

After purchasing laudanum and having her will drawn at the same place, according to the police, Mrs. Edward K. Kepley yesterday afternoon attempted to commit suicide in her flat at 3628 Cottage Grove avenue. Her husband, returning from work at 6 o'clock, found her in a stupor, sitting in any easy chair with an empty bottle beside her. He ran for a physician and returned to find Mrs. Kepley gone.

The police, after a half hour's search, located the woman on a rear porch leading from the next floor of the building. They carried her to her room and it is believed she will recover. The police say the laudanum was sold by a druggist, who also is a notary public.

The druggist, it is declared, prepared the will, suspecting nothing, as the poison was not sufficient to prove fatal.

BOY MISSING: MAY BE DROWNED.

Henry Gross, 222 Thirty-fifth Street, Last Seen When Going Fishing on Thursday.

Relatives fear Henry Gross, 15 years old, has been drowned. He lived at 222 Thirty-fifth street and from Monday until Thursday was visiting his aunt, Mrs. L. Silverman, 415 West Divison street. The boy left her house Thursday morning to fish off the government pier, and since then no trace of him has been found. The lake will be dragged today.

Another missing person is Etta Wallace, 15 years old, daughter of Mrs. G. Fairchild of West Chicago. Mrs. Fairchild yesterday asked the police to search for the girl, who, she believes, eloped with Ray Haines. The young man lives near West Harrison street and Albany avenue.

ALLIANCE MADE IN STEEL FIGHT.

LONG WAR IS IMMINENT.

Big Concern Said to Have Been Left with 80,000 Tons of Billets on Hand.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—A long and bitter iron and steel war is believed to be imminent. Today it was semi-officially announced by the Pittsburg Steel company, between which and the United States Steel corporation there has been trouble, that the Republic Iron and Steel company of Youngstown, O., has joined it in the struggle, and that the corporation must fight the two big concerns if it would fight one.

Through an official of the Pittsburg Steel company today new light has been shed on the start of the trouble in which the United States Steel corporation and the Pittsburg Steel company are now wrapped. As the matter now stands the United States Steel corporation is said to have almost 80,000 tons of billets which it had made in anticipation of a great order from the Pittsburg Steel company which it thought had been secured.

Crucible Transfers Good Will.

"When the Crucible Steel company some months ago forced the United States Steel corporation to buy its big plant at Clairton it was understood between the seller and buyer that some good will went with the transfer," said the official. "The Crucible had for some time been supplying the Pittsburg Steel company and the Crucible consented to 'allow' the United States Steel corporation to supply the Pittsburg corporation with billets.

"The Pittsburg Steel company was not consulted. It had to get about 150,000 tons of billets from somewhere and had been getting them at cut rates from the Crucible people while the Crucible was forcing the United States Steel corporation into buying it out. The Pittsburg Steel company, as the biggest buyer of billets in the market, thought some concession should be made it, but since the corporation had absorbed the crucible we saw nothing but the pool of $28 per ton staring us in the face. We did some figuring, and an explosion came when we announced the purchase from the republic of 150,000 tons at $4 less than the pool price.

Pittsburg Prepared to Fight.

"But all this time other concerns of the United States Steel corporation was going ahead piling up billets against the order from the Pittsburg Steel company which they had been told was theirs, in fact the announcement that the billets had been bought on the outside at a great reduction was a hard blow. It is said that the corporation has now not less than 80,000 tons of billets left on its hands.

"We will meet every cut of the corporation and in most cases go them a point better. We are in a position to do this and it will be war to the knife. We can undersell the United Steel people when it comes to a show down and can keep it up."

BANDMASTER W. C. DE BAUGH WINS IN FIGHT ON UNION.

Musicians Threaten to Expel Him Because of Trouble Over "Political Playing," and He Secures Injunction.

Bandmaster Winfield C. De Baugh and the Chicago Federation of Musicians are quarreling over the price for "political music," and De Baugh has won the first points.

Judge Brown yesterday temporarily enjoined the union from expelling or suspending the bandmaster or attempting to discipline him in any way. In the bill De Baugh recited that for the last nine years he has been in good standing as a member of the federation. He always has abided by the rules, he says, and has been governed by the union price list. While the republican state convention was in session in Springfield on May 25 he was called on to furnish thirty-one men to play for the Frank O. Lowden Business Men's club.

Over these engagements the trouble arose, as the union men demanded $8 a day for playing "for convention purposes," while De Baugh contended they were entitled only to the usual $4 rate, as the political clubs were not an official part of the convention. The men appealed to the union and it decided against De Baugh, threatening him with expulsion if he did not obey the terms of its decision.

Fined Under Cigaret Law.

Louis Grossman of the Anti-cigaret league yesterday secured the conviction of three dealers who gave cigaret papers to minors. In the West Chicago Avenue police court Vincent Cracco, 124 Austin avenue, was fined $25. N. Benjamin, 329 Grand avenue, and Edward Cousin, 148 North Halsted street, were dismissed on payment of costs. It was their first offense.

DAVIS AS AN INSURANCE RISK.

Should the voters of the country be asked to take a risk which the insurance companies would decline? And should they take a risk which the tables of mortality condemn?

From the insurance standpoint Henry G. Davis, the democratic nominee for vice president, is a bad risk—in fact, so bad a risk that no standard company would insure him. Sixty-five years is the age beyond which most companies refuse to insure. The best that the insurance companies could do for Mr. Davis if he applied to them would be to tell him his "expectation of life," based upon their carefully prepared tables of mortality. On the 4th of next March it would be 3.95 years. That is, if he were in good health at that time and were elected vice president the probabilities are that he would live 3.95 years longer. Or, in other words, he probably would die eighteen days before he finished his term of office.

But when the insurance companies and the universal experience of mankind say that Mr. Davis probably will live 3.95 years from the 4th of next March they do not understand that he is to engage in the strenuous activities of the presidency. They assume that he will live as men of his age are accustomed to live and deport themselves. The normal conditions of the age of 81 years are not the conditions which surround the presidency. Consequently if Mr. Davis were called to the presidency through the death of Judge Parker it could not be assumed that he would live to see the light of Feb. 15, 1909, the day on which he probably would die as vice president. His probable death as president would be as much earlier as the activities of the presidency are more strenuous than those in which the average man of 81 engages.

COUNT CASSINI IS SHOCKED.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, says that "nothing can be pleaded in extenuation of this act"—the seizure of the Russian torpedo boat destroyer at Chefoo by the Japanese. That act is condemned not merely by the Russians, who were the sufferers, but by nearly everybody who has expressed an opinion about it. The justification or explanation of the Japanese government is not convincing.

There is one point in that justification which Count Cassini does not refer to. It is that Russia was the first to violate the neutrality of China, and with China's consent. It is alleged that Chefoo has been a Russian base during the war, Chinese junks continually plying between there and Port Arthur.

Nor is the Mandjur incident forgotten in the indictment of Russia. That is the gunboat which was at Shanghai when the war broke out, which would not leave, and which would not disarm, in spite of Japanese protests and demands, for more than a month.

That was the first breach of Chinese neutrality, and it was by Russia. That does not justify the act of the Japanese at Chefoo. But Russian expressions of horror about Japanese violations of Chinese neutrality would have a truer ring if Russia had not been the first sinner.

GEORGIA LESSONS.

"Exaggerated reports have been sent out," says a press dispatch from Statesboro, Ga., "that life is unsafe and property threatened." It appears that "the contrary is true, for the lesson of Tuesday has made a profound impression on the negroes." That lesson was the burning at the stake of two negroes, the murderers of a white farmer and his family. The impression has been so profound that there is an exodus of negroes from the county.

Other lessons have been taught which have made the blacks all the more anxious to get away. Several of them have been tied up and whipped. A respectable colored man who had lived in the community for seventy years and his son were killed in their cabin. The correspondent explains that this was the act of "irresponsible marauders," whose murderous deed has been "deprecated by all." He does not say that an attempt is to be made to bring the irresponsible murderers to justice.

The planters are beginning to regret the deep impression produced by all these lessons. Cotton picking is to begin soon and a shortage in the labor supply is threatened. That means a heavy money loss, for cotton is worth something this year. If the exodus keeps up it will be necessary to teach the negroes another lesson. That is, they must not run away from employers who need their labor. It may be considered advisable to whip or shoot a few blacks to make them stay at home.

If there are no hands to pick the cotton the planters will suffer by reason of the impressive lessons administered. They may come to the conclusion that the pleasure of burning a negro does not compensate for the loss of a cotton crop.

N. B.—The Naniwa and Takachiho did not join in the fight until the destruction of the Rurik had been assured.

In the battle off Port Arthur on Aug. 10 Admiral Togo purposely kept at long range with the Russian squadron. He knew that at long range his gunners could hit oftener than the enemy's. That distance gave a greater relative advantage to him than to the Russians. His precious battleship squadron comprised all the heavy fighting ships of the Japanese navy. He could not afford to risk them. Were they seriously damaged the way would be opened for the advent of the Baltic fleet. The event proved the correctness of Togo's tactics. The fighting efficiency of the Port Arthur fleet is practically destroyed. And since the Japanese land batteries dominate the harbor the damage cannot be repaired. Some of the ships have been disarmed. The Pallada is believed to have been sunk.

All this had been accomplished by the morning of the 11th. Admiral Kamimura, cruising in the Corean straits, was notified by wireless of the occurrence and was warned to look out for the Vladivostok squadron, which was supposed to be coming south. Three days after he received this information, on the morning of the 14th, he sighted the Vladivostok squadron. He knew that the main Russian squadron had been practically demolished and that Togo's damage had been so slight as to remove the fear that the Baltic squadron, if it came, could prevail over him. Even if Kamimura received severe damage from the three Muscovite armored cruisers before him, the mikado's command of the sea would not be injured. Why, then, did Kamimura not close in with the Russian squadron and destroy it? Why did he let the Rossia and Gromoboi escape back to Vladivostok where they can be repaired? Togo had an excuse for preserving his distance, but what excuse did Kamimura have?

The battle of the Corean straits began at 5 o'clock Sunday morning at a distance of about seven miles. At the outset the steering gear of the Rurik got out of order and became unmanageable. Its attempts to steer with its engines were not successful. It lagged behind and received the concentrated fire of the enemy. Its consorts made gallant efforts to save their sister ship by drawing the fire from it, but without avail. At about 9 o'clock the Rossia and Gromobol were forced to leave the Rurik and steam northward. While the two small Japanese cruisers, the Takachiho and the Naniwa, were dealing with the crippled Rurik the four larger Japanese ships, Adsuma, Idsumo, Iwate, and Takiwa pursued the Rossia and Gromobol to the northward. The chase lasted about an hour, when suddenly, to the surprise of the Russians, who report that they were suffering frightfully at this point, the four Japanese ships turned away and steamed south, leaving the Rossia and Gromobol to continue northward without interruption.

In this connection Vice Admiral Kamimura reports:

The Rossia and Gromobol escaped to the northward at full speed. At 10:10 a. m. our squadron [meaning the four larger ships] changed its course to the starboard and went south in search of the Rurik. In the meantime the Rurik had been sunk.

On the same happening Rear Admiral Jessen of the Russian fleet reports:

At 9:30 the Rurik began to lag behind considerably, and again turned its bows toward the shore, at the same time fighting against the two second class cruisers which had joined the enemy's squadron. The Rurik soon afterwards began to get out of sight. Vice Admiral Kamimura, with four armored cruisers, kept steadfastly engaging us in such a manner as to keep us from assisting the Rurik. Shortly before 10 o'clock the enemy's fire was the most terrific of the battle, but to our general astonishment the whole Japanese squadron left us after the most deadly fight, which had lasted five hours. It appeared impossible to renew the battle or to return to the Rurik, which was now thirty miles to the south. Taking advantage of the calm, we stopped our engines and quickly commenced to repair the breaches in our vessels so as to enable us to proceed to Vladivostok.

Here is an implied disparity. Admiral Kamimura conveys the impression that the Russians were too fast for him and got away in spite of his best endeavors to keep up with them. Admiral Jessen reports categorically that the Russians were suffering their heaviest damage at the moment when the Japanese pulled away, and that the cessation of the battle by Kamimura caused the utmost astonishment. Evidently if the Russians got away by superior speed it could not have astonished them that the firing ceased.

The official speed of both the Rossia and Gromobol is twenty knots, while of the Japanese ships the Adsuma steams twenty knots, the Idsumo twenty-one, the Iwate twenty-one and eight tenths, and the Takiwa twenty-three. Furthermore, according to the report of Admiral Jessen, "the Rossia had three funnels pierced, which prevented it from keeping up good steam, and three of its boilers were rendered useless." These facts taken together render it improbable that the Russians escaped owing to superior speed. They certainly did not escape because of darkness, since Admiral Kamimura withdrew shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning. If the event had depended on speed, and the Japanese had been earnestly pursuing, the two Russian cruisers would hardly have stopped their engines and repaired their damages within thirty miles of the place where the chase had begun. But the Russians completed their repairs on the calm sea unmolested.

The whole battle has a most curious complexion. If Admiral Kamimura were an American officer he would have to do a lot of explaining before he satisfied the navy department in regard to his battle.

ABOUT THE PANAMA RAILROAD.

The United States acquired the Panama railroad when it bought out the French canal company. But the isthmian canal commission has not yet assumed control of the road. The old directors still manage its affairs. They will give way in time to members of the canal commission, but unless some of them resign it will be more than a year before the commission, representing the government, which owns nearly all the shares, will be able to dictate the policy of the road.

It is of the utmost importance that that policy in one respect should be changed forthwith. For many years the road has been working under a contract with the Pacific Mail Steamship company by which it bound itself to deliver only to the steamers of that company freight carried westward across the isthmus. The Pacific Mail was given an absolute monopoly of carrying all goods conveyed across the isthmus by rail from the Atlantic to the Pacific side. The object of the agreement was to protect the transcontinental railroads, which feared the lively competition of the water and isthmian route. The Pacific Mail Steamship company, which was controlled by the owners of the Southern Pacific, made its rates so high as to discourage shippers from using the water route. Bulky freight, where speed in delivery is not an object, could be sent by the isthmian route more cheaply than by rail across the continent if the Pacific Mail company, in virtue of its monopoly, did not keep prices at a prohibitive pitch.

The United States cannot afford to continue to be a party to this arrangement between the isthmian road and the Pacific Mail (Southern Pacific). The contract should be abrogated at once.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1904: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

SIR CHARLES ROSE, who has arrived here from Europe, and who is now in New York, is the former business partner of Levi P. Morton in the Anglo-American banking house of Morton, Rose & Co., and the former racing partner of King Edward when prince of Wales. He is half an American, his mother, a famous beauty in her day having been the daughter of Robert Emmet Temple of Rutland, Vt. He has become a baronet quite recently, and is the second son of the late Sir John Rose of Montreal, who, after being finance minister of Canada, represented the dominion as its high commissioner in London, becoming the principal financial adviser of the then prince of Wales, and a member of his council.

Sir Charles had four sons, all of whom took part in the Boer war, where the two eldest lost their lives. One of Sir Charles' sisters is Lady Stanley Clarke, whose husband, the general of that name, is crown equerry to the king, and one of the senior members of his household. A brother, Capt. Edward Rose, formerly of the Tenth hussars, spent a considerable time in this country with his wife, Lady Cecilia Rose, after leaving the army.

Sir Charles is as familiar a figure in the yachting world as on the turf, owned the Emerald, the Satanita, and the Aurora, and in 1896 issued a challenge for the America cup, which was afterwards withdrawn, at the instance of the Royal Yacht squadron, to which he belongs. Besides being a banker, a yachtsman, and a member of the Jockey club, he has sat in parliament, and as an officer of the Montreal artillery took part in the military operations in Canada in connection with the Fenian raid thirty-five years ago and helped Lords Strathcona and Mount-Stephen to build the Canadian Pacific railroad.

Lady Beatrice Villiers, whose engagement to young Lord Dunsany has just been announced, can boast of royal Tudor blood in her veins. For her mother, the countess of Jersey, daughter of old Lord Leigh, can trace her descent on the distaff side from Mary queen of France and sister of King Henry VIII. of England. The barony of Dunsany is one of the oldest in Ireland, having been created by King Henry VI. in 1439 in favor of Sir Christopher Plunkett of Dunsany castle, which remains to this day the ancestral home of the lords of Dunsany. They were deprived of their honors and estates for a time in the seventeenth century in consequence of their devotion to the Stuart cause, but these were subsequently restored to them on giving their allegiance to the new dynasty.

The barony of Dunsany is by no means the only dignity possessed by the Plunkett family. For the head of one branch of the house is the earl of Fingall, who is likewise Lord Killeen, while Lord Plunket, now governor of New Zealand, also claims to belong thereto, although he spells his name with only one "t."

The Plunketts are of Danish origin, but their names are to be found figuring in English and Norman state records still in existence that date from the eleventh and twelfth centuries.

The present Lord Dunsany served with distinction in the Boer war as an officer of the Coldstream guards, and is a nephew of that Sir Horace Plunkett who has done so much to develop Irish agriculture and industry, and who, being possessed of a large ranch and of extensive interests in the United States, is a frequent visitor to this country. Sir Francis Plunkett, brother of the late Lord Fingall, is another member of this family, and has an American wife, who was Miss May Morgan of Philadelphia. Sir Francis, in his capacity as British ambassador to the court of Austria, is now in attendance upon King Edward at Marienbad.

The new Lady Dunsany is likely to inherit a considerable fortune from her father, who practically owns Child's bank, 1 Fleet street, which faces what was once Temple bar, the western boundary and former entrance gate to the city of London. The last representative of the house of Child had an only child, a daughter, and one night, when he was entertaining at dinner the tenth earl of Westmoreland, the latter remarked to him:

"If you were in love with a girl, Child, and her father would not let you marry her, what would you do?"

"Do! Why, run away with her, of course," was the banker's rash reply.

Lord Westmoreland acted upon his advice and went off with Miss Sarah Child one fine day in orthodox fashion by post chaise to Gretna Green, hotly pursued by the banker, whose progress, however, was arrested by Lord Westmoreland's shooting one of his horses just as he was catching up with the fugitive couple.

Having in his rage sworn to disinherit his errant daughter, Child would not break the letter of his vow, but modified its spirit by leaving his bank and all his vast property to his eldest grandchild, the eldest daughter of Lord and Lady Westmoreland, on the condition that she should be christened Sarah and take his name of Child. When she grew up, she married the fifth Lord Jersey, and until her death in 1867 ruled Child's bank as head partner, much in the same way that the now nonogenarian Lady Burdett-Coutts retains the chief direction and control of Coutts' bank, where the private account of King Edward is kept.

This Sarah countess of Jersey was an extraordinary woman, governed English society for over half a century with an autocratic sway, and was an altogether international figure, no crowned head, prince of the blood, or statesman visiting England without calling upon her at once on his arrival in London.

Her husband's mother, Frances, countess of Jersey, was the favorite of King George IV., and Creevy in his memoirs relates that on her death her executor, Lord Clarendon, sent for the fifth Lord Jersey, and told him that in the exercise of his discretion as her executor he was going to destroy some of her papers.

"The seals were taken off," says Creevy, "and the letters from the monarch to his former sweetheart caught Jersey's eye in great abundance. Lord Clarendon then proceeded to put them all in the fire, saying that he merely wished Lord Jersey to be present as a witness that they had never been read by any one. 'Very genteel this on Lord Clarendon's part,' adds Creevy, 'but damned provoking to think that such capital material for the instruction and improvement of men and womenkind should be lost.'"

The late Lady Jersey, wife of the sixth earl, was also a remarkable woman, a daughter of the great Sir Robert Peel, and the present countess worthily maintains the traditions of her predecessors in the title. A friend of the late Robert Louis Stevenson, who acted as her cicerone and host in Samoa, she is a great traveler, a clever writer, and one of the most successful hostesses of the English great world. Indeed, there are but few belonging thereto who have not been her guests at Osterly park, her magnificent place on the outskirts of the metropolis, once the home of Sir Thomas Gresham, but modernized in the eighteenth century by the Adamses for Sir Francis Child, when lord mayor of London. Among the many treasures is the entire silver toilet set and silver mirror used by Queen Elizabeth when entertained there by Sir Thomas Gresham.

The next Lord Jersey, now known as Lord Villiers, bids fair to prove quite as great a favorite of fortune as his parents and predecessors in the family honors. For in addition to his successes with his newly formed racing stable, of which Conroy II. is the bright particular star, he won in an uninterrupted run of luck the sum of $200,000 at Monte Carlo last spring, and, what is more, brought the entire amount back to England with him intact, much to the dismay of the management of the casino.

W. D. N.

LAWSON'S EXPOSE OF COPPER DEAL.

IN the fourth chapter of his "Frenzied Finance: The Story of Amalgamated," in the September number of Everybody's Magazine, Thomas W. Lawson describes in detail the manner in which he says the Amalgamated Copper company came into being through the agency of Henry H. Rogers, William Rockefeller, the National City bank, and "various lawyers, office boys, and clerks."

Mr. Lawson says that when the options on the properties proposed to be acquired had been obtained from Messrs. Daly, Tevis, Haggin, and others, calling for a purchase price of $39,000,000, Henry H. Rogers and William Rockefeller borrowed $39,000,000 from the National City bank, which was redeposited in the bank to the account of the original vendors under an agreement that it would be allowed to remain there for a stipulated time at a rate of interest just equaling that paid by the borrowers.

Boys Organize $75,000,000 Company.

At this point, continues Mr. Lawson, the "lawyers, office boys, and clerks" met and certified that, whereas, we (the office boys and clerks) are desirous of taking advantage of the corporation laws of the state of New Jersey we (the said office boys and clerks) do take advantage of said laws and form ourselves into the Amalgamated Copper company, which will have a capital of $75,000,000."

In the form of a similar resolution Mr. Lawson states that when the company had been duly organized one of the "office boys and clerks" produced from about his person a check for $75,000,000, which he paid into the treasury of the Amalgamated Copper company in return for its 750,000 shares of stock.

"The clerk," having become the owner of the entire stock of the company, Mr. Lawson says, it was next voted (and at the same meeting) that the company purchase from Henry H. Rogers and William Rockefeller certain stocks which they then owned, being the same stocks that had been purchased from the Tevis-Daly-Haggin, original vendors, for the $39,000,000 borrowed from the City bank for the $75,000,000 in Amalgamated's treasury. Payment was made, says Mr. Lawson, with the same check that "one of the office boys and clerks" had produced for the purchase of the entire capital stock of the company.

"Clerk" Sells Out.

The meeting then certified, according to the author of "Frenzied Finance," that the clerk who had purchased the stock of the Amalgamated Copper company for $75,000,000 had sold the same to Henry H. Rogers and William Rockefeller for a like amount, receiving back the same check, which had now traversed its intended circle.

The third part of the transaction came when the "office boys and clerks" resigned their positions as directors and officers of Amalgamated in favor of "more responsible and better known" Standard Oil votaries.

"Then," the writer goes on, "Mr. Rogers and William Rockefeller had the National City bank offer for sale to the public the $75,000,000 of stock in such a way that, although it was then the private property of Mr. Rogers and William Rockefeller, the public was led to believe that it was the property of the Amalgamated Copper company.

Public Invited to Buy.

Simultaneously the National City bank of New York offered to loan the public its deposits at the rate of 90 cents on the dollar, on any amount of Amalgamated stock it, the public, purchased; whereupon the public purchased from the National City bank of New York the $75,000,000 of stock for $75,000,000, thereby enabling it to certify on its books the $39,000,000 it had loaned to Messrs. Rogers and William Rockefeller, after paying said debts to the National City bank, and to become absolute owners of $36,000,000 of money, none of which they had owned before, as absolutely as though they had coined it by permit from the government and from the people who parted with it."

Sell Out at a Loss.

The fourth chapter, says Mr. Lawson, came months afterward, when the public, who had borrowed their money from the City bank and from other banks and trust and insurance companies to buy Amalgamated stock at 100 cents on the dollar, were compelled to repay it, and to do so were obliged to resell their Amalgamated, which they had bought at $100 per share, for the best price they could get, which was $38 a share. Then, he continues, if the Standard Oil, having purchased the stock at around $33 a share, were to resell they would "make" an additional number of dollars equal to the difference between the purchase price and that of the resale.

Ex-Banker Spalding and His Wife.

To Her Faithful Efforts He Attributes His Final Release Yesterday from Prison.

IF the story of Banker Charles W. Spalding and Louise Ervin Spalding were told between the covers of a "popular" novel, or made the theme of a melodrama, romantic people might be impressed, but the materialistic would scoff, dismissing it as impossible.

Spalding—banker once, and ex-convict now—cannot realize, himself, that it is a true story.

He has been a cynical man in his time, a shrewd manager of big affairs, a close student of human nature in others, and a man who had little time for sentiment. But in the height of his prosperity, just before the crash that sent him to the penitentiary, he fell in love with his stenographer, Louise Ervin.

His first marriage was anything but romantic, and the divorce that finally brought relief to both himself and his wife was not a surprise to the friends of either.

They had been uncongenial from the first, and they separated with mutual satisfaction.

As president of the Globe Savings bank Spalding was a man of wealth and position when, in 1896, the bank failed, and he became a fugitive from justice. It was then, for the first time, that the public learned of Louise Ervin.

Schooled in business affairs by her employer, the stenographer at once exhibited an acumen in her statements regarding the management of the bank that proved more than disconcerting to the persons who were trying to prove Spalding an embezzler. Later, when the banker was forced to stand trial, she engineered his defense. There were three trials before the banker finally was convicted, and a year had elapsed from the time of the bank's failure. Throughout each trial the stenographer sat in the courtroom beside his attorneys, keenly alert to the progress of the case, and whispering suggestions whenever it seemed a point might be made in favor of the defendant.

Her efforts to secure his acquittal having failed, she began at once her schemes to have him released from prison. Spalding with a good deal of faith in her ability to help him, accepted the situation with more composure than his friends expected of a man well advanced in years and facing a long term in the penitentiary. Then they were married.

The marriage took place in the county jail, when the banker was brought back to Chicago in one of the many attempts made by his faithful ally to secure his freedom. Spalding, it is said, was averse to having the marriage take place while he was a convict, but the bride insisted.

"Now I am going to work harder than ever. You shan't serve out that sentence," she told him when the ceremony was over.

Spalding was taken back to Joliet, his appeal for liberty having been denied, and resumed his task of keeping books in the penitentiary office. His wife began again to make her own living as a stenographer. Once a week, during the first few months of her husband's sentence, she journeyed to Joliet to see him and tell him how hard she was trying to get him out of prison were progressing. Later she was permitted to see him only once in six weeks, but their correspondence compensated to some extent for the longer intervals between their meetings. Every day during almost seven years that Spalding was a prisoner she wrote him a letter.

Her attempts to obtain her husband's freedom were numerous and most of her leisure time was spent in conference with lawyers. Once an appeal was taken to the Supreme court. There were four petitions for a writ of habeas corpus, and numerous appeals were made to the state board of pardons. All were unsuccessful.

Yesterday the devotion of the woman to her husband was rewarded when Spalding was released by Judge Dunne on more or less of a technicality. The point at issue was a novel one, involving the banker's custody of the funds of the University of Illinois as treasurer at the time the bank failed. The contention of his attorney, Colin Fyfe, was that the banker had been convicted of "larceny," for which the extreme penalty is ten years' imprisonment, and not of "embezzlement as a public official," for which fifteen years is the maximum sentence.

"The relator is released," announced Judge Dunne at the close of Assistant State's Attorney Barnett's argument in rebuttal.

The crowd in the courtroom understood the situation and applauded as Spalding, bent and gray haired and with his face ashen white from his life in prison, rose from his chair and kissed the woman beside him.

"I knew it would be this way. I knew it would," she repeated, caressing him, oblivious to the spectators in the courtroom.

An hour later Spalding and his wife were at their home, 501 Byron avenue. During the afternoon many of their friends came to congratulate them. Spalding caressed his wife's hands when he spoke of her.

"I don't believe I ever could have lived out my term in prison if it hadn't been for this little woman," he said. "Not a day passed during all those long years that she didn't write me a letter full of encouragement and telling of her plans to get me my freedom. And she superintended every effort made in my behalf, including this last one."

Spalding said he had made no plans for the future, except that he had decided to remain in Chicago and reënter business life.

A POINT OF VIEW.

"Well, don't you think there must be something very attractive about a man who can get engaged to four girls in about two months?"—Punch.

DEMOCRATS PLAN ILLINOIS FIGHT.

National Committee Offers Financial and Oratorical Aid in State.

FOR A HARD CAMPAIGN.

Republicans Now Figure on Having a Fighting Chance in Missouri.

Illinois has been placed in the democratic "hopeful" column. With the fond belief that "results" can be obtained and that there is a chance for democratic success in the state, the national democratic committee has offered the state committee all the aid, financial and oratorical, which may be needed.

Some time ago Tom Taggart and another eastern man wrote to John P. Hopkins, Roger Sullivan, and State Chairman Boeschenstein, asking for a statement of state conditions, specifying that what the national committee wanted were facts and not "campaign bunk."

Hopkins replied to this letter and gave it as the opinion of the state leaders that Illinois was not a hopeless proposition if the right sort of work was done. Taggart's answer was received yesterday and it promised all the assistance necessary to get the state if it can be had.

Changes Complexion of Campaign.

A slightly different complexion is given the local campaign by this assurance, as the democratic state leaders did not expect much aid from the national committee. It is admitted that a considerable degree of optimism is required, but Chairman Boeschenstein says he believes the state actually belongs to the democratic "hopeful" list.

Democrats say it is no part of the program to make a "hurrah campaign." They believe an industrial movement is the timely play, thereby agreeing with the republican estimate of the situation. The agricultural districts are not regarded as promising fields of work by either democrats or republicans, but the former believe the place for a campaign is in the factory centers of the state.

Big Picnic Today.

A harmony "front" is to be presented by the democrats in beginning the work. The Chicago Democratic club's picnic today at Riverview will serve the purpose of calling attention to a united party, it is predicted. State Chairman Boeschenstein announced that he would attend, and this is said to stamp the affair as "regular." It also is said that Roger Sullivan will be present.

The speakers, with all the press agent predictions eliminated, will be Judge O. N. Thompson, Lawrence B. Stringer, Thomas Ferns of Jerseyville, James O'Donnell of Bloomington, Henry T. Rainey of Carrollton, Quinn O'Brien, and James Turnock. Mayor Harrison and Thomas A. Moran will preside.

In accordance with the instruction received from the national committee, the state committee has examined the list of Illinois electors for possible ineligible men, and has found only one, who is believed to be barred by the fact that he is a national bank director. Eli Dixon of Monmouth may be requested to withdraw.

Republicans Plan a Conference.

While the state democrats are having their demonstrations at Riverview and Aurora, the state republicans will hold a "congressional conclave" at the Great Northern hotel. Gov. Yates will be present, and candidates and country chairmen in congressional districts from the Eleventh to the Seventeenth.

A party of Rock Island county republicans, consisting of Representative Lawrence A. Magill, County Chairman Axel Kohler, and F. S. Allen, vice president of the Moline Power company, were at the state headquarters yesterday. The democrats asserted that many workmen are unemployed in the factory districts. Mr. Magill denied this so far as the industries of Rock Island county are concerned, and predicted 5,000 plurality for the republican ticket.

Class Missouri as "Hopeful."

To offset the democratic hopes in Illinois Missouri republicans are endeavoring to convince the republican national committeemen at western headquarters that Missouri is a "hopeful" republican state. State Chairman Niedringhaus informed Harry New yesterday that the fight between Folk and Stone had reached such proportions as to indicate republican success.

George Clement, a St. Louis newspaper publisher, made it stronger, and predicted success. He said Folk had been requested by Sedalia democrats to withdraw from the ticket.

"I am not chasing rainbows," said Harry New, "but the fact is that Folk and Stone are in a row which doesn't help the national ticket in that state."

Big Meeting Is Arranged.

Oct. 8 has been set for a republican meeting under the direction of the Marquette club, and Fairbanks, Cannon, and Congressman James Watson of Indiana will be the speakers. Congressman Tawney, head of the bureau, has given the eastern committee notice not to book the vice presidential candidate for this date. Congressman Boutell is making the arrangements.

All hopes of having the vice presidential candidate at East St. Louis early in September have been abandoned. The eastern committee has arranged for him to be in Maine Sept. 6 and 7, and this will make necessary a quick trip from Marion, Kas., to the east.

Secretary Shaw will reach Chicago this morning. Tom Carter of Montana returned from the east yesterday morning. The two will go to Helena together, and the secretary will begin his long western trip.

OFFERED NATIONAL NOMINATION

A. A. Worsley, on Nebraska Fusion Ticket, Probably Will Decline Labor Ticket Honor.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 19.—A. A. Worsley, nominated for land commissioner at the recent fusion state convention, has been made the populist nominee for congress in the Seventh Nebraska district, and the nominee of the same party for state senator in Boyd county. Today he tentatively was proffered the presidential nomination of the labor party, soon to meet at Chicago. Mr. Worsley probably will decline the latter nomination and remain on the state ticket.

CITY IS SALOON LANDLORD.

Court Dissolves Injunction Restraining Frank Vral from Opening Barroom in Pipeyards.

The city of Chicago yesterday was granted the privilege of being a saloonkeeper's landlord. Frank Vral, who leased and remodeled a building in the city pipeyards at 11 West Chicago avenue, won the right to occupy it. Property owners in the vicinity last week secured an injunction restraining Vral from opening the saloon. They charged it would be a detriment to the neighborhood, and that Vral, in remodeling the frame structure, had violated the city ordinances.

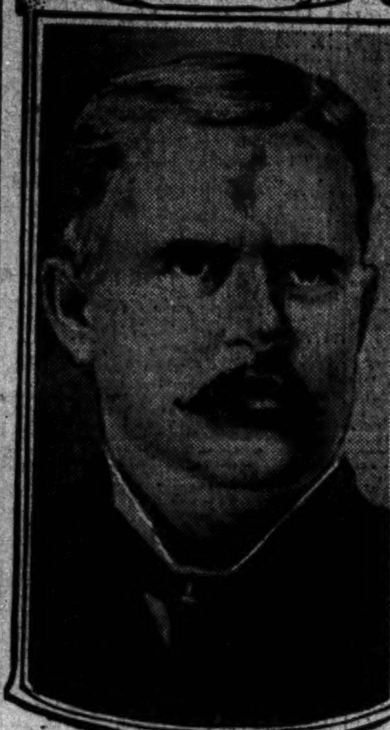

Judge Brown dissolved the injunction, holding that the courts have no right to issue writs restraining persons from ignoring the building ordinance, or any other.

"The city now, perhaps, can go into the wholesale renting business," said Attorney John M. Duffy, who appeared for the objectors. "It has a lot of pipeyards, and most of them have space for saloons."

Illinoisan Heads Sons of Veterans.

WILLIAM E. DUSTIN

Boston, Mass., Aug. 19.—At the annual convention of the National Sons of Veterans today William E. Dustin of Dwight, Ill., was elected commander in chief by acclamation. The following officers also were chosen by acclamation:

Junior vice commander in chief—M. D. Friedman of Birmingham, Ala.

Quartermaster general—Fred E. Bolton of Boston.

Chief of staff—Gen. R. M. J. Reed of Philadelphia.

A new constitution was adopted by which greater distinction is drawn between the military and civic branches of the order, and Gettysburg, Pa., was selected as the next place of meeting.

Myrtle Kramer of Illinois was elected junior vice president of the Daughters of Veterans.

POINT FOR LA FOLLETTE.

OLD STATE COMMITTEE CERTIFIES CONVENTION AS REGULAR.

Stalwarts Will Contest Action on the Ground That Their Own Organization Is Only Regular One and Therefore There Can Be No Other Legal Recognition—Campaign Plans and a Successor to Treasurer Kempf Are Considered at Madison Meeting.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The old republican state central committee met today and certified that the convention which nominated the La Follette ticket May 18 was the regular one. The stalwart committee says it will contest the action on the grounds that the old committee no longer exists, and that it (stalwart committee) is the only regular committee, and hence there can be no contest with the new.

The new La Follette state central committee also met to discuss campaign plans and the successor to State Treasurer Kempf, who resigned from the ticket on the discovery of irregularities in his office. William Kieckhefer, Milwaukee, who is mentioned for the place, was present and was strongly urged to accept, but declined.

There is strong probability that Treasurer Kempf's office will be declared vacant in a few days. He said today his bonding company had refused to raise the bond from $250,000 to $600,000, as ordered by Gov. La Follette. Two experts of the company have been checking up the treasurer's accounts for the last two weeks, and the company declines to take further risk, but will let the old bond stand. Kempf is endeavoring to raise a personal bond for the needed amount.

Attorney General Sturdevant gave an opinion today that by law the office is now vacant, as the time for raising the bond has expired. The governor will confer with the attorney general on Monday on the subject.

GEN. MILES WRITES TO PARKER.

Says He Indorses Every Word of Candidate's Speech of Acceptance, Which Will Prove a Bow of Promise.

Esopus, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Former Judge Parker tonight made public a letter from Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, retired, congratulating him upon his speech delivered at the notification ceremonies. The letter follows:

Dear Judge: I wish to express my appreciation of your most excellent address in accepting the democratic nomination. It was more comprehensive, stronger and deeper, and presented in clearer light the most important principles of our government than any speech or state paper produced in many years.

I would not erase a line and cheerfully indorse every sentence. It will attract the attention of the thoughtful, patriotic citizens of our country, it will be a bow of promise and a star of hope to millions in the orient who are now praying for liberty, and it will vibrate down through the republics of the western hemisphere, giving confidence to 50,000,000 of people living under democratic governments copied after our own.

NELSON A. MILES.

Candidate Davis Leads German.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Aug. 19.—Former Senator Davis last night led one of the largest germans given here this season.

REPUBLICANS AT OLD SALEM.

Senator Hopkins and Congressman Graff Argue Against a Change Next November.

Petersburg, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The progress made in the state and nation under republicanism and the demoralization that reigned under democracy were the keynote of Senator Hopkins' speech at Old Salem today, the occasion being republican day. The protective tariff was held up as a standard of measurement of the national prosperity. He cited the improved condition of the workingman here in contrast with that in European countries.

"Before the democrats came in power you could see the furnace fires reaching to heaven," he said. "Then came the inauguration of the Cleveland régime and the infamous Wilson-Gorman bill making paupers of hundreds of thousands of honest men. Roosevelt is no experiment. We have nominated candidates that are ideal."

Congressman Graff spoke and devoted his time to a review of republican achievements and pleaded for a continuance of the republican administration.

HEMENWAY SURE OF VICTORY.

Indiana Congressman, Now in New York, Confers with Chairman Cortelyou of National Committee.

New York, Aug. 19.—Representative James A. Hemenway of Indiana, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, conferred today with Chairman Cortelyou and the republican congressional committee. He expressed his confidence of republican success.

were employed in the packing plants, union men systematically set out to boycott merchants of that nationality all over the city. The merchants felt the effects of the campaign so strongly that they met and carried their complaint before the Greek societies. These organizations decided that, to protect their members, the workers should be compelled to quit.

Planning to Assist Strikers.

At a meeting of union leaders last night at the office of the Chicago Federation of Labor a committee of five was appointed to devise plans for assisting the strikers. The committee consists of John C. Harding, Arthur McCracken, T. P. Quinn, F. G. Hopp, and John Mangin. Their report, to be made to the federation tomorrow, will contain recommendations for raising funds and taking any other action decided on.

"We are going to enlist all the army of union members in the city in the support of the butchers," said Secretary E. N. Nockels of the federation. "This does not mean a sympathetic strike. It will be sympathetic action of another sort."

Robbed, Beaten, and Lashed.

Showing bruises on his head and body, Vincent Statar, a nonunion employé of Swift & Co., told the police of the stockyards station last night a story of being robbed, beaten, and lashed with a cat-o'nine-tails until insensible. The police arrested five union men, Albert Trumbly, Nedas Trumbly Chris Coyne, Ignace Chatha, and John Helega, for alleged participation in the assault.

Statar limped into the police station in the morning swathed in bandages. He was scarcely able to relate his tale. Only a few hours before, he said, he had been left lying for dead, bound and gagged, in a shed in the rear of 4503 Laflin street.

Six union men had attacked him, he declared, within a few doors of his boarding place, as he was making his way home at midnight from his work in the yards. First robbing him of $5.15, his assailants, according to Statar's story, beat him with clubs, then stripped him of his clothes, and with a cat-o'-nine-tails whipped him until, bleeding and weak, he fainted.

When Statar revived and crawled into a shed the men returned to the attack a second time and only when he feigned death did they desist, but not, however, until they had tied him hand and foot and bound his mouth with a handkerchief to prevent outcries should he recover.

While his assailants were beating him, according to Statar, a crowd of fifty men stood by and witnessed the punishment. Appeals from Mrs. Josef Ignace, the wife of his landlord, who was in the crowd, failed to arouse compassion for the victim.

Statar gave an accurate description of each of the men who attacked him and later made affidavit to the story. The affidavit was drawn up by Arthur F. Evans, attorney for Swift & Co., who asked Capt. Clancy to make an investigation. Sergts. Tousley, Chelski, Hart, and Fitzgerald arrested three men last night and two more, the police said, probably will be in custody by this morning. Statar had been working for Swift & Co. in the hog killing department, since Aug. 1.

Other Assaults.

Frederick Lindhausen, a nonunion man employed by Armour & Co., was beaten by three men, supposed to be unionists, at Forty-ninth and Laflin streets in the afternoon. He escaped from his assailants and reported the assault to the New City police station.

Mistaken for nonunion men, Albert Calchek, 4500 Laflin street; Tony Kulig, 4553 Justine street; and Frank Kruba, 4500 Laflin street, were kicked and beaten by five pickets at Forty-eighth and Robey streets in the morning. The three have been employed on truck farms since the strike began.

Going in a body to the saloon of Andrew Anderson, 357 West Forty-eighth place, five unionists dragged Paul Rasman, accused of being a strike breaker, into the street last night and beat him. James McGary, Dan Close, John Downey, James Hayes, and William Harrison were arrested an hour later and taken to the stockyards police station. Rasman protested that he was employed by the Rock Island railroad, but the union men insisted that he was working in one of the packing houses.

Accidents in the Plants.

An unusual number of accidents occurred in the packing plants during the day. William Briley, 4045 State street, fell down an elevator shaft at Armour's ham house and broke his back. He died instantly. John Fober, 69 Burling street, was working in Armour's car shops when he fell and fractured his right leg. He was removed to the Provident hospital. Justa Lincoln, an Italian, was crushed beneath an ice box in the Armour plant.

FIND GOLDEN NOT DISORDERLY.

Jurors Acquit Teamster Leader of First Charge Made Against Him by Inspector Hunt.

George F. Golden, head of the striking packing house teamsters, was found not guilty yesterday of the charge of disorderly conduct preferred against him by Inspector Hunt. Golden's case was heard before a jury of eleven men.

From the evidence presented on the charge of disorderly conduct Justice Charlton on Aug. 29 will decide whether Golden is guilty of the charge of intimidation, also brought against him by Inspector Hunt.

On July 29 Golden was sitting in his office at Root street and Emerald avenue when Charles Haverly, a teamster, drove by with a load of meat. Golden leaned out of the window and ordered Haverly to take the meat back. Haverly complied, and Golden was immediately arrested by Inspector Hunt, who had heard the order.

Hunt testified that when Golden told Haverly to turn back a threat of violence was implied if not actually made. Haverly testified that he did not consider Golden's language a threat, and that he would have turned back if Golden had not spoken to him.

"I was just thinking at the time Golden spoke," said Haverly, "that I was in poor business, hauling unfair meat around, and was figuring on turning back."

NEW ARBITRATOR APPOINTED.

Gov. Yates Names B. F. Scharpell of Galesburg for Member of the State Board.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Gov. Yates announced today the appointment of B. F. Scharpell, chief of police at Galesburg, to be a member of the state board of arbitration, to succeed W. A. Mathis, resigned.

Mathis is a locomotive engineer in the employ of the Illinois Central railroad company, and resigns on account of business reasons. Sharpell was formerly employed by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad.

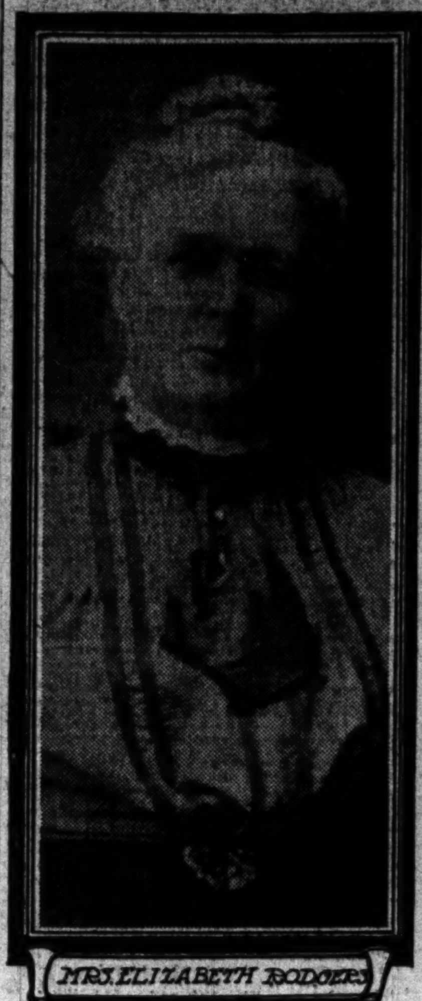

The governor also appointed Mrs. Lillian Danskin of Jacksonville to be deputy state factory inspector, to succeed William Ehn of Galesburg, removed.

ESCAPES FROM COUNTY JAIL.

"Trusty," Imprisoned for Larceny, Lowers Himself from a Wondow in the Second Story.

By lowering himself from a second story window, Lucius Rapp last evening escaped from the county jail. He was a "trusty" and was allowed more liberties than the other prisoners. He was missed when Guard Thomas Butler was watching several other men who were working in the same section on the Dearborn street side of the building.

Chosen Chief of Women Foresters

MRS. ELIZABETH RODGERS

The Woman's Catholic Order of Foresters, in convention at Minneapolis, reëlected Mrs. Elizabeth Rodgers of Chicago as high chief ranger. Tellers who had counted votes all night announced yesterday morning that she had defeated Miss Catherine Goggin of Chicago by fifty ballots. Mrs. Rodgers resides at 2165 West Thirty-sixth street. Miss Julia O'Brien was chosen secretary, Francis McDonald attorney, Miss Katherine Birmingham treasurer, and Dr. Anna Dwyer medical director. All live in Chicago.

BOY TELLS OF CRUELTY.

ATTACKS PARENTAL SCHOOL PUNISHMENT METHODS.

Walter Miller, Released on Habeas Corpus Proceedings, Complains That Offenders Are Put on a Bread and Milk Diet, Locked Up in Solitary Confinement, and Forced to Do "Squats"—Supt. MacQueary Defends His System from Charge.

Methods of punishment in vogue at the Chicago Parental school were attacked yesterday by Walter Miller, the 10 year old son of Henry F. Miller, 1050 Winnemac avenue, following his release from the institution on habeas corpus proceedings. Charges of cruelty made by the boy were denied in detail by Supt. T. H. MacQueary.

Among the forms of punishment inflicted on inmates of the school, according to the Miller boy, is a course of "squats," in which a youngster is forced to place his hands on his hips and then bend and straighten the knees, "sometimes for a quarter of an hour at a stretch."

Tells of Bread and Milk Diet.

Other penalties for misconduct mentioned by the boy were placing an offender on a bread and milk diet for two days, solitary confinement for the same length of time, and rubbing the face of a boy on the floor and running around the "bull pen" for an hour after a period of hard work at improving the school grounds.

"We do require offenders to march around a circle and do 'squats,' as the Miller boy says," said Supt. MacQueary. "So far from such punishments being cruel, they positively are beneficial and are used in the best military academies in the country.

"In the second place, we do use the bread and milk diet instead of the bread and water diet, used in many schools. Any one who knows anything about the chemical constituents of bread and milk knows that they contain all the elements necessary to physical sustenance.

Favors Solitary Confinement.

"Solitary confinement, for short periods and for serious offenses, also is used and was deliberately adopted by the board of education as a substitute fo corporal punishment. The confinement is in a well lighted and well ventilated room and is much more effective than whipping.

"The fact is that Mr. Miller is violently prejudiced. He belongs to the class of parents who, by their opposition to the school authorities, are helping to promote truancy."

VICTIM OF DROWNING BURIED.

The funeral of Miss Gretchen Denker, who was drowned on Wednesday at St. Joseph, Mich., was held yesterday from the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna M. Denker, 214 East Sixty-third street. Mrs. Denker is a widow, her husband having died recently, and she is left without a relative in the world. Miss Denker was an unusually bright girl, and in addition to showing ability as an artist was engaged at the time of her death in writing a story for children entitled "Gretchen in Wonderland." She was also an advanced musician. She was out rowing with some other girls on the river when in some manner she fell from the boat.

UNITE TO FIGHT NAVY'S PLAN.

People of Lake Bluff at Massmeeting Protest Against Plan to Establish Training Station There.

More than 200 residents of Lake Bluff last night met at the town hall and organized to prevent the government for establishing its proposed naval training station there. The people fear an influx of undesirable persons, and allege the station will be nothing more than a recruiting bureau, where thousands of men will be brought and culled by the navy department, the unsatisfactory ones being dismissed.

GIVES UP $2,700 POSITION.

Mayor Accepts Resignation of Monroe Fulkerson as Attorney for the Fire Department.

The resignation of Monroe Fulkerson, attorney for the fire department, to take effect Sept. 1, yesterday was accepted by the mayor. Assistant Corporation Counsel W. H. Rothmann, the executive said, might have the place if he wishes it, but it is probable that he will retain his present position.

Mr. Fulkerson told the mayor he wished to resume the private practice of law.

The salary of the position is $2,700 a year, and there is competition for the place.

NEW WABASH TRAIN.
"The Banner Blue Limited."

A brand new train, built expressly for the World's Fair traffic; will be on exhibition at Dearborn Station from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., Saturday, Aug. 20. Our friends and patrons are invited to call and inspect the train. F. A. Palmer, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agent.

TRACTION MIXUP NEAR SOLUTION.

Judge Grosscup Declares Mayor's Commutation Plan to Be Feasible.

SEES END TO PROBLEM.

Says He Has the Power to Take Any Action to Benefit the Property.

"The situation with regard to the affairs of the Union Traction company is nearing a solution."

This declaration was made by Judge Grosscup last night. He had received and was considering the letter addressed to him by Mayor Harrison proposing a franchise for the Union Traction company based upon a commuted term, equivalent to the duration of the average life of the existing franchises, according to the terms laid down in the Chicago City railway ordinance.

Preparing Reply to Mayor.

"I shall prepare an answer to Mayor Harrison's letter early next week, probably on Monday or Tuesday, in which I shall fully set forth my views," said the judge. "Until then I do not care to discuss the question, because I do not believe it would be courteous to the mayor."

"Will you say whether or not you believe the plan the mayor has outlined is feasible?" he was asked.

"O, yes, it is perfectly feasible. I am certain that I have the power to do anything that is for the best interests of the property which is in the custody of the court. I will say this, too, which I have publicly stated before, that I am extremely anxious to arrive at an early and amicable settlement of the differences which now exist between the city and the Union Traction company. I want to do everything I can to put the property in first class shape, and I want to see the company get a franchise at an early date."

Judge Grosscup Is Reticent.

"Have you had any personal communication with Mayor Harrison in regard to the proposition he made you in his letter?" Judge Grosscup was asked.

"That question I do not care to answer."

"Would the opposition of the eastern interests to the settlement along these lines affect your decision?"

"It is too bad it rained today. I'm afraid it will injure the golf links for tomorrow's play," was the response.

Average Life Is Nearly Same.

Mayor Harrison said with regard to the proposition made to Judge Grosscup that the city was able to suggest the negotiations because the average life of the grants of the two companies practically was the same.

"In reaching the average," he said, "it is found that the lines of the Union Traction company have an average of a little less than thirteen years to run and those of the City railway around twelve years and six months. In both cases the average is under thirteen years, which is the life of the grant as stipulated in the City railway ordinance. If it were otherwise we should not have been able to make the proposition."

May Send Statement to Council.

The mayor may send to the council Wednesday afternoon the statement to the public recently issued by him giving his policy with regard to the referendum of the City Railway ordinance.

The ordinance will be introduced at the same time, and will be deferred and published in the council journal. The mayor recommends that the time for filing a referendum petition be extended until Oct. 20, and in case sufficient signatures have not been obtained by that time he will propose to the council that the ordinance be deferred until the people can vote on it next spring.

FISH DYING IN MINNESOTA.

Thousands Perish Apparently from Suffocation, Although There Is a Good Stage of Water.

Albert Lea, Minn., Aug. 19.—There is consternation over the death of fish in the lakes about here, and no one can explain the cause. Large pickerel, bullheads, suckers, perch, and all kinds are dying. They seem to suffocate, although there is a good stage of water.

HEAVY RAINFALL IS RECORDED.

Errors Give the Highlanders First Contest of Series by 6 to 1 Score.

TANNEHILL IN BAD FORM.

Makes Three Misplays in a Row; White Also Gets Rattled in the Third.

New York, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The Chicago White Stockings made enough mistakes in today's game against the Highlanders to last them the rest of their trip. Every department of the game had its error of judgment or play, making about as lurid an exhibition as has been seen here for many a day. Incidentally, the Highlanders won by the uneven score of 6 to 1, and thereby secured undivided possession of first place for the next twenty-four hours at least.

Lee Tannehill handed out three misplays in a row, and was easily the archoffender. But Harry White, who was in the box for the White Sox, perpetrated one that was worse yet, for it unnerved him. By a beautiful sprint White beat out a bunt in the third, and then reached second on a bad throw. Green's out at first put him on third, but he forgot the game, thought there were three out, and wandered off the bag. He was pulling off his sweater before the shouts of the coachers roused him and he made a dash for the base, but it was too late. Ganzel had seen the mistake and whipped the ball to Conroy, who put it on the dentist before he could slide back.

White Up in the Air.

This evidently upset White, and before the next round was over four of Griffith's men had crossed the counting station, removing the game from the danger zone and locking it up for keeps.

At that these runs could not have scored had Tannehill not blown up. His work at third in that inning looked much like his shortstop playing last season. Everything seemed to be thrown his way and he messed things up just as regularly he was given the chance. Although White was wild at the start, the first man should have been out, but Tannehill fumbled the ball. A few minutes later this same runner, Pat Dougherty, was caught between third and home and would have been an easy out but Tannehill muffed the ball and the runner got back to third in safety. Then he kicked Fultz's grounder and Conroy cleaned up with a cracking triple, four runs being the sum total of that heart rending session.

Sox Unable to Score.

While the White Sox were struggling along as best they could, trying to keep the Highlanders from scoring, they were finding it even harder to get a run over the plate themselves. Jack Chesbro was working with all the precision of a well-oiled piece of machinery and whatever hopes the visitors ever entertained of scoring were soon blasted by his great work until the last inning. Even then the run that was tallied could easily have been cut off at the plate had Elberfeld tried to stop it, but there was no fear any longer that there might be a winning rally, and he threw the batter out at first instead of cutting off Davis at the plate.

Cut out that third inning and it would have been a great game. White was a trifle unsteady at the start, giving Dougherty, the first man up, his base. Keeler sent him to second with a sacrifice and then White hit Williams. Ganzel fanned and it looked bad for the locals, when Elberfeld poked a short single to left. Callahan came tearing in and the ball bounded up nicely to him, but hit his wrist and he dropped it. Otherwise he could easily have Dougherty down at the plate.

Tannehill Displays His Skill.

Then followed the fireworks of the third, in which Tannehill's three errors, followed by Conroy's triple—the only clean hit of the inning—scored four runs and put the game in the ice box for New York. One more run was registered after this, in the fourth, on Dundon's fumble and Williams' pretty double to right.

Aside from the first inning Chicago had no opportunity to score until the ninth. Green reached first on a wide throw by Conroy and on Jones' sacrifice, but was left there, as Callahan and Davis were easy outs. White's forgetfulness spoiled another chance in the third that might have materialized into something.

Chicago's one run came through Davis' great triple down the first base line. He crossed the plate on Tannehill's easy out at first.

Notes of the Game.

The White Sox will have a chance to redeem themselves tomorrow.

In the sixth Chesbro's third strikeout was on a wild pitch and he reached first in safety.

Smith for the White Sox and Orth for the New Yorkers probably will be the opposing pitchers.

CLEVELAND WINS IN ELEVENTH.

Bad Throw by Monte Cross Enables the Blues to Defeat the Athletics in Extra Innings, Two to One.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 19.—In the eleventh inning today Lajoie, the first man up for Cleveland, hit to Monte Cross, whose throw to Davis went into the right field bleachers, and Lajoie made the circuit with the winning run. The game was closely contested from the start and abounded in interesting plays. Score:

NO SWITCH FOR SENATORS.

Magnates Confer at Milwaukee and the Team Will Remain at Washington—Kilfillea May Take Franchise.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—If Henry J. Kilfillea and F. C. Gross of Milwaukee buy the American league franchise in Washington next year, the team will remain in Washington and not go to Providence. This was decided today at a conference held here between Ban Johnson and John Taylor of Boston and Kilfillea, who was asked to take the Washington franchise. It was a continuation of the conference begun in Chicago yesterday. No decision was reached as to the sale of the club. It was said, but it is generally believed that Kilfillea and his silent partner, Gross, will go into the deal. Gross said tonight if they take the club it will surely remain in Washington.

Benefit for Stockyard Strikers.

The Spaldings and Athletics will play a game at the south side grounds today for the benefit of the stockyards strikers. Game called at 3 p. m.

AMATEUR GAMES FOR TODAY.

Important Contests Are Scheduled in the Commercial and Mercantile Championship Races.

Two interesing games are scheduled in the amateur leagues for this afternoon. Every league in the city has some games scheduled, but the meeting of the American Trusts and Angus Morrisons of the Commercial league at Ravenswood Park, and the L. Wolffs and Butler Bros. of the Mercantile league at Auburn Park will be important in settling the championships in these leagues. Following is the complete schedule for this afternoon:

Commercial league—American Trusts and Angus Morrisons, at Clark and Leland; Kellogg Switchboards, at River Forest; First Nationals and Berry Candies, at Sixty-ninth and Calumet; Elgin, Joliet and Easterns and Farwells, at Forty-seventh and Western.

Mercantile league—L. Wolffs and Butler Bros., at Auburn Park.

National Union league—Montefiores and Garlands, at Lincoln Park; McClellans and Ellsworth, at Twenty-second and Rockwell; Garden Citys and Reapers, at Garfield Park; Mulligans and Auditoriums, at Chicago and Western.

South Side league—Englewood Men's and Oak Leafs, at Hand's park; Woodlawns and Winstons, at Washington park; Englewood Athletics and Corpus Christis, at Washington park.

Bankers' league—Commercial Nationals and American Trusts; Chicago Nationals and Illinois Trusts; Continental Nationals and Northern Trusts; all games at Washington park.

Boot and Shoe league—Selz-Schwabs and R. P. Smiths; Guthman, Carpenter & Tellings and Smith-Wallaces; both games at Washington park.

Christian Church league—Bush Temple and Austin; Hyde Park and Evanston; Monroe Street and Metropolitan.

Bible Class championships—Campbell Park Presbyterian and Jackson Boulevard Christian, at Ogden avenue and Rockwell street, at 2 p. m.; winner of first game and Haynes' class, at some place, 4 p. m.; Church of Ephiphany and Oakland Methodist Episcopal, at Campbell avenue and Taylor street.

WARD BEATS COLLINS AT TENNIS

Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—The tennis tournament here was continued today under the same favorable conditions that have prevailed thus far during the contests. Today's play included only six matches. Of these the one between Ward and Collins was the most important.

Ward took the first set at 6—2 by clever play at the net and the advantage that his effective service gave him. The set was a battle for the net position, but Ward was able to get in oftener and was better able to hold his position when he did get in. Collins lost his nerve three times and succeeded in getting through only once.

Ward was not so successful in keeping Collins away from the net in the second set and also proved careless in two of his own service games. This caused the set to run out to deuce, but it was finally Ward who pulled it out at 8—6 through steadiness. The two men were even on placed strokes, but Ward made many less errors.

Ward made it straight sets by taking the last, 6—2.

Collins made a game fight in the fifth and sixth games, one going to deuce no less than thirteen times. Ward was always steady, however, and after this stand ran out two games without difficulty.

The single championship of America now lies between eight men, and with one more day of good weather the tournament will have reached the semi-finals. Summary:

Fourth round—H. Ward beat K. Collins 6—2, 8—6, 6—2. A. E. Bell beat J. B. Read 7—5, 6—1, 6—3. W. J. Clothier beat K. H. Behr 5—7, 6—2, 6—3. F. B. Alexander beat F. Huntington 7—5, 6—1, 8—6. E. W. Leonard beat G. T. Adee 6—2, 6—2, 6—4. N. W. Niles beat M. Howland 6—0, 6—2, 6—1.

JEFFRIES CHANGES PROGRAM.

Champion Stops Boxing for Lack of Opponents and Tackles Punching Bag—Munroe's Appetite Good.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Jeffries has been compelled to cut boxing from his program for a few days, and will remain at Harbin Springs. Having put Joe Kennedy to the bad early in the week, the champion finished up today with a terrific bombardment of "Brother Jack," who had to run up signals of distress and go into dry dock for repairs.

In lieu of human targets, the boilermaker went to his old punching bag with the force he has been holding back for fear of putting Joe and Jack out of business. His attack was so fierce he broke the bag. Altogether the champion put in an hour and forty minutes working in the gymnasium, which, according to Dick Adams, is equal to three days' work about San Francisco bay, so intense is the heat at Harbin Springs.

If Jack Munroe's appetite can be taken as a criterion of his fighting ability, he ought to give Jeff a most interesting tussle for the championship. At breakfast this morning the husky miner gulped down fifteen raw eggs, and would have eaten more had not the supply in camp run short. He also go away with two pounds of steak and a few other eatables, and still he was hungry.

Everything is bustle at the training quarters of the challenger. Munroe is going through a regular routine, hardening his muscles, quickening his speed and shiftiness, and increasing his lung power. He does his work with enthusiasm and apparent confidence, and will stick to set exercises until two or three days before he enters the ring.

Olympian Games Postponed.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 19.—The Olympic Y. M. C. A. championship track and field games were again postponed today on account of rain. Weather permitting, they will be held tomorrow.

Cricket Game Today.

This afternoon the Pullman cricket team will meet the Calumets at Fifty-second street and Cottage Grove avenue in a postponed match in the Chicago Cricket association championship.

ELMIRA TEAM IS EASY FOR COLTS.

Chicago Nationals Win Exhibition Contest on Open Date—Score 10 to 3.

NEW FIELDER TRIED OUT.

Manning Is Latest Recruit and Makes Good Showing—Hails from Addison.

Elmira, N. Y., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The Chicago national league team stopped off here today and defeated the fast Father Mathew team by the one sided score of 10 to 3.

The local men scored the first in the second inning before Lundgren settled to pitching, as he did later in the game. Biehl pitched the first five innings, but he was forced to retire, in favor of Fennell after eleven hits and eight runs had been made off him. The Father Mathews went to the bad behind Fennell and three errors and a base hit in the sixth scored two runs for Chicago. The Elmiras scored their two runs on hits by Curtis, Burrell, and Hughes.

Manning, the left fielder of the Addison team, played, and made a good showing.

The third run was made by the locals in the last inning, Fennell and Wilbur making two base hits in succession. The Chicago team left after the game for home. Two thousand people witnessed the game. Score:

COLTS BACK FOR LAST SERIES.

Scheduled to Meet Boston Today—Good Showing in East—May Try Out New Men.

Chicago's Colts will return home, and, weather permitting, commence their final stand of the year on their own grounds this afternoon with the Boston Nationals as their opponents. Selee's men, in spite of their chronic crippled condition, have made an excellent showing on the eastern trip just finished, winning ten games and losing five. This would be pennant winning baseball in an evenly balanced race, but it barely enabled the Colts to hold their own with their competitors. Manager Selee is likely to present several new faces in the coming series, as he has secured much new blood for the team, and some of the men are expected to be on hand today. Nothing definite can be announced, as the matter is in Manager Selee's hands. Boston is scheduled for three games here and New York follows for four, including the playoff of a tie.

BRIGHTON TROT MEETING ENDS.

Last Day of Races Is Devoted to Dashes—York Boy Takes 2:09 Trot, the Feature.

New York, Aug. 19.—The last day of the grand circuit meeting at the Brighton Beach track was devoted to dash races, in which the favorites were all topheavy, but in some instances proved most deceptive. This was especially so in the 2:22 pace at half a mile and the 2:09 trot at a mile and a sixteenth.

In the former Gordon Prince sold at $25 to $10 for the field. Lookout Hal was the hope of the fielders, and, with the advantage of the pole, he sprinted to the front with the favorite in hot pursuit. At the top turn Gordon Prince broke badly and Lookout Hal won by two lengths in 1:03¼.

The 2:09 trot was the best race of the day. Masetto sold at $25 to $17 for the field. The field went well bunched up the backstretch with Masetto, Maxine, and Judge Green lapped and York Boy close on the outside. At the three-quarter pole Masetto broke and fell back, and Curry began a great drive with York Boy. He soon passed Maxine and Marion Wilkes and won by two lengths.

The backers of favorites, however, had chances to get even, though the prices were short. In the 2:15 pace Cheery Lass sold at $25 to $10, with Belle Star as the choice for second place. Cheery Lass won with Belle Star second, well ahead of the rest of the field.

Six met in the 2:09 pace. Ben F. led to the short distance with the favorite and Dandy C. close up. Here King Direct came up and Dandy C. broke and fell back, King Direct winning by a length with Ben F. second and Olive Wood third.

John Taylor sold at $25 to $15 in the last race of the day, the 2:11 trot, a dash of 1¼ miles. Direct View had the pole and held it to the three-quarters, with John Taylor and John Mc lapped. The two made a pretty race to the wire, Taylor winning by a length.

Prince Alert paced a mile to beat 1:59¼, but the track was slow and the best he could do was 2:02¼. The summaries:

2:11 trot, purse $600, dash 1¼ miles:
John Taylor, gr. g., by Dispute—Dolly, by Joe S. [Wilson] 1
Direct View, br. h. [DeRyder] 2
John Mc, blk. g. [Geers] 3
Time, 2:26. Queen Wilkes [Spear] also started.

2:09 trot, purse $700, dash 1 1-16 miles:
York Boy, b. g., by Wilkes Boy—Foxy McGregor [Curry] 1
Maxine, b. m. [McCoy] 2
Marion Wilkes, br. m. [McDonald] 3
Time, 2:19¼. Judge Green, Prince Greenlander, and Masetto also started.

King Direct, blk. h., by Mambrino King—Welcome Bunker [Geers] 1
Ben F., b. g. [DeRyder] 2
Olive Wood, br. g. [Phillips] 3
Time, 2:11. Bob, Birdina, Dandy C. also started.

2:15 pace, purse $600, dash 1 1-16 miles:
Cheery Lass, b. m., by Bobby McGregor—Welcome Bunker [Andrews] 1
Belle Star, br. m. [Shank] 2
Edgar Boy, b. h. [Fuller] 3
Time, 2:17. Margaret W. also started.

Inaha, blk. m. [Spear] 2
Nancy H., br. m. [Hudson] 3
Gordon Prince, br. h. [Snow] 4
Alcidine, b. m. [McDonald] 5

Results at Old Saugus.

Saugus, Mass., Aug. 19.—Only one favorite won at the old Saugus track today, Day Brook taking the 2:14 pacing race. Summaries:

2:19 pace, purse $500—Little Miss won last three heats and race. Kaplan took first heat and finished second; Ruth W., third. Best time, 2:16¼.

2:14 pace, purse $500—Day Brook won in straight heats, Mace second, Little Dick third. Best time, 2:12¼.

2:24 trot, purse $500—Belle C. won fourth, sixth, and seventh heats and race. Little Jack won the fifth heat and finished second. The Onlooker won third heat and finished third. American Boy won first and second heats. Best time, 2:18¼.

Rain Stops Miami Valley Races.

Springfield, O., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Owing to rain today the harness events were abandoned. Tomorrow the running races will close the meet of the Miami valley race circuit here.

Jockey Howell's Brother Killed.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 19.—John Howell, a racetrack messenger from Buffalo, died in St. Mary's hospital here today from internal hemorrhage, due to a fall from a running automobile. Howell was thrown from the machine as its driver made a sharp turn. He was a brother of Jockey Howell, now riding at St. Louis.

ANOTHER STAR IS LOST.

Stagg's Half and Full Back of Last Year Decides to Turn Professional and Will Not Return to Midway School in the Fall—Will Be Associated with West End Club During Coming Season—C. A. A. Athletes Driven Indoors by the Rain.

Following the announcement that the University of Chicago is to lose the services of Victor S. Rice, the star sprinter, comes word that George Ivison, half and full back on the maroon football team, will not return to the Midway this fall. Ivison will not abandon the game, however, as he is to be associated in the future with the West End club, a professional team that will play the regulation football on Sundays.

The determination of Ivison to give up his amateur standing when he has only half completed his college course is looked upon with disfavor by students at the Midway school. They regard his desertion as a great loss to the team, inasmuch as he has always been a great fighter in the back field position. It is understood that Ivison has gone into business, but his great love for the game will not prevent his playing professional football.

Owing to the rain, indoor training was the order yesterday for the athletes striving for places on the C. A. A. team. The exception to this practice was Corey, the Marathon entry, who, despite the heavy downpour, ran his usual hour at his accustomed pace. He will not take any more hard work until Monday, when he is to be given his trial at the full Marathon distance, twenty-five miles.

Other members of the team who trained used the indoor track in the Bartlett gymnasium. Light work was the rule, as most of the men will be found in the quarter mile tryout to be held today. This event will determine who is to be eliminated from the training table. The half mile trial run on Wednesday caused four men—Shipley, Barrett, Elliott, and Comstock—to give up any further training. When Trainer Butler has completed the "weeding out" process it is expected that not more than twelve athletes will be able to run for the cherry circle in the big games. Peebles, Groman, Varnell, Hearn, Verner, and Lightbody will be the contestants in today's 440 yard event.

M'GRANAHAN STICKS TO PURPLE

New Tackle Says He Has Rejected Offers of Chicago and Will Try for Northwestern.

McGranahan, Northwestern's new tackle, who has been visiting friends in Evanston for the last month and expects to enter the medical school in September, yesterday informed Coach McCornack that although he had been "approached" by representatives of Chicago university, he still clings to his original determination to join the purple squad when it is called out on Sept. 15.

Capt. Speik has visited McGranahan several times in Evanston and has even persuaded him to visit the maroon training quarters, in his endeavors to persuade him to change his mind. In spite of the flattering offers which he says he received the new tackle is still in Evanston and will play under Coach McCornack.

McGranahan is a 180 pound tackle, who has played three years with the Oshkosh Normal school, and comes with a reputation that promises well for his chances of making the purple team. It is expected there will be a lack of heavy men for the line, as Phillips will not return and there is a possibility that Allen will be shifted to guard to take his place. Kafer, who played left tackle last year, is not expected back, so the tackle positions must be filled with new men.

WISCONSIN'S FOOTBALL DATES.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The schedule for the Wisconsin university football team this fall was issued today, as follows: Oct. 8, Marquette college at Madison; Oct. 15, Notre Dame, probably at Milwaukee; Oct. 22, Drake at Madison; Oct. 29, Michigan at Madison; Nov. 5, Beloit at Madison; Nov. 12, Minnesota at Minneapolis; Thanksgiving day, Chicago at Chicago.

Assistant Coach Cochems will take several of the candidates to Lake Waubesa on Aug. 25 and will spend a couple of weeks there, previous to the early practice, beginning in Madison on Sept. 12. The following men are expected to go to Lake Waubesa: Bush, Findlay, Remp, Bertke, Robinson, Edge, Jones, Marsh, Eberts, Kuemstead, Larish, and O'Brien. Coach Curtis will not arrive until practice begins in Madison. He is to camp in the northern part of the state for a short time previous to that.

Y. M. C. A. GYMNASTS VICTORS.

Central Team of Chicago Wins Athletic Contest from St. Louis Association Team at the World's Fair.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 19.—The Chicago Central Young Men's Christian association added another victory to its long string of athletic honors today by defeating St. Louis Y. M. C. A. in the athletic gymnasium contest held in the physical culture building. The events consisted of marching, calisthenics, three exercises on the side horse, parallel and horizontal bars, running high jump, and basket ball. The work of the different men was marked on the percentage basis, the team totals deciding the contest. In the basketball game the final score was 18 to 1 in favor of Chicago.

The boats entered are: Brant, Petrel, Loafer, Dryazelle, Senorita, and Ancona. In the thirty-five foot class the Prairie and the Minota will sail a match race at 3 o'clock over a measured course.

EGAN AND SAWYER IN GOLF FINALS.

Chandler and Fay Ingalls Contest Best Match of the Tournament.

PLAY IN DRIVING RAIN.

Amateur Championship and Directors' Cup Will Be Decided Today.

H. Chandler Egan of Exmoor Country club is for the third time in succession one of the finalists in the western amateur golf championship, but unlike the two preceding tournaments, he will this time have to face an opponent not a member of his family. Ned Sawyer of Wheaton, who gave him battle in the semi-final round for the Onwentsia cup four weeks ago, will today meet him in the most important battle of the western season. These two young players came successfully through the third and semi-final rounds of the tournament at the Exmoor Country club yesterday in so fierce a deluge of rain that it may be said with some degree of truth they were in the swim.

Their success was not unlooked for, although it was thought Warren Wood would give Sawyer a harder battle in his half of the draw, while Fay Ingalls was looked upon as the only probable stumbling block in the pathway of Egan in his division. As it turned out the Harvard champion was nearly effaced from the running by S. C. Spitzer, whose penchant for close finishes was again apparent.

Play in Driving Rain.

Golfing under the aqueous conditions that faced the eight starters in the third round was anything but a joke, and, as the rain increased in force, the whole performance became more and more dreary, both for players and spectators. The two extra events, the Veteran and Directors' cups, had many forfeitures. As if to make amends for the failure of his son, S. E. Egan, father of Walter E., the former western champion, won the Veteran cup with a splendidly played 89, a grand performance for a veteran of 61, under the weather conditions.

Summary of play in the championship:

THIRD ROUND.

D. E. Sawyer, Wheaton, defeated Warren K. Wood, Homewood, by 4 up and 2 to play.
R. H. McElwee, Onwentsia, defeated George F. Clingman Jr., Homewood, by 2 up.
Fay Ingalls, Cincinnati, defeated Sherman C. Spitzer, River Forest, by 1 up in 20 holes.
H. Chandler Egan, Exmoor, defeated Ralph Hoagland, Hinsdale, by 5 up and 4 to play.

SEMI-FINAL.

D. E. Sawyer defeated R. H. McElwee, 6 up and 5 to play.
H. Chandler Egan defeated Fay Ingalls, 2 up and 1 to play.

Phelps B. Hoyt, Glen View, defeated Loren Hebberd, Windsor, 4 up and 2 to play.
Robert E. Hunter, Midlothian, defeated W. I. Howland Jr., Skokie, 5 up and 3 to play.

Egan-Ingalls Match Close.

Considering the conditions, the closeness and quality of the play, the Egan-Ingalls match was the best of the tournament to date. While Egan won, he had to go at a 76 gait, and it was only by perfect putting on the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth greens that he was able to maintain his lead. Putts of six and four feet on the first two, when his opponent was dead to the hole, enabled him to halve, while on the twelfth he ran down one of ten feet and was two up. The 13 hoodoo worked against Ingalls at the next hole, for he dubbed his brassie second from an aqueous lie and was woefully short on his iron approach. These mistakes gave Egan a lead of three, with only 5 holes to play, and practically insured him a victory. In the long game there was little to choose between the two.

Egan began poorly, a sliced drive and a dubbed mashie approach costing him the hole. At the next hole he drove out of bounds and then sliced his brassie tee shot, while the Cincinnati man got a perfect four. Egan reclaimed a hole on the third green, Ingalls taking two putts. Three holes were halved. Both were thirty-five yards from the seventh cups in their seconds, having covered 410 yards. Ingalls' uphill approach was twenty-five feet long, and Egan, holing a five foot putt, won, 4—5, and squared the match. From this point on Egan was never down, and although Ingalls played gamely the approaching and putting of his college chum were a trifle too good. Cards:

H. C. Egan—Out ....5 6 3 4 4 5 4 4 4—39
Ingalls—Out ....4 4 4 4 5 5 4 5 4—39
Egan—In ....4 3 4 4 5 4 5 4 *
Ingalls—In ....4 3 5 6 5 3 5 4 *

*Bye hole not played.

The bad weather affected the work of the veteran McElwee, and Sawyer, playing consistent golf, had an easy victory. Cards:

Sawyer—Out ....3 4 3 4 5 6 5 4 5—39
McElwee—Out ....3 5 4 5 6 6 6 5 5—45
Sawyer—In ....4 3 5 4 *

Few Compete for Directors' Cup.

Only eight of the twenty-eight players eligible to compete for the directors' cup, open to players put out in the first three rounds of the championship, appeared in the qualifying round. Alden Swift of Onwentsia led with 41—40—81, and the other three to qualify were W. R. Egan, 42—40—82; K. L. Ames, 43—41—83; and Lawrence Adams, 44—40—84. W. F. Pillsbury, 85; A. C. Brown, 85; A. C. Perry, 88; and O. W. Potter Jr., 90, failed. In the first round this morning Egan will meet Swift and Ames will play Adams.

S. E. Egan had the best score in the veteran cup contest, his handicap of 8 netting him 81. R. H. McElwee had the best gross score, 87. Summary:

S. E. Egan, Exmoor, 89—8—81; E. A. Engler, Glen View, 89—6—83; L. T. Smith, Anniston, Ala., 89—3—86; L. W. Nieman, Milwaukee, 90—3—87; W. A. Alexander, Exmoor, 90—2—88; K. R. Smoot, Exmoor, 91—3—88; George H. Yule, Kenosha, 89—scratch—89; W. I. Osborn, Glen View, 90—plus 1—91; R. H. McElwee, Onwentsia, 87—plus 4—91; L. T. Boyd, Milwaukee, 92—scratch—92; A. C. Brown, Springfield, Ill., 89—plus 3—92; N. W. Williams, Exmoor, 106—12—94; G. J. L. James, Auburn Park, 99—3—96; T. B. Brown, Exmoor, 97—6—91; Newton Annis, Detroit, 97—scratch—97; J. G. Darling, Skokie, 101—3—98; George Middleton, Glen Echo, 117—18—99; J. J. Badenoch, Auburn Park, 107—8—99; R. J. O. Hunter, Homewood, 117—18—99.

The final match for the championship will start at 10 o'clock and is at thirty-six holes. Semi-finals for the Directors' cup will be played in the afternoon. Finals for the North Shore cup will be played in the afternoon, and a hard ball contest at eighteen holes.

Notes of the Tournament.

Spitzer's showing in the tournament proves him to be a higher class player than was generally supposed.

The hard ball contest this afternoon is likely to produce some high scores, as few of the players have used any gutta spheres in many months.

Chandler Egan went out in 42 against Hoagland, the latter taking 46. The Hinsdale man can do better, but at that he cannot go quite fast enough for Egan.

Phelps Hoyt, in his match with Hebberd, set out to crack all records, getting four threes in the first five holes. He went out in 39 and home in 44, the bantam taking 44 and 43.

The playoff of the tie for second place in the Exmoor cup contest between the two Egans and Warren Wood and G. F. Clingman Jr. of Homewood was won by the latter pair at the second hole, the winners getting silver medals.

H. G. Leavitt of Omaha arrived at the clubhouse last night and will endeavor to arrange a match between a team from the Transmississippi Golf association and the Western Golf association, to be played during the Olympic championship.

Robert Hunter and W. I. Howland, who can beat most of the players who competed in the championship, met in the North Shore cup, the lengthy Midlothian player going out in 38, the best performance of the afternoon. Howland did not win a hole.

Illinois Bowlers Elect Officers.

Prospects are bright for the coming season of the Illinois Bowling league. At a meeting last night three of the six teams which composed the organization last year signified their intention of competing this season, while the other three were doubtful. The chances are, however, they will come in, and with applications from two new teams an eight club league is practically assured. A schedule committee was appointed and officers were elected, as follows: President, A. T. Packard; vice president, David A. Luby; secretary, Frank L. Pasdeloup; treasurer, Capt. A. C. Anson.

Trotting Matinee Today.

If the weather is favorable, trotting matinees will be held at the Garfield park and Austin tracks today.

FORT HUNTER WINS THE HURON

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Fort Hunter again ran to his true form today, when he won the Huron handicap, the stake feature of the card, by a length and a half from St. Valentine, which beat Spring by a length and a half. Spring made the pace for three-quarters of a mile, then Fort Hunter, which had been close up, went ahead. Pulsus ran third all the way to the stretch.

Memories and Gold Money, outsiders, beat the favorite, Mineola, in the first race. Mineola led to the stretch, but did not have the necessary speed, and was beaten by a head by Gold Money. Lady Potentate, favorite in the second, won handily by two lengths. Brooklynite, the pacemaker the last of the journey, was passed in the last furlong by Homestead.

Teacress, the favorite, won the third event by only half a length. Danseuse ran second. Another favorite, Dreamer, won the fifth without effort by two lengths from Cigarlighter, which was three lengths ahead of Derry. Summaries:

First race, ¾ mile—Memories, 124 pounds [Lyne], 15 to 1, won; Gold Money, 126 [H. Phillips], 12 to 1, second; Mineola, 122 [Shaw], 7 to 10, third. Time, 1:27 4-5. Virgin Soil and Thistle Heather also ran.

Second race, 1¼ miles—Lady Potentate, 98 pounds [Travers], 13 to 10, won; Homestead, 104 [Fuller], 15 to 1, second; Brooklynite, 105 [Burns], 11 to 5, third. Time, 1:54 2-5. Easy Street, Irascible, Flara, and The Messenger ran.

Third race, 11-16 mile—Teacress, 106 pounds [Hildebrand], 11 to 10, won; Thirty Third, 96 [Brunner], 15 to 1, second; Danseuse, 106 [O'Neill], 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:08. Mistiss, Cotillion, Peggy, Katie Caffrey, Sufferance, Calmness, Salt and Pepper, Suffice, Evaskill, Bisque, and Flinders ran.

Fourth race, the Huron, 1 3-16 miles—Fort Hunter, 122 [Hildebrand], 12 to 5, won; St. Valentine, 115 [Odom], 4 to 1, second; Spring, 111 [H. Phillips], 4 to 1, third. Time, 2:01 3-5. Adriutha, Aurumaster, and Pulsus ran.

Fifth race, 11-16 mile—Dreamer, 119 [Shaw], 16 to 5, won; Cigarlighter, 108 [Cormack], 3 to 1, second; Derry, 100 [McCafferty], 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:07. Glorifier, St. Bellane, Amberjack, Waterside, Dorothy Gray, Broadcloth, and One Way ran.

Sixth race, 1 mile—Liberia, 107 [O'Neill], 11 to 10, won; Phantom, 109 [Fuller], 12 to 1, second; Sir Shep, 100 [Hildebrand], 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:41. Princess Atheling, Persistence II., Bouvier, Out of Reach, Charter, Medley, Pong Ping, and Privateer ran.

ENTRIES.

First race, ¾ mile, selling—Elliott, 115 pounds; Sidney C. Love, Sovereign, 106; Courtmaid, Honolulu, Castilian, Unmasked, Proceeds, 105; Crown Prince, 104; New York, 103; Divination, 102; Canajoharie, 100; Atwood, 99; Armenia, 98; Dimple, 96; Dick Bernard, 94; Rose B., 91.

Second race, the North American steeplechase, full course, about 2½ miles—Adjidaumo, 163 pounds; Dudary Caller, 158; St. Jude, 142.

Race Results at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 19.—Sloppy going caused many withdrawals at the Fair Grounds today. Picture Hat and Bab were the winning favorites of a featureless card. Juba, winner of the sixth race, gave the bookmakers a severe shock. Juba, on his last out, was heavily played, but finished in the ruck. He was a good horse today and won with odds of from 50 to 30 to 1 against him, his owner and a few friends playing the colt. Summaries:

First race, ¾ mile—Kitty G., 9 to 2, won; St. Agnes II., 3 to 1, second; Oudenarde, 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:16¾.

Second race, 11-16 mile—Picture Hat, 5 to 2, won; The Missourian, 20 to 1, second; Dromio, 60 to 1, third. Time, 1:10¼.

Third race, ¾ mile—Algonquin, 16 to 1, won; Sol Smith, 13 to 1, second; Extol, 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:15¾.

Fourth race, 11-16 mile—Willowdene, 5 to 2, won; Yada, 2 to 1, second; Argosy, 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:10¼.

Fifth race, 1 mile—Bab, 7 to 5, won; Jerry Hunt, 2 to 1, second; Mamselle, 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:45.

Sixth race, 1 mile and 70 yards—Juba, 30 to 1, won; Amberita, 8 to 1, second; Flyer, 7 to 1, third. Time, 1:46½.

Winners at Highland Park.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 19.—A steady rain that fell all afternoon had much to do with upsetting calculations on the races at Highland park, and the favorite players met with reverses in nearly every race. Light Brigade, back on the circuit after his campaign on eastern tracks, started a 4 to 5 favorite in the feature event, but finished third to Dutch Barbara and Columbia Girl. Winners:

First race, ¾ mile—Mary Worth, 5 to 1; Nugget, 3 to 1; Lady Charlot, 4 to 1. Time, 1:16.

Second race, ¾ mile—Grosgraine, 16 to 5; Muozon, 5 to 1; Annie Chapman, 6 to 5. Time, 1:17.

Third race, 1 3-16 mile—Dutch Barbara, 2 to 1; Columbia Girl, 4 to 1; Light Brigade, 4 to 5. Time, 1:23.

Fourth race, 1 1-16 miles—Forizel, 7 to 5; Edward Hale, 7 to 2; Bank Street, 6 to 1. Time, 1:50½.

Fifth race, ¾ mile—Bazil, 8 to 5; Arah May, 10 to 1; Cincinnati Enquirer, 6 to 1. Time, 1:18¼.

Sixth race, 1 mile—Rachel Ward, 5 to 1; Malakoff, 5 to 2; Cheboygan, 8 to 1. Time, 1:50½.

Water Carnival Today.

A carnival of water sports has been arranged by the Columbia Yacht club for this afternoon. The events on the program include under water and 100 yard swimming races, tub and dingey races, and exhibitions of fancy swimming. There will also be a one-half mile rowing race between Charles Mann of the Iroquois club and W. Griggs of the Chicago club.

RACE IN THE MUD AT HAWTHORNE.

Rain Completely Riddles Card, and Sport Is Spoiled by Scratches.

FEATURE TO STROLLER.

Skillful, the Favorite, Finds the Track Too Heavy, and 10 to 1 Shot Lands.

The heavy rain yesterday made the Hawthorne track a sea of mud and slush, and naturally upset all calculations. The card as arranged indicated a good day's sport, but the change in the track conditions completely riddled it, the feature race at seven furlongs suffering the most.

Of the twelve original starters in that race only six went to the post, and of these Skillful, with Helgesen up, was backed into favoritism over Ahola. The going, however, was not to Skillful's liking, as he could not extend himself, finishing outside the money. The winner bobbed up in Stroller, and unexpected at that, as his owner, W. T. Brinkworth, although he admitted the horse was fit, did not give him a chance, and then saw him romp home by himself at odds as good as 10 to 1.

Ida Davis, strongly considered and played to finish in the money, went to the front at barrier rise, but was quickly passed by Stroller, which simply reveled in the going and won eased up. Ida died away after chasing Stroller to the far turn, but maintained second place to the straight, when she quit. Ahola then took up the chasing but could not get near enough to the winner to make the race interesting.

Five started in the steeplechase, but Weird, the favorite, was so much the best he was pulled almost to a walk. King Galong was second, about an eighth of a mile behind Nitrate. Alma Girl ran out and Coronatus fell. The latter was caught in the brush and rolled over on his back, compelling Grantland to pull up Nitrate, the latter being a likely contender at the time. When Coronatus regained his feet, with the assistance of Jockey Sullivan, Nitrate was sent over the jumps and covered the remainder of the course for third money.

The Wagner brothers attempted a huge killing on Phil in the first race, backing him from 40 to 1 down to 10 to 1, but third was the best Phil could do. Bernice was the favorite, but her impost of 117 pounds proved too much, Ayr beating her handily. The fifth race, won by Freckman, furnished the best race. The winner went to the front early and led by several lengths to the last sixteenth, where Voila and Sweetie closed in on him, the trio crossing the line lapped.

Voila, which finished second to Freckman, was claimed by "Red" Walker and J. J. McCafferty and they tossed a coin for the filly, Walker winning.

Jockey Bartly, who rode Alma Girl, claimed his reins became untied, which caused the mare to run out.

Freckman was bid up to $1,400, which was [illegible] above his entered price, and secured by J. [illegible] Chalmers, who, on the previous day, bid up Alma Dufour.

Steeplechase Jockey C. Johnson received a [illegible] days' suspension for making a frivolous claim and for being in no condition to ride. The boy had the mount on King Galong, which finished second.

Household Hints.

BY ADA M. KRECKER.

To the Society Girl—

Belong taste, grace, kindliness, the art of putting people at their ease, the ready jest, the speedy repartee, savoir faire.

A certain dainty finish distinguishes her. She is not readily thrown from her poise. Her background is secure.

It behooves the girl who would be a social success to know a little of a great many things, even though, which is by no means to be taken for granted, she may know no single thing thoroughly. She meets travelers, scientific men, poets, sages, explorers, statesmen; she comes in contact with clever and brilliant women; she must talk sensibly on numerous topics, and if she cannot talk she must know how to listen with intelligence.

Her own language does not suffice. She should and usually does understand several tongues besides her own and can speak with the French gentleman who is the hour's lion or with the German lady who is studying customs American.

Of art she must know certain shibboleths, must be familiar with the favorite and rising artists, know the great pictures, and understand when to be enthusiastic and when to be indifferent.

Music, too, must have for her more than a distant acquaintance. She has heard good music, has been in its atmosphere, has found it daily bread. And at the cost of infinite pains and by the exercise of great strength of will the well bred, well trained society girl contrives to keep on with her studies in the various departments of art.

Literature for the society girl is a less exacting mistress than art, yet she cannot dispense with some acquaintance among books, and she often dips into romance on the one hand and realism on the other, so that the contemporary authors of this country, of England, perhaps also of Germany, France, Russia, are familiar names on her lips.

The Self—

Must keep even pace in development and growth with the increase of opportunity and circumstances or it will stand eventually diminished, dwarfed, and stunted. It may indeed become a parasite. The mistletoe clings to the oak and enjoys the sunlight and the sway. It swings itself from tree to tree with coming of seed time, and its leaves are ever so shining and green for the holiday fêtes.

It is all simple and easy, this trend and slip along to the road of parasitism. It requires but small effort to shine in reflected light; to follow plans that have been evolved by another's judgment; to give forth ideas from another's reading; to follow prayers that are the inspiration of one more devout; to dispense what another has earned.

The exhilaration of work, of successful effort and thought cannot be transferred. It comes only with hope and struggle and attainment.

As the old Florentines said of themselves, we may "lack initiative," may seek sympathy, counsel, aid of judgment, and yet stand on a personal basis.

One may insist upon the working of each thought, each bit that comes into the life, over and over through the mint of personality, until it will have the clear, clean stamp of a new issue.

Even the flowers of life are bereft of their sweetest association if accepted forever from the hand of florist or friend.

Recipe Rarities—

CUCUMBER AND ONION SOUP.—Four sliced cucumbers and two sliced onions are simmered together in one pint of water until extremely soft, then pressed through a sieve. To this is added one pint of scalded milk, a thickening of one tablespoon butter and two tablespoons flour and a seasoning of salt and pepper. Simmer for ten minutes and serve with or without croutons.

CORN PUDDING.—Scrape sufficient corn to measure one quart, add one cup or more of milk, according to the age and juiciness of the pulp, and then season to taste with salt and pepper. Next add three well beaten eggs, three tablespoons sifted flour, three tablespoons butter melted, and one teaspoon sugar. Bake in a slow oven one and one-half hours.

PEACH SAUCE FOR COTTAGE PUDDING.—Make a hard sauce and whip into it, a little at a time, as much peach pulp as it will take up without separating. In serving an extra quantity of the pulped fruit may be served with the sauce.

PEACH DUMPLINGS.—Stir up a rich biscuit crust, using two tablespoons butter to one pint flour. Roll out one-third inch thick, and fill each square of dough with a whole peach or three halves, as you may prefer. Place close in a deep dripping pan to bake. When the pan is filled pour over about one-half cup cold water and cover closely, uncovering when half done. This prevents their baking too dry.

CORN SOUP.—Simmer scraped corn in twice its measure of scalded milk, cooking twenty minutes in a double boiler. Thicken like a thin sauce with butter and flour, seasoning and straining into the hot tureen. Cooked corn can also be used, but it should be well pounded, then simmered twice as long.

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

It has been decided to make a social affair of the vaudeville entertainment to be given next Thursday afternoon at the Moraine hotel, Highland Park, which is to benefit Gad's Hill settlement. Six hundred tickets already have been sold, and most of the holders represent the summer colonies along the north shore. In consequence, the women in charge of the affair have arranged to hold an informal tea on the verandas of the hotel after the performance.

Mrs. Charles J. Barnes is to preside at the tea table, assisted by Mrs. James Dun, Mrs. Charles W. Comes, Mrs. Samuel Insull, and Mrs. Carl Heinzen, while Mrs. A. V. Scully will be in charge of the punch bowl. The verandas are to be hung with trailing vines, and many large plants and palms will be used to decorate, together with great quantities of wild flowers.

Mr. Carl Heinzen, the violinist, has been added to the already attractive program, which includes numbers by Raymond Hitchcock, Will T. Hodge, Helen Lowell, and Isabel Taliaferro, and there is a possibility that "Little Tommy" of the Mrs. Wiggs company will take part. Tickets for the entertainment may be had by applying to Mrs. John Terrill Clark and Mr. F. W. Cushing at the Moraine.

The ushers for the Holabird-Towne wedding, which is to take place in Evanston at St. Mark's Episcopal church Tuesday afternoon, will be Mr. Norman Towne, brother of the groom, Mr. Gordon Armsby, Mr. Raymond Armsby, Mr. Arthur Morris, Mr. Philip Connell, Mr. James Catlin, Mr. Frank Rinehart of Pittsburg, and Mr. Frank Frazier. Mr. Robert Pettit will serve Mr. Towne as best man.

The marriage of Miss Leila Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Williams of Antioch, Ill., to Mr. Charles K. Anderson of Chicago will take place this evening at 7 o'clock in the Methodist Episcopal church of Antioch. The Rev. S. H. Newman will officiate. The bride will be attended by Miss Ollie May Marteene and Miss Marie Johnson of Chicago and Miss Susie Morley of Antioch. Dr. A. G. Johnson will act as best man and the ushers will be Mr. William E. Mason and Mr. Fred Hastings. Lorena Dale will be the flower girl, and twelve young girl friends of the bride will stretch the ribbons. A number of Chicagoans will be present at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will leave for a three weeks' trip east, and will reside in Chicago on their return.

Mrs. Samuel J. Senn, 499 North State street, is entertaining her mother and sister, Mrs. Laroussini and Miss Olga Laroussini of New Orleans. They arrived several days ago and will remain in the city for several months. Miss Laroussini practically made a début in Chicago society last winter, when she was among the assistants at most of the north side débutante affairs. A number of entertainments were given in her honor and she proved one of the most pleasing young women in society. Mrs. Laroussini is a gifted musician. Recently she published in New Orleans a song which has proved her ability and she is now working on a composition which may be published here.

Mrs. John M. Cutter, formerly of Highland Park, now of Trenton, N. J., is visiting her old home and friends in the suburb. She is seen on the Exmoor links frequently. Mr. Cutting was formerly president of the Exmoor club.

Mr. and Mrs. Philo A. Otis, 1722 Michigan avenue, who have been in Europe for some time, also are now in Paris at the Hotel Regina.

Paul E. Clark, first classman at West Point military academy, is spending his leave of absence with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Clark, 2552 Prairie avenue.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Lena Frost, sister of Mrs. William F. Whitman of Riverside, to Mr. Nathan W. McChesney of Chicago. The announcement was made at a tea given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Whitman.

Mr. and Mrs. David G. Hamilton and Miss Adelaide Hamilton are now in Switzerland. They will next go to Italy and will sail for home on Sept. 7.

Mrs. Henry Hooper and Miss Ethel Hooper, 51 North State street, will return from the White Mountain club on Sept. 4. In October they will go to the St. Louis exposition.

Your Corner.

If you are asking whether life—your life—is worth living, ask your family whether your sisterhood, your wifehood, your fatherhood, your brotherhood is worth having; ask your friends whether your friendship is worth having; ask your business associates whether your work is worth paying for; ask all who see and meet you whether yourself, as they see and meet you, is worth seeing and meeting.

RAVEN: Your room seems to require something much handsomer than ordinary wall paper, and if it is going to be allowed a little money, I would suggest a Japanese leather paper in green and gold or brown and gold. These papers are expensive if you judge by their price per piece, but as they are three times the width of wall paper, they are not so costly after all. I cannot give addresses of business firms.

A. D., July, 1890: You are well adapted to succeed in public life, but you should always live in a large city, where you can deal with the many. You are well fitted for government service, as an agent for a large corporation, or anything in which you could make use of your ability to please the public and make a good bargain. You are under trying planetary influences at present and should be careful of your health during the next two or three years. You should avoid a residence in a low or damp situation, because of rheumatic tendencies.

INGENUE: You ask when it is desirable for a woman to rise if an introduction is made to her when she happens to be seated. The broad general rule is that a lady should always rise on these occasions for the simple reason that the person to be introduced would almost certainly be standing up at the time. Therefore, the act of rising is a gracious means of putting both people on an equality. Civility is cheap and does much to oil the wheels of social life. Of course, there are exceptions to the rule. If an aged lady is seated and some one brings up a man or a young girl to be introduced, the old lady can content herself with a bow and pleasant words and need not rise from her chair. The same remark applies if the woman seated is a great lady and a girl or man is presented. She would partially rise from her chair, but would not get up and continue standing. (2) Certainly a lady would rise to greet her women acquaintances, but she can shake hands with a man while sitting down. A hostess always stands to receive her guests unless so old and infirm that it is impossible.

MOTHS: The rustling silk petticoat except for elaborate evening wear has quite gone out, while all the newest underskirts are of washing materials. A great deal of lace and embroidery is used on the petticoats and hand work mending, like drawn thread work, tucks, etc. If you catch your heel in the lace edging of your petticoat you are not a good walker, and besides practicing in taking a clean cut step will do well to bind the lace edge with a wee band of muslin, which will give remarkable prettiness. Cured of Asthma

After 35 years of Suffering.

It will be gratifying to Asthmatic readers to learn that an absolute cure has at last been discovered by Dr. Schiffmann. That the remedy is an effectual one can not be doubted after perusal of such testimony as that of C. W. Van Antwerp, Fulton, N. Y., who says: "Your remedy (Schiffmann's Asthma Cure) is the best I ever used. I bought a package of our druggist and tried it and one box entirely cured me of Asthma, and I have not had it since. I can now go to bed and sleep all night with perfect comfort, which I have not done before for 35 years and I thank you for the health that I now enjoy. I hope that you will publish this letter, that others may learn of its wonderful virtues." Sold by all druggists at 50c and $1.00. Send 2c stamp to Dr. R. Schiffmann, Box 891, St. Paul, Minn., for a free sample package.

How Culver Cadets Scale a Wall

Boys at Culver Military Academy live a life that makes them sturdy, strong, vigorous, and manly. No school offers equal advantages for physical and military training, and none excels in the scholastic work that prepares them for college or business life. Culver boys receive the sort of training that makes successful men. The growth of

Culver Military Academy

has been remarkable. Each year many applicants have been turned away for lack of room. This season a new barracks to accommodate one hundred more boys has been built. Part of it will be filled from the waiting list, and early application will be advisable.

If you have a boy to send to school, write for our catalogue before making a decision. Address

THE UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME,

NOTRE DAME, INDIANA,

WILL OPEN THE 121st SESSION

Monday, September 12, 1904.

The University offers its students every facility and opportunity for a complete

The Law and Pre-Medical (Biological) Courses under an increased corps of professors afford students special advantages in training for professional life.

Technical Courses

The graduates in the Civil, Mechanical, and Electrical Engineering Courses are in constant demand, for the courses are thorough in every respect. There is a two-year, or short course, in Electrical Engineering.

Architecture

This course has been introduced as a natural outgrowth of the splendid Civil Engineering Course and is designed to work in harmony with it. The course combines a mathematical education together with a full and complete course of architecture. The work of the course is under the direct supervision of a practicing architect from Chicago.

Pharmacy

Preparatory School

The studies in the Preparatory Department are equivalent to a High School course. Unexcelled opportunities for students in grammar school grades.

Commercial Course

St. Edward's Hall

for boys under 13 is unique in the completeness of its equipment. It affords to pupils the rare advantages of the Preparatory School and the tender care of the Sisters during study hours.

The Gymnasium

with a track 100x180 feet—a Physical Culture room 40x100 feet moderaly equipped, a 10-acre athletic field, spacious recreation grounds, two lakes for aquatic sports, a large indoor swimming pool 30x75, leave nothing to be desired for the building up of the physical man.

Free Rooms for Students

over 17 who are admissable to the Sophomore year of any collegiate course. Rooms to rent to students over 17 who can not qualify as Sophomores.

Catalogues Free

CLAIRVOYANTS.

AN HONEST PROPOSITION — PROF. JAMES White, Chicago's celebrated clairvoyant, palmist, and spirit medium, is permanently located here. His honesty, test of time, and eleven years of continuous practice in Chicago have proved beyond all doubt that Prof. James White is the leader of his profession. As proof of his WONDERFUL POWER to all who come prepared for readings this week he will tell your FULL NAME, ADDRESS, OCCUPATION, AND THE OBJECT OF YOUR VISIT ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE. His advice pertaining to love, law, business, wills, estates, lawsuits, buying or selling property, speculation, investments, marriage, divorce, etc., is unequaled. He reunites the separated, causes speedy and happy marriage with one you love, restores lost affection, removes evil influence—in fact, everything. Prof. White's advice is much sought for on past or future investments, for which he has no equal. He charges not one penny for such advice until the investment has paid a handsome profit. Is this not fair and honest? Great reduction this week. Prof. White, as a matter of advertisement, this week will give his complete life reading for 50 cents; satisfaction absolutely guaranteed or no fee accepted. Everything strictly sacred and confidential. His residence is arranged so you meet no strangers. Don't mistake name and number. PROF. JAMES WHITE, TWO HUNDRED AND NINETY-THREE WARREN-AV., between Robey and Hoyne-avs., West Side. Consultation hours, 10 to 6. Sundays included. Letters with stamp answered.

$5.00 READING FOR $1.00—PROF. LEON, 1224—MICHIGAN-AV.—1224. Clairvoyant, palmist. Advice on all affairs. Love, courtship, family affairs. Guides to success.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

MIDSUMMER —PIANO— CLEARING SALE.

A remarkable opportunity to secure either a new or slightly used upright.

An exceedingly dull season leaves us with a great surplus of pianos of all grades. Price reductions in many lines will rule during the coming week. Whether you desire a low priced piano or a high grade instrument we are prepared to offer you very special value. A visit of inspection cordially invited.

Also a big bargain room [second floor] full of

USED UPRIGHTS.

So many that it is difficult to tell where to begin to enumerate them. A glance shows the following: Four large Knabe uprights; Billings upright, $125; Wheelock upright, $200; Stuyvesant upright, $125; Huntington upright, $165; seven fine Steinway uprights, various prices; Krakauer upright, $280; Russell upright, $150; beautiful Weber upright, $300; Sterling upright, $235; Krakauer upright, $260; Hazelton upright, $225; Fischer upright, $225; three Steinway Baby Grands and two Knabe Baby Grands at remarkably low figures; and many others.

Bear in mind that these figures include overhauling in our own repair shops by workmen of the very highest skill. THIS IS IMPORTANT. The hours spent by a first class workman on a piano of this class may mean all the difference between satisfaction and dissatisfaction. Besides, this does away with the danger of hidden defects. Furthermore, many of the above pianos would readily pass for new.

GOOD PARLOR ORGANS VERY LOW. Choice of 20 different styles from $35 up. Second hand organs from $10 up.

Our regular stock embraces over 600 pianos, including Steinway, Weber, Krakauer, Wheelock, Sterling, Huntington, Stuyvesant, and other great makes. All these different pianos are distinguished by some special feature. The workmanship in each is of a superior character, and every one is of a design approved by the highest standards of public taste.

Exchange certificates, permitting exchange toward any new piano of higher grade, given free with all inexpensive instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS—Pianos may be secured from us on very easy terms. No advance in price when paid for by installments.

Buyers at a distance should write for special bargain list, and also our schedule of freight rates. We ship pianos everywhere.

LYON & HEALY, Wabash-av. and Adams-st.

The business of Lyon & Healy largely exceeds in volume and value that of any other musical establishment in either Europe or America. We close Saturdays at 1 p. m.

AT THE VOSE STORE—

DROPS CRUSADE ON GAMBLING.

Lange Decides Not to Raid the Harlem Track Today, Saying "It's Nothing to Him."

Chris Lange of Harlem has dropped his crusade against race track gambling. He announced yesterday that he would not lead a posse this afternoon against the Harlem track, and said:

"I don't care whether the track is raided or not. It's nothing to me."

IN THE REAL ESTATE WORLD.

A big State street lease was closed yesterday, Helen E. Snow renting to B. Baumgarden the four story building at 250-258, for ten years from May 1, 1905, at a total rental of $340,000. The lease was negotiated by E. F. Keebler & Co.

The property is on the west side of State street, between Jackson and Van Buren streets, with a frontage of ninety feet and a depth of 100 feet. The ground floor is occupied by M. Born, tailor; Thompson's restaurant, E. Rosenthal, clothing; and L. Rosenweig, wholesale liquor dealer. All the upper floors are occupied by the Imperial hotel. Mr. Baumgarden, who now occupies the building at 246-248 State street, will remodel the building just acquired and occupy it all with a retail clothing store. The premises at 246-248 have been leased to Maurice L. Rothschild, son-in-law of Nelson Morris, from May 1, 1905.

Plan a West Side Arcade.

Benjamin J. Schiff and former County Commissioner David Kallis plan to erect a $40,000 arcade building in West Twelfth street between Union and Halsted streets. The proposed building will have twenty or more stores, and will cover the premises at 257 to 271 West Twelfth street, 150x134 feet. The site has just been purchased by Mr. Schiff and Mr. Kallis from Anson B. Jenks for $50,000. The purchasers gave a trust deed to Mr. Jenks to secure $30,000 for five years at 5 per cent. The property is covered with old frame improvements.

The flat property at the southwest corner of Emerald avenue and Forty-fifth street, with 50x115½ feet of ground, has been purchased by John C. Backus from Herman R. Myers for $25,000, subject to an incumbrance of $10,000.

Other Transactions in Realty.

The Jennings Real Estate Loan company has loaned to W. H. Duncanson $35,000 for five years at 6 per cent on the apartment building in course of construction at the southwest corner of Winthrop and Winona avenues.

The estate of John B. Sherman has sold to Albert Boydell 94½x179 feet, vacant, at the northwest corner of Prairie avenue and Forty-sixth street, for $13,875.

A tract of ten acres at the southeast corner of Kedzie avenue and Thirty-first street was bid in at judicial sale yesterday by Theodore Sengstath for $13,926.

SALOON MAN IS FINED $50.

Andrew Swenson Pays Penalty for Selling Liquor to Salesman After Being Warned.

Andrew Swenson, a saloonkeeper at 276 Wells street, yesterday was fined $50 by Justice Eberhardt on complaint of A. W. Gillett of the Citizens' association. It was charged that the saloonkeeper sold liquor to Thomas Walker, a silk salesman, 285 La Salle street, after being warned not to do so.

NEWS OF THE RAILWAYS.

FRUIT MEN TO BRING SUIT OVER ICING OF CARS.

Raising Fund for Expenses of Test Case in Which They Will Attempt to Prevent Roads from Continuing the Alleged Excessive Charges—Freight Service to the Japanese Ports Resumed by Union and Southern Pacific—More Scalpers Are Enjoined.

E. G. Davies, general consignee of the Fruit Growers' association of Chicago, and John C. Scales, a South Water street commission merchant, are raising a fund to defray a suit to prevent railroads from continuing alleged excessive charges for icing refrigerator cars. It is to be a test case against one or two lines. Shippers declare the Armour company has exclusive contracts with the roads, which amount to conspiracy to injure competitors.

The interstate commerce commission recently rendered a decision declaring excessive the charges for icing refrigerator cars made by the Armour company from points on the Pere Marquette and Michigan Central railroad, and pronouncing them in violation of the interstate commerce law. Further action was withheld to allow the readjustment of rates by the railroad and so far the companies. The shippers hold that there has nothing has been done.

Again Take Freight for Japan.

Notice was issued yesterday by the Southern and Union Pacific railroads that freight has been resumed from San Francisco and Portland to Japanese ports. The suspension by the Vladivostok fleet caused the withdrawal of the Harriman line's transpacific steamers, one of the ships, the Arabia, being captured by the Russians and part of its cargo confiscated.

The Vladivostok fleet having been put out of service by the Japanese, it now is considered safe again to run the ships to Japanese ports.

More Scalpers Are Enjoined.

Judge Brown yesterday granted temporary injunctions against fourteen brokers in Chicago. Nine are restrained from buying, selling, or dealing in return coupons issued by six of the railroads centering in Chicago, and five are restrained from dealing in tickets specifically to the St. Louis exposition.

The complainants were the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, the Illinois Central, the Big Four, the Chicago and Alton, the Lake Shore, and the Rock Island.

Train on Exhibition Today.

The new Wabash exposition train, to be known as the "banner blue limited," will be placed on exhibition this morning at Dearborn station. It will leave Chicago on its first trip tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. This train is said to be one of the most costly ever constructed.

TAX ON TUNNELS REDUCED.

Board of Review Cuts Assessment from $3,000,000 to $485,000—Final Session on Tuesday.

An assessment of $3,000,000 on the property of the Illinois Tunnel company was cut to $485,000 by the board of review yesterday, a reduction of $2,515,000. The members of the board made their decision on the recommendation of City Electrician Ellicott. President A. G. Wheeler appeared in behalf of the tunnel company.

"This property is not a source of income to the stockholders at the present time," said Mr. Wheeler. "The whole concern is an undeveloped state."

The statement of Mr. Ellicott was in favor of the declarations of the company.

Other reductions made by the board yesterday were:

	Assessm.	Reduc.
Valentine & Co.	$175,217	[illegible]
National Glass company	18,000	[illegible]
Baker-Vawter company	55,000	[illegible]
Sutter Bros.	60,000	[illegible]
Morrisson, Plummer & Co.	240,000	[illegible]
Chicago Union hospital	6,000	[illegible]
Estate George Branckmann	75,000	[illegible]

There will be no meeting of the reviewers today. On Monday the board will finish assessments that are pending. The final session for the year will be held on Tuesday. Whatever horizontal increases or reductions are made by the board will be announced Tuesday.

WHEAT MAKES A NEW HIGH MARK.

Enormous Trade Keeps Up, and Rust Damage Is Spreading.

MAY UP OVER FOUR CENTS.

Crop News Even More Dismal; Coarse Grains Are Heavy.

There was another runaway bull market in wheat yesterday, another day of enormous trade rivaling, if not equaling, the record activity of Wednesday, with price fluctuations the most violent of the present advance and new high prices established for all deliveries. Prices at their best were 3⅝c to 5½@5⅝c higher than the previous close, and at the end from 3c to 4½c of the advance was held, the best gains in the December and May, establishing the almost unprecedented net advances of 9@13¼c in five days, and of 15@17¾c from the low point when the futures began to be actively traded in.

The market was at all times excited and nervous and advances or declines of 2c in a few minutes were common. The market had seemingly gained power from the backset of the day before, as a moderate short interest had been created and most of the bulls were out of wheat. Large individual trades were frequent and orders of 250,000 to 500,000 bu were executed at short intervals throughout the session. Prices jumped ¼c or more between trades at times.

The news items which aroused the trade to this unusual pitch of excitement were radically different from those which had been coming in for a week. But the views taken by crop experts traveling in the northwest were of more dismal nature, and some of them so radical as to lose part of their force with conservatives. But prices were booming, and exaggeration or no exaggeration, traders knew their effect would be temporarily the same, and therefore bought.

Snow Report Bullish.

Snow was out with a message which said that in a drive of sixty miles from Fergus to Alexandria the wheat failure was absolutely complete, with not a pint of grain to the shock, and not a hundred bu of plump wheat to a thousand acres. Spencer wired that the northwest trade was in a state of panic, and prices in the northwest markets seemed to confirm this statement. Minneapolis September was up 6⅝c, closing at top, and cash wheat in that market sold at $1.23¼, against $1.17½ at the close on Thursday. Kansas City was up 3⅝c and St. Louis 4⅝c after reaction of ½c and 1c, respectively, from the top.

English markets showed considerable concern over conditions in this country, advancing 1¾d to 2d, and London 1d to 1½d. Continental markets, however, failed to respond. Berlin only ½c higher, Buda-Pesth ¼c lower, Antwerp steady, and Paris ¼c to ⅜c lower, and foreigners were apparently making no moves toward buying any of our wheat. While cash prices here and at other western markets were strong they advanced hardly as fast as the futures. Prices in the local market were 2c to 3c higher, with No. 2 red bringing $1.12, and low grades were in better demand from elevator people. Kansas City cash was up 1c to 4c, No. 2 hard selling at $1.05, against $1.01 on Thursday.

All Classes Want Wheat.

There was a range of 1@1¼c in prices at the opening, and from 1⅝c to 2⅝c of the day's advance was shown in initial transactions. Local longs had sold out pretty closely on the decline on Thursday, and, with rains in the northwest aiding the possibility of a wet harvest to damage by rust, and marked strength in markets in that direction, the bulk of the trade decided at once to reinstate their lines. The result was a quick rush of local buying, added to by heavy commission house orders. Houses with northwest connections were actively identified with the buying side, Wrenn, perhaps, the leader.

Bartlett-Frazier, Bryant, Logan-Bryan, and Ware-Leland also bought heavily. Cleveland, Pringle, and Milmine were the heaviest sellers early, but the Pringle house turned buyer before the close. Receipts at the southwestern points continued to run heavy, with 440,000 bu at the two points, against 168,000 bu last year. Northwestern receipts were 117 cars, against 160 cars last year, and the total at primary points was 700,000 bu, against 471,000 bu a year ago. Local receipts were only 72 cars, where 210 had been estimated, but it was said the railroads had reported wheat not subject to inspection. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour were 367,000 bu. Minneapolis stocks decreased 427,000 bu for the week.

Country Offerings of Corn Large.

Rains in the southwest and a marked increase in the country acceptances made corn traders unusually independent of the wheat trend, and prices at no time were higher than the previous close. At the end there were losses of ⅜@1c. The heaviest pressure throughout the session came from cash houses, who were hedging against the larger receipts. Prices in the sample market were ½@1c lower, but on the decline there was a fair demand for shipment, sales 75,000 bu, and 40,000 bu were sold for direct export. Local receipts were 183 cars and 165 are estimated for today. Primary points received 271,000 bu, against 338,000 bu last year. Liverpool was steady to ¼d lower. Seaboard cleared 127,000 bu.

The weather map showed general and heavy rains over the southwest, with more than an inch at several points and two inches at Kansas City, conditions which are expected to materially lessen the number of complaints of firing. There was a good deal of corn on the market from Rosenbaum, Armour, Merritt, and Harris-Scotten, the last two selling September, and the others May. Wagner, Bartlett-Frazier, and Pringle, the latter of September, were sellers. On the decline there was buying by the provision crowd by Cudahy brokers, by Creighton, and by Bartlett-Frazier, and other commission houses which sold earlier.

Oats Move Little.

There was only a moderate trade in oats with top prices only ¼c to ½c up and with the close showing no material change from Thursday. The fore part of the session the market was easy under the influence of corn weakness, but Bartlett-Frazier, Updyke, and scattered commission houses absorbed the offerings which came mainly from cash interests, and the rally followed. The sample market was steady to ¼c higher, but shipping demand was at a standstill. Receipts were 359 cars, with 127 of them grading standard, and 354 are expected today. Withdrawals from store were 12,000 bu standard and seaboard clearances 24,000 bu.

Provisions Feel Corn Dip.

Provisions made moderate gains early, but later lost more ground than was gained, and closed with losses of 5c to 17½c in pork, 5c to 7½c in lard, and 2½c to 5c in ribs. The early advance was on outside buying, but on the corn decline there was selling by grain men of January product, and the Milwaukee Cudahys were credited with selling January pork and ribs. Pit scalpers were active to help the decline along. Local hog receipts were 13,000 head, and 10,000 are estimated today. Prices at the yards were 10c to 15c higher. Western points received 45,500 hogs, against 35,500 last year. Liverpool lard was 3d higher and bacon 6d higher.

Rye Up Two Cents.

Rye, impelled by the advance in wheat, made a jump of 2c, September selling to 75c and December to 76c. Cash No. 2 sold to go to store at 75c and f. o. b. at 74@75c.

Barley was firm, a choice lot of Wisconsin grown barley sold August and September shipment on b. t. New malting was quotable at 45c for common to 51@53c for bright barley. Old screenings quotably 35@41c.

Timothy seed was dull. September, $3.02½ @3.05; contract grade nominally $2.90; and country lots quotable at $2.50@2.80.

Clover was inactive. October held at $12.00; country lots quotable at $8.00@11.00 per 100 lbs.

Flaxseed was without trading; No. 1 northwestern held at $1.24; No. 1, $1.16½ bid; September nominally $1.16½; local receipts 2 cars. Minneapolis had 1 car and Duluth 2 cars.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Of spring wheat conditions the Northwestern Miller says:

"Harvesting is now in progress as far north as Devil's Lake, N. D. In southern Minnesota wheat has been cut and is now in the shock or the stack. Speaking generally of the three states, Minnesota and the Dakotas, wheat that is not already cut is now in the dough and is thus to some extent out of harm's way from rust. The experience of farmers has been that where wheat had reached the dough stage before being attacked by rust, while the berry might be shriveled, it was not destroyed. In a few places in North Dakota wheat is three weeks late and will not be ready to cut till the middle of September. There seems to be an unusual difference in the advancement of wheat in the same districts this year, and in certain districts the early wheat is expected to yield 20 to 25 bu per acre, but the late wheat only 12 to 15 bu. From present indications there is nothing to suggest a change from the prediction made a week ago—namely: a larger spring wheat crop than last year, with a continuation of present favorable conditions."

Perhaps the most radical claim of damage by rust yet received was wired by Snow to Knight-Donnelley. It had much to do with causing the spurt to the new high prices. The message read: "Drove from Fergus to Alexandria, Minn., sixty miles. Wheat failure is absolutely complete. The straw is heavy, but not a pint of grain in the shock. Practically none will be thrashed. There are not 100 bu of plump wheat on 1,000 acres. Ottertail and Douglas counties crossed in the drive have 300,000 acres in wheat." A later wire from the same auhtority said: "Around Asaki, Minn., wheat is a little better. May go six bu per acre of shrunken wheat—none contract. Straw and heads look good for 30 bu. Manitoba reports are more serious." A North Dakota letter to a Minneopolis house was of the same tenor. It said: "I have recently been over the state and am in a position to say to you that the damage to wheat by rust and drought is fully 65 per cent. The yield all over will be extremely light and the quality poor. It is little short of a calamity, and our farmers of course do not yet realize it."

C. H. Spencer wired from Winnipeg: "The grain trade of the northwest appears to be in a state of panic over the developments of damage to the growing crop in the last few days. Do not think any one can tell how serious it is at this time, but it is evident to me from what I have seen this morning, in a distance of 150 miles traveled by daylight, something is wrong with the late wheat, which probably represents 75 per cent of the crop. There is no doubt there is enough known damage to make the crop a short one, and of doubtful quality, and if Europe takes fright, prices are likely to have a sensational advance, perhaps to $1.50. I think corn will sell at 60c, and can't see how we can have low prices on any kind of foodstuffs with the high prices we are sure to have for wheat." W. H. Lake, who is traveling with Spencer and others over the Burlington, wired from Winnipeg: "This crowd sold wheat all the way up on the early prospects. They are now covering on the many reports of rust. They say damage to Manitoba wheat will be at least 25 per cent."

Manitoba damage claims were on the increase and their tone was rapidly becoming as dismal as those from the American northwest. One message quoted R. P. Robin, premier of Manitoba, as saying:

"Every hour brings new reports of rust and there is going to be a lot of damage up here, and weather is unfavorable." Crowe of the Northern Elevator company of Winnipeg, who four days ago could not find any damage, was said to be sending serious damage reports on the crop. A grain dealer at Winnipeg writes a local firm: "Large interests here are suppressing and contradicting rust damage reports, but the fact remains, and reports reaching us hourly indicate a large area badly rusted."

A more cheerful view of the northwest situation is taken by Brenner of the Anchor Grain company, with a line of elevators out of Minneapolis, who said yesterday: "I have just made careful inquiry of my agents concerning the much heard of claims of 25 per cent damage, and they confirm them. But when I asked what they thought the average yield is they said 18 bu. The trouble with these claims is that they expected a perfect crop from early indications, and it will take a good deal of deterioration to cut the crop down below last year. I think we will have as much as last year, and one of the big roads is preparing to handle more than a year ago."

The best grades of cash wheat were up nearly if not quite as much as the September. Low grades were draggy, but there was a fair demand from elevators, and prices in some instances were 2c to 3c higher. No. 2 red sold from $1.10 to $1.12; No. 3 red from $1.05 to $1.10; No. 4 red from 98c to $1.05; No. 2 hard from $1.02 to $1.08, and No. 3 hard from 98c to $1.04. Kansas City was up 1c to 4c. A sale of 5,000 bu No. 2 red was reported shortly after the opening at 2½c over prices the day before. No. 2 hard sold $1.05, compared with $1.00 to $1.01 Thursday, and No. 3 hard at $1.03 to a Missouri miller. A late wire from that market said No. 2 hard sold at a country station in Kansas at $1.00.

A correspondent of Pringle-Fitch-Rankin at Carpenter, Ia., writes: "I have been out and looked through the corn fields of this territory and find that there will be scarcely any corn at all unless the frost holds off for six weeks longer. In some fields I could find good roasting ears, while in others the kernels were only in the blister. In fact, I was through two fields where I could not find an ear set on the stalks. Most of the ears have thick husks on, the thickest I ever saw."

The Modern Miller says: "In localities where there has been sufficient moisture, and rains have been quite general, farmers are preparing the soil for winter wheat seeding. Indications are that a full average will be sown. Farmers in the eastern winter wheat section, and especially in the states where the yield was shortest, are holding their best wheat. A decrease in the receipts at the markets is probable."

Indications of an awakening demand for corn for export were noted yesterday. There was a sale of 40,000 bu for direct export by a local house, and New York reported sales of 8,000 bu. There was in addition a fair shipping demand for corn, with sales about 75,000 bu.

	Today.	Week ago.	Year ago.
Wheat	2,904,000	3,680,000	2,352,000
Corn	4,062,000	3,584,000	3,112,000

A cable from Liverpool said thrashing returns in the north of France are disappointing and estimates the crop in that section, the most important in the whole country, at 25 per cent less than last year.

A Minneapolis wire to Bartlett-Frazier said: "One of the largest flouring mill companies in Minneapolis predicts that the spring wheat states cannot possibly raise over 125,000,000 bu of wheat."

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Dry goods quotations are steady, with prospects of greater demand and possible higher prices at the beginning of September.

METALS—Tin was firm in London, with spot quoted at £122 5s and futures at £122 17s 6d, but was easier locally at $26.85@27.00. Copper was a little lower abroad, where it closed at £57 2s 6d for both spot and futures. Locally it held steady. Lake and electrolytic are quoted at $12.50@12.75 and casting at $12.25@12.50. Some of the large producers are holding lake at $12.62½@12.75. Lead was a little easier in London, where it closed at £11 5s, but was a shade higher here, closing at $4.20@4.25. Spelter was firm at $4.85@4.95 in the local market and at £22 10s in London. Iron closed at 52s in Glasgow and at 43s 3d in Middlesboro. Locally iron was unchanged. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $14.00@14.50; No. 2 foundry northern at $13.75@14.00; No. 1 foundry southern and No. 1 foundry southern soft at $13.50@13.75.

LOCAL STOCKS ARE DULL.

AMERICAN CAN PREFERRED SELLS OFF WITH NEW YORK.

Chicago and Oak Park Elevated Preferred Marketed at 25—Value of the Shares Will Depend on Saving in Operating That Can Be Effected This Year—Hope for a Traffic Increase—Money Movements Indicate a Fair Bank Statement.

The local stock market was dull yesterday, with the exception of American Can preferred, which sold off. In recent months the price has not been sustained against a falling New York market.

There were some genuine sales in Oak Park elevated preferred at 25. The stock closed at 25¼ bid and offered at 27. For the common 5 was bid. There were no sales. Until it is demonstrated to what extent the company can decrease operating expenses this year the market value of the stock can hardly be estimated. On the showing of last year the outlook is not encouraging. But the management hopes to effect considerable saving, and again there is always the presumption that the traffic will increase, though at the present time it is decreasing.

Bank Statement Forecast.

Movements of money indicate a fair bank statement today. In the week the banks have gained $1,549,000 from the subtreasury. Currency shipments have continued to show an excess movement towards New York.

But the money situation throughout the country soon will show a change, and the stock market should reflect in prices the coming demand for money.

Foreign Exchange.

Sterling quotations yesterday were from 5 to 10 points higher. There was a fair inquiry for remittances the first hour, but the supply of bills was small and not equal to the demand. The market closed firm.

Rates for actual business were quoted as follows: Bankers' sixty days, 4.85⅜@4.85½; bankers' sight, 4.8805@4.8815; cable transfers, 4.8855@4.8865; commercial bills, documents, payment, 4.85½@4.85⅝.

Continentals were moderately active. Francs closed at 5.16⅞; marks, 95 7-16; and guilders, 40 5-16, all less 1-64.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The cash movements included $10,000,000 in railway dividend disbursements.

Trading in stocks was inactive and the movements were erratic. The undertone was firmer. Business chiefly consisted in the closing up of engagements in view of tomorrow's holiday. Consols were a shade better on the satisfactory bank return. Home rails were flat. Americans opened steady and reacted slightly to under parity. The tone was feverish, and local dealings were unimportant. Prices closed dull. Dealings in foreigners were checked by the hesitation of Paris, pending more definite news from Port Arthur. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 96¼.

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—Prices on the boerse today were weaker. American rails were maintained.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—Prices on the bourse today were firm. The transactions were insignificant. Russian imperial 4s closed at 92.35 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 503. The private rate of discount was 1⅝.

The following table shows London's closing prices of yesterday and Thursday, with their New York equivalents, compared with Thursday's New York closings:

Cattle.

Cattle worth $4.50 and up were strong, closing 25@40c higher than a week ago. Range cattle were 25@40c lower, however, and all native steers and butcher stock with which rangers come in competition have had a sharp decline. A heavy run is expected next week, 8,000 rangers being scheduled to arrive on Monday, and lower prices on all but good fed steers are looked for. Quotations:

Good to prime steers	$5.25@6.10

Hogs.

Hog trade had a hot close. Good buying of January provisions caused packers to make the discovery that they wanted heavy hogs, and the small supply was cleaned up at an advance of 10@15c, and in some cases 20c. All kinds got the benefit, and few were left over. Pigs were scarce and sold up to $5.65. The range was narrow. Quotations:

Mixed and butchers'	$5.25@5.50
Good to choice heavy	5.25@5.45
Rough heavy	5.00@5.20
Light	5.40@5.60
Bulk of sales	5.25@5.40

Sheep.

Lambs were strong to 15c higher and sheep steady. A sharp advance at Buffalo and Jersey City was the cause. Sheep were steady and feeding lambs 15@25c lower than a week ago. Quotations:

Good to choice wethers	$3.60@4.00
Fair to choice mixed	3.00@4.00
Native lambs	3.50@6.00
Western sheep	3.50@3.90

LESS ACTIVE IN STOCKS.

PRICE CHANGES NARROWER AND VOLUME SMALLER.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Price fluctuations were narrower and the volume of business smaller in today's stock trading. There was little selling pressure and the undertone was heavy. The grangers reflected the rumors of damage in the spring wheat belt and aided in making the close easy.

The spread of the price war in the steel trade failed to cause any wide movements in the prices of securities, but it was the occasion of great concern. United States Steel preferred was evidently supported and its decline thus limited to ⅝, but the heaviness of that stock proved of marked sympathetic effect. Rumors of cuts and the meeting of cuts in prices of wire and of structural steel stimulated the fears of a spread of the trouble. Some of the rumors current during the day pointed to a weakening of the market for steel rails.

Sugar was still an unsettling influence by its further recession in price and by the sources pointed to for the selling by the supposition of operators on the floor of the stock exchange. The most effective sustaining factor early was the large demand for Pennsylvania, which carried it to 124¼, the highest figure touched since the long decline reached after the new $75,000,000 stock issue.

The calamity reports from the spring wheat crop came in a new flood and the response of the wheat market made some impression on sentiment in stocks. The news of corn was better and helped the resistance to depression in stocks.

The estimates of the weekly currency movement indicate another addition to New York cash holdings, but it is clear that the current is turning in favor of the interior. The advance in exchange today was sufficient to revive some discussion of gold export possibilities. Probably these prospects had some repressive effect on the speculation, although the money market was unaffected.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $2,815,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Close: Money on call easy, ⅞@1 per cent, closing bid ⅞; offered at 1. Time loans, steady; 60 days, 2 per cent; 90 days, 2½ per cent; 6 months, 3½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent. Experts Testify Against W. G. Ferguson, Till Recently Employed by B. F. Goodrich Company.

W. G. Ferguson, formerly cashier for the B. F. Goodrich company, 41 Lake street, was undeceived yesterday from his idea that the officials of the company would not prosecute him. Expert accountants took the firm's books into Justice Hurley's court and testified to a shortage of $3,100 in Ferguson's accounts. Ferguson asked for a continuance and he will give his defense Aug. 29.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR OFFICE of Indian Affairs, Washington, D. C., July 13, 1904. Notice is hereby given that bids for the purchase of unleased segregated coal and asphalt lands and unleased segregated coal and asphalt deposits will be opened by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at his office, in Washington, at dates as follows: For the purchase of tracts within the McAlester District (No. 1) at 2 o'clock p. m. (Eastern time), Monday, October 3, 1904; for tracts in the Wilburton-Stigler District (No. 2) at 2 o'clock p. m. (Eastern time), Monday, December 5, 1904; for tracts in the Howe-Poteau District (No. 3), at 2 o'clock p. m. (Eastern time), Monday, February 6, 1905; for tracts in the McCurtain-Massey District (No. 4), at 2 o'clock p. m. (Eastern time), Monday, April 3, 1905; for tracts in the Lehigh-Ardmore District (No. 5), at 2 o'clock p. m. (Eastern time), Monday, June 5, 1905; and for tracts in District No. 6 (unleased segregated asphalt lands and deposits), at 2 o'clock p. m. (Eastern time), Monday, August 7, 1905. Circulars descriptive of the lands and deposits to be sold, and copies of the regulations of June 17, 1904, governing the sale of the unleased segregated coal and asphalt lands and unleased segregated coal and asphalt deposits, may be obtained upon application to this office or the U. S. Indian Agent, Union Agency, Muskogee, Indian Territory. Bids must be on the prescribed form, which will be found in the regulations. A certified check or draft for twenty per cent of the amount of the bid must accompany the bid. The lands will be sold for cash, and successful bidders will be required to deposit with the Commissioner of Indian Affairs the full amount of their respective bids within fifteen days after receipt by them of notice of the acceptance of the same. If a successful bidder fails to comply with the terms of his bid within the time specified the check deposited by him as an evidence of good faith will be forfeited to the use of the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations. The right to reject any or all bids is reserved. Deeds of conveyance will contain a clause "subject, however, to existing rights of way for railroads." A. C. TONNER, Acting Commissioner. Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., July 13, 1904. Approved: Thos. Ryan, Acting Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, U. S. Geological Survey, Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C., August 16, 1904. Sealed proposals, in duplicate, will be received until 10 o'clock a. m. September 22, 1904, at the office of the U. S. Reclamation Service, Chamber of Commerce Building, Denver, Colo., for the construction and completion of a telephone system about twenty-eight miles in length, in connection with the Uncompahgre Valley Reclamation Project, near Montrose, Colorado. Specifications, forms of proposal and particulars may be obtained after August 20, 1904, by applying to A. L. Fellows, U. S. Geological Survey, Chamber of Commerce Building, Denver, Colo., to the Engineer of the United States Reclamation Service, Montrose, Colo., or to the Chief Engineer of the U. S. Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the order of the Secretary of the Interior for 2 per cent of the contract price as a guaranty that the bidder will, if successful, promptly execute a satisfactory contract and furnish bond in the sum of 50 per cent of the contract price for the faithful performance of the work. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids and to waive technical defects if the interests of the Government require it. Bidders are invited to be present. Proposals must be marked "Proposals for telephone system, Uncompahgre Valley Project, Colorado." THOS. RYAN, Acting Secretary.

MORE ACTIVITY IN TRADE.

R. G. DUN & CO.'S REPORT FINDS ENCOURAGING CONDITIONS.

Agricultural Situation Is Not Yet Clearly Defined—Current Dealings in the Manufacturing and Distributive Channel Reflect a Wider Demand—Wholesale Transactions Are Stimulated by Interior Merchants, Who Select Freely in Staple Lines.

The weekly review of trade in the Chicago district published by the R. G. Dun & Co. mercantile agency will say:

Business developments have not run evenly, although, taken as a whole, there is indication of progress toward further activity. The agricultural situation is not yet clearly defined and conflicting reports as to the present condition of growing crops, while unsettling recent estimates, cannot be seriously entertained until corroborated. It appears probable that there will be diminished surplus wheat available for export, but there is no just apprehension as to a great corn yield.

Wider Demand Is Apparent.

Current dealings in the manufacturing and distributive channels reflect a wider demands. Local buyers also added satisfactorily to the demand, and the volume of sales made a favorable showing in general dry goods, men's furnishings, and footwear. The demand disclosed a rising tendency in clothing, silks, and cotton goods, and, notwithstanding smaller city needs, sales were large in groceries and canned goods on heavier country requirements. Retail trade maintained a fair level, with a better tone in the fashionable goods. Mercantile collections were prompt on the outside, but a trifle slower on city bills, and defaults decreased.

Grain Shipments Show Decrease.

Grain shipments, 3,291,993 bushels, fell behind last week's, and were 13.2 per cent under a year ago. Cash operations were light in flour and wheat, but the coarse grains met with a strong demand.

Bank clearings, $166,159,415, are 8.5 per cent greater than those of the corresponding week last year. Commercial paper was in better supply, and the banks placed more money at 4½ per cent. Bond buying continued active, but there was a narrower market in local securities, with a small advance in the average quotations of the principal issues.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 23, against 25 last week, and 30 a year ago.

Wheat and Labor Hurt Trade.

New York, Aug. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

Confidence in a continued improvement of trade has been unsettled by sensational events in the wheat market and the lack of harmony between labor and capital. It is becoming evident that estimates of the wheat crop must be reduced.

Some disappointment is also felt by those who counted upon an early resumption of activity in building operations and other industries hampered by labor controversies. Otherwise news of the week has contained much of an encouraging nature.

A general reduction in prices of wire products, averaging about $5 a ton, was announced by a subsidiary company of the United States Steel corporation, and aroused more interest than was warranted, because this public action is only in line with what has been done heretofore privately.

Small reductions in prices of cotton goods were made, notably in leading lines of bleached muslins, although list prices as a rule remain unchanged. Thus far the policy of buyers has not changed, the general disposition being to await developments.

Failures this week numbered 226 in the United States, against 238 last year, and 24 in Canada, compared with 8 a year ago.

Conservatism Rules Buyers.

Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Conservatism rules the buying movement, which, while gaining in force at some leading markets, still lacks the snap shown in former years at this time. There is, however, more doing in jobbing circles, and the tone of that trade is better than for some time past. Production of cotton goods is at a low point because of the Fall River strike, and also because of the curtailment forced upon manufacturers by the change from old high priced to new low priced raw material.

The feature of the iron trade this week has been the open recognition of conditions claimed to exist for some time past in finished products. A wholesale cut in steel prices, particularly in wire and nails, has been announced, and existing pools in some products, notably structural material and plates, are reported shaky. Light rails are being cut in price, and even some heavy sections are selling below the $28 standard.

Wheat, including flour exports, for the week ending Aug. 18 aggregate 1,703,047 bushels, against 1,281,309 last week, 3,372,789 this week last year, 5,954,759 in 1902, and 6,606,989 in 1901. From July 1 to date the exports aggregate 9,549,818 bushels, against 21,833,233 last year, 31,340,767 in 1902, and 48,153,895 in 1901. Corn exports for the week aggregate 520,362 bushels, against 695,202 last week, 509,495 a year ago, 51,649 in 1902, and 523,883 in 1901. From July 1 to date the exports of corn aggregate 3,799,473 bushels, against 7,458,975 in 1903; 639,409 bushels in 1902, and 8,257,108 in 1901.

Bank Clearings.

NEWS OF INSURANCE WORLD.

EDITED BY C. M. CARTWRIGHT.

Eastern News Telegraphed from New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin.

BEGINS WORKING ON CHARGES.

The executive committee of the Chicago Underwriters' association yesterday discussed the charges against Johnson & Higgins. The firm is alleged to have cut rates on the glucose refinery at Rockford, Ill. The charges were filed against C. Hastings Clark, the Chicago manager. Mr. Clark answered that he knew nothing of the alleged transaction, and the referee then attempted to secure a statement from the New York office, but did not succeed.

The issue narrowed down to a question whether the Chicago manager of the firm could be held liable for violations of the rules of the association on the part of the New York office. Referee William Spooner announced he was ready to pass on the guilt of the firm, but left the question of responsibility with the executive committee. Mr. Clark is operating in Chicago as manager for the firm, which has a broker's license in the Underwriters' association. This enables it to secure full brokerage and complete broker's privileges.

This being the case, the executive committee rules that the firm is the same whether operating in New York, Chicago, Boston, or elsewhere, and it does not matter whether or not the parent firm in New York has a nonresident brokerage license. The committee takes the ground that any Chicago agency might open a New York office and use it to secure local business by violating the rules, unless the parent office could be held liable for the acts of the branch.

The matter has reached a delicate stage, owing to the fact that Johnson & Higgins are being guided by counsel, and if the association attempts to impose a fine on the local manager of the firm legal complications are feared.

Following are additional Chicago fire premiums as filed with the city collector, giving the year's receipts up to June 30:

Sun, England	$34,619	$41,234
United Undwriters' Agency	5,201	13,197
Ætna	257,939	261,821

Rochester German	82,636	75,235
Buffalo German	65,259	62,735
Reliance	54,150	57,816
Dutchess	1,333	4,602

The South German Fire of Munich has secured authority from the home government to amend its charter, in order to allow it to operate in the United States.

Considerable complaint is heard as to nonobservance of the commission rule in Nebraska. Omaha and Lincoln are cited as points where infractions are particularly noticeable.

The North American Accident is entering Mississippi.

When Frank Lock, president of the Kings County Fire, returns from abroad, notice will be given whether the company will reinsure or carry its risks to expiration. It is owned by the Atlas.

The Texas Printers and Publishers' Mutual Fire has been organized.

The Fire Insurance club of Chicago expects soon to have its library installed in an accessible place in the insurance district, so members easily can take advantage of the opportunities that it offers.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Fire caused a total loss to the barn of the Independent Cartage and Delivery company, 51-61 William street. Insurance:

Hartford	$1,100	Fireman's Fund	$1,100
Mechanics'	1,100	National, Conn	1,100
Lumbermen's	1,100

NEWS NOTES FROM NEW YORK.

New Agreement Formed on Expense in Excepted Territory—Trouble Over Gaulker in Detroit.

New York, Aug. 19.—[Special.]—At the last meeting of the fire insurance companies, called together to consider an agreement formulated by a special committee of union and nonunion companies it was found that the general sentiment was that no association could handle a question of expense in excepted territory without a closer agreement upon that subject than had heretofore been perfected.

It was the sense of the meeting that some definite action be taken under which the companies could be assured that those interested in the movement intended to offer substantial and positive assurance of good faith in carrying out the intent of the proposed agreement, and a resolution was adopted that on a certain date all signers to the agreement pledged themselves to use their best efforts in effecting a decrease in the compensation prevalent in excepted territory, and, failing in that, for themselves to inaugurate the decrease proposed by the agreement. Signatures are now being asked to this new resolution, and it is hoped by the committee that, covering, as it does, the expressed opinion of the meeting, signatures will be obtained freely, and that in a short time the new association under the new agreement will be made possible.

The Detroit Underwriters' club, which fined Arthur H. Gaulker $500 because he refused to abandon the Lemely system of appraisement, which the underwriters held to be a rebate, has a hard nut to crack. Gaulker's attitude resulted in his being dropped by the club, and the companies he represented were notified they must either drop him or others representing them would have to drop the companies or get out of the club.

Neither course has been pursued, but unless Gaulker is reinstated five influential insurance men either will have to follow Gaulker's example or drop some companies they represent.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The semiannual returns of the Boston Protective department shows fire premiums for the half year ending June 30 to have been a total of $1,939,783, of which $780,116 is on buildings and $1,159,606 on other property. The amount of the assessment is $50,365. The total premiums for the first six months of 1903 were $2,061,576. The relative positions of the leading companies is unchanged from last year, the Royal being first, with the Home second and the Liverpool and London and Globe third.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The Ætna Indemnity company has been asked to give bonds for the Connecticut National Guard officers who will be in charge of the military property and equipment while going to the encampment of the United States troops and national guardsmen at Manassas. It is the first time in the history of the Connecticut National Guard that bonds have been required for officers of the brigade and regimental quartermaster departments. Property valued at $100,000 will be sent with the Connecticut brigade.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Drewery & & McNulty, general agents for the Mutual Benefit Life in Ohio, have dissolved partnership, the general agency being continued by L. D. Drewery & Co.

FORBIDS AWARD OF CONTRACT.

Court Restrains Board of Local Improvements from Giving Work to High Bidder.

A temporary injunction yesterday was granted by Judge Dunne restraining the city and the board of local improvements from awarding the contract for the Jackson park system of sewers and the building of the pumping station at Jackson Park avenue to the M. P. Byrne Construction company. Mrs. Ellen F. Blake, a property owner at 7822 Harvard avenue, was the complainant.

Mrs. Blake charged the board of local improvements was about to award a contract to the Byrne company for the work when two other contractors submitted lower bids.

It is asserted that James Healy submitted a bid $43,136 lower than the Byrne company and that Nash Bros. came $19,077 below their figures.

GLEIG'S REMINISCENCES OF WELLINGTON.

Reviewed by Jeannette L. Gilder, Editor of the Critic.

ONE would suppose that there was not much more that was new to be said about the duke of Wellington, but one would then reckon without the late George Robert Gleig, whose personal reminiscences of the iron duke, edited by his daughter, are about to be published by Messrs. Scribner. The book is dedicated by Miss Gleig to the present duke of Wellington. Mr. Gleig was chaplain general to her majesty's forces, and it was in his military rather than clerical relations that he met the duke of Wellington. The first time he saw this famous man was in September, 1813. The duke was then 46 years of age. "His countenance was animated; his keen, clear, violet colored eye full of intelligence. His hair was beginning to show the slightest tinge of gray, but not so much as to detract in the slightest degree from the youthfulness of his general appearance. He was dressed in a light gray frock coat (he always wore gray when there was a chance of active work, the color being more conspicuous from afar than blue), a cocked hat, low in the crown, without a plume, and covered with oilskin. A pair of black leather leggings, fastened at the sides and reaching half way up the calf, protected his legs, and he wore a light steel mounted saber, without any sash."

It seems that Mr. Gleig was the author of a series of papers called "The Subaltern," published anonymously in Blackwood's magazine, and later in book frm. The duke of Wellington read these papers and expressed much pleasure in them. Some time later it was proposed that Mr. Gleig should write a military life of the duke of Wellington, and to this end he came much in contact with the duke. Many letters passed between them, some of which are quoted in this volume.

Every one who has visited London knows Apsley house, the town residence of the duke of Wellington, at Hyde Park corner; an imposing pile of masonry, but beyond its size unpretentious in appearance. Mr. Gleig tells us that the duke spent £90,000 or thereabouts to make it what it is, "an extremely comfortable though scarcely a palatial abode." Nearly $500,000 spent on comforts for a house already built must, I should say, make it one of the most comfortable in London. The duke was his own architect and introduced certain peculiarities. For example, stabling approached by a sort of tunnel, passed under the house, and a hall pitched at a level which left no room for Canova's colossal statue of Napoleon, except in an out of the way corner under the main staircase.

The duke's country place, Strathfieldsaye, was the gift of a grateful nation, the price paid being £500,000. The lord chancellor, the chancellor of the exchequer, and the speaker of the house of commons were the trustees appointed to look after this property, the conditions under which it was held being stringent.

Among the duke's retinue at Strathfieldsaye was a clergyman by the name of Briscall, whose habits are described as eccentric, though his manners were agreeable. He had a nervous fear of infection and could not bring himself to visit a dying parishioner, no matter what the disease might be. He dined every day at the big house whenever the duke was in residence, and with the same regularity if the duchess were there alone. The poor man was always in debt and ready at any moment to give a note of hand in exchange for a loan. In an evil hour for himself he borrowed $500 from the duke, giving him a note of hand payable in six months. The six months came around, but the payment did not, nor did the clergyman ever offer an explanation for his delay. The duke took no open notice of the matter, but treated him after with marked coldness, although he remained in the rectory and dined, as usual, day after day with the lord of the manor, though the latter took no more notice of him at table than if he had not been there. Mr. Gleig relates this as an illustration of the duke's character.

A kinder or more considerate host than the great duke of Wellington, he says, could not be. "He made you at home in the happiest manner possible by leaving you throughout the greater part of the day to take care of yourself, and making it optional whether you would or would not join any combined excursion that might be proposed." His cook was a Frenchman who had once been in the service of Napoleon I., which would seem to be the sarcasm of destiny. The duke's wines were excellent, but his cellars were never overfull; indeed, it was his custom, both in town and country, to lay in from time to time just as many dozens of wine of different sorts as would suffice for a month or six weeks' consumption. They were all mellow and ripe, because he paid large prices for them, yet, so far as he was himself concerned, the oldest could not have been more than a couple of months in his possession.

Among the distinguished foreigners who visited the duke at Walmer castle was Talleyrand, whom Mr. Gleig describes as having "a flat head covered with a mass of perfectly white hair, which, combed down over the forehead, gave to it the appearance of being preternaturally low, contradicting the received theories which make a lofty brow and oval crown the outward and visible signs of genius. His eyes—small, black, and sunken in their sockets—were surmounted by bushy eyebrows, perfectly black and straight. A nose short and retroussé, a complexion ashy pale rather than sallow, and a chin strongly marked, made up a countenance which, when in repose, was well nigh repulsive. At intervals, when some brilliant or cynical thought struck him, it would light up, but these intervals occurred rarely, because in society he was habitually taciturn, taking no part and apparently little interest in the general conversation which went on around him."

The duke did not share the popular belief in Talleyrand's extraordinary abilities. On the contrary, he regarded him as a commonplace politician, who owed his advancement to the anxiety of the French government, after the fever of revolutionary madness abated, to obain the services of as many aristocrats as were willing to make common cause with it. Talleyrand's opinion of the duke was different. He regarded him, or professed to do so, as the foremost Englishman of his day.

Another favorite visitor at Walmer castle was Lord Lyndhurst, a nobleman, as you know, of American extraction. He was vain of his personal appearance, and not without reason. "To the last he dressed so as to appear young, and wore a brown wig. The scandalous world alleged that he provided himself with no fewer than twelve wigs, so constructed that from time to time he might seem to have had his hair cut.

John Wilson Croker was a frequent guest of the duke of Wellington. "To use a vulgar phrase, he was as cool a hand, however socially placed, as it is possible to conceive. No presence whatever abashed him, nor did he scruple to interrupt and talk down any one who threatened to come between him and the lead in conversation. His clever defense of the duke of York in the famous Wardle case gained him the friendship of the royal family.

"It happened on one occasion that during a dinner at Carlton house Croker sat next to the duke of Clarence. They were conversing together, when the king called out suddenly, 'Croker, what are you two talking about?' 'Nothing particular, sir,' was Croker's reply. 'His royal highness is only telling me what he means to do when he becomes king.' George IV. winced a little for a moment, being sensitive on that head, but he soon recovered himself and laughed aloud, the whole party, as in duty bound, laughing in chorus."

The duke of Wellington is reported to have said that Napoleon was the greatest general that ever appeared at the head of a French army and that the duke of Marlborough was the greatest man that ever appeared at the head of a British army.

It is curious to read of Lady Burdett-Coutts as among the friends of the duke of Wellington. According to Mr. Gleig, her house in Stratton street was among his favorite resorts, and in that house she is today dispensing the same generous hospitality that she was conspicuous for in the days of the duke of Wellington.

Fruitful Nile Valley.

"The Khedive's Country" is a description of the Nile valley and its products, edited by G. Manville Fenn. Influenced more or less by the practical considerations of agriculture, stock raising, and forestry, the book is, nevertheless, not without interest of a broader nature to the "stay at home traveler," and the illustrations, taken from photographs made by Dittrich of Cairo, have a charm and a fascination of their own. (Cassell & Co.)

New Series of Name Books.

E. P. Dutton & Co., are issuing a series of tiny name books. Each is designed as a birthday and memorandum book. There is a history of the name, poetic and prose selections referring to it, and a brief space for each day of the year. Those sent are "Harriet" and "Phyllis."

LIFE OF MARIA EDGEWORTH.

Reviewed by Elia W. Peattie.

DEAR MARIA EDGEWORTH! Such a smiling, small, kindly, cultivated person! The rustle of her quaint frocks, the odor of her sandalwood fan, the echo of her soft laughter steal through the pages of the excellent biography which the Hon. Emily Lawless has written for the Macmillan company. Never was there a better bred biography. Enough is told and not more than enough of each incident. No unsustainable claims are made for Miss Edgeworth as a literary personage. Her life and character, her quiet pleasures, and her bravely borne sorrows are set forth in something of the amiable, humorous, sympathetic, not too intimate manner in which Miss Edgeworth herself might have performed a like service for a friend. I say "a friend" advisedly, for no one, it is evident, is to be blamed for having been born a dozen generations later than some chosen associate. Relatives, as we all know, are thrust upon us, but friends are creatures of our selection. Frequently we pass by our native neighborhoods and go far afield for them. Sometimes it chances that we pass beyond our own century and go harking back down the decades till we come to one of our own. Then, having made our selection—by what mystic process we are unable to tell—it is but natural that we should turn to the world and inquire: "But have you met my friend Charlemagne? No? Then if you will allow me." And so we offer the introduction in the form of an ardent biography. And living friends seem dull by contract with this other, who, having moved on in the long procession, stands, somehow, so that the westering sun strikes full upon his corselet and his breast plate, making him heroic and glorious. In other words, the difficulties of hero worship for our contemporaries are so numerous that it is little wonder we go back among the good gray ghosts, who no longer have it in their power to disappoint us.

This is not saying that Miss Lawless has idealized Miss Edgeworth. She may or may not have done so. She has created or reproduced as quaint and sweet a little lady as ever stepped from the pages of a biography. And she has fathered her with a gentleman already famous in the pages of humorous history, but who, by the illumination of this author's facile pen, seems less a creation of the creator of men than of Charles Dickens, the lover of all human extravaganzas! Nor, had Mr. Dickens not proved an alibi by not having yet been born, could we altogether fail to suspect him of having created the character of Thomas Day, author of "Sanford and Merton," and the chosen friend and involuntary rival of Mr. Edgeworth for at least two of the latter gentleman's several wives!

A book, it is quite generally agreed, is, in most cases, a revelation of its author. If this be the case, the Hon. Emily Lawless must be an agreeable person, whose shafts of mirth are tipped with discretion, whose devotion to truth does not permit her to exaggerate the importance of a fact, and whose biographical labors are never so dutiful that the fictional quality cannot assist her to elevate actuality into art!

"HISTORICAL TALES," by Mr. Charles Morris, is history written for a section. That is to say, after having passed the stories of the revolution and the succeeding period, and having come down to incidents of the last half century, the anecdotes are written to please those who belonged to or sympathized with the confederacy. Confederate victories, confederate strategy, and confederate dignity under defeat make up the matter of the tales. It is not for any American to belittle these things. They were there—they made the civil conflict what it was—the most tremendous and impetuous in the history of the world. The pride of race reaches beyond section and the present generation can afford to celebrate the valor and the dignity of both federals and confederates. But it may be maintained without animosity that the manner in which these tales are told is calculated to revive dissatisfaction in the hearts of the young who are coming to believe in the solidarity of the states. The book is patriotic; but a finer patriotism would have been represented by silence concerning the men, who, whatever else may be said of them, did desire the dissolution of the country over which one flag now waves—a country whose destiny is not to be magnified by the indulgence in old dreams, or by sulking over ancient sorrows. (J. B. Lippincott company, publishers.)

"AMONG ENGLISH INNS" is a charmingly illustrated little volume intended as a casual guide to casual folk, and is precisely the sort of a book for the light hearted and not too strenuous traveler to take with him for a pleasant journey. It is full of the sort of information every traveler ought to have, and it coaxes one into what must be the most halcyon byways. Miss Josephine Tozier is the author. The publishers are L. C. Page & Co. of Boston. ELIA W. PEATTIE.

TO ASSESS SECRET SOCIETIES.

McLean County, Ill., Board of Review Adopts New Plan to Increase Income from Taxation.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—The McLean county board of review has decided to assess the personal property of secret societies. Several lodges in this city have thousands of dollars at interest which has never been taxed, besides costly furnishings in lodgerooms.

It is expected the new move will add between $75,000 and $100,000 to taxable property in McLean county.

Thousands of dollars' worth of mortgages have been discovered, an expert having been hired to go over the books of the recorder and list all mortgages filed.

HARPERS MAGAZINE

FOR SEPTEMBER

8 Short Stories

HISTORY
John Greenville McNeel writes of a forgotten chapter in our history—the story of the American prisoners of the war of 1812 who were taken to England and held in the Dartmoor prisons for over three years.

TRAVEL

LITERATURE
Agnes Repplier has written a delightful article on a literary woman of the early 19th century whose name has come down to posterity solely because she bored Charles Lamb.

FICTION
Among the authors of the 8 short stories in the number are Alice Brown, Edwin Lefevre, Elizabeth Jordan, Justus Miles Forman, Marie van Vorst, and J. Storer Clouston.

ASTRONOMY
Professor G. W. Ritchey of the Yerkes Observatory contributes a valuable article on photographing the star clusters. He tells how the remarkable work is accomplished and the results obtained. Illustrated with many wonderful astronomical photographs.

LAW
Brigadier General G. B. Davis, Judge Advocate General, U. S. A., writes of International Law, its past and its future, an article embodying some intensely interesting and practical views on such matters as arbitration and the limits of its usefulness.

NATURE
H. C. McCook, LL. D., tells of the curiously dainty habits of the ant, of its care of its person, how ants sleep, eat and drink, and something of their social life.

PICTURES IN COLOR
Among the many pictures in color are 8 full pages by Howard Pyle, illustrating Mr. Forman's story, and others by C. W. Furlong and H. D. Nichols.

24 Separate Contributions.
